THE DAILY EXAMINER.

SEPTEMBER 9, 1879.

Honest Friendship Again.

MR. HENRY LAWSON does not appear, from Saturday's Patriot, to be in the very best of humor. "Lie" and "lying," "impudent" and "impudence," fly in giddy profusion through the length of his writings. Why this ill-natured explosion? Why has the dull manufacturer of heavy editorials and pointless paragraphs become suddenly transformed into the boisterous, infuriated scold? Simply because the man has been caught at his old trick of helping on the two sides of a question at the same time. We say his old trick, because the public must remember the time when Mr. Fletcher convicted him of receiving six shillings and three pence for writing an article in favor of Confederation, and accepting four shillings and six pence for writing a reply to the same article in another paper. Like Bob Acres, our hero can do a mean action without any hesitation, but his conscience is terribly hurt at being found out. It is true that he denies, with great unctiousness, having written the letter signed "Native" in Thursday's Patriot. We are sorry to say that we have not sufficient confidence in his word to accept it without corroborative evidence, and in this regard the public generally will agree with us, knowing his sinful propensities as well as we do. But supposing, for argument sake, that he did not write the letter signed "Native," his case is not materially improved. For copying articles from the Herald and Examiner Henry Lawson charged the Presbyterian with attacking the Lieut. Governor by "proxy." According to his own rule Henry Lawson must have attacked the Lieut. Governor by proxy, while he was defending him in person in his editorial columns. The main difference being that the defence was weak, heartless and insincere, while the attack was couched in stronger language against the Lieut. Governor than anything which had appeared in the Herald, Presbyterian or Examiner. While Mr. Lawson was professing to defend the Lieut. Governor, he gave the letter of "Native" a prominent place in his columns and allowed the attacks which it contained to pass until this moment unanswered.

The Political Situation in Quebec.

The Montreal Witness of the 6th says: "From well informed sources information has been received to the effect that now that excitement has abated, a coalition is considered almost certain. It is said that a cabinet is even in course of formation, and the following are mentioned as likely to form combination: Langelier, Premier, Joly, Public Works, Langelier, Crown Lands, Church, Attorney General, Mercier, Solicitor General, Taillon, Provincial Secretary, John Hearn, Pres. of Council. It is held by these favoring such coalition that dissolution and general elections would be unsatisfactory, as parties would come back probably in even numbers again, and crisis would continue, while in meanwhile burden of expense would be increased. Lt. Governor Robitaille is said to be favorable to the above coalition. A Witness reporter interviewed a few English-speaking Liberals of Montreal in reference to the matter, and while they did not know whether to credit the report or not, they did not look upon the prospect of such coalition favorably."

BENJAMIN ROE, a farmer of Osakona, Wis., has started one of the strangest sects in existence—the "Peculiar Children." Roe was formerly a Baptist, but was informed by "the spirit" that a literal interpretation should be given to Christ's words: "Except ye become as little children ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven." The apostle of this dispensation is a large, rather good looking man of 60 years, awkward in manner and uncouth in speech, but so earnest that he has made quite a number of converts in his vicinity. During the summer Roe conducts a camp-meeting in the woods, the religious exercises being like those of similar gatherings. But afterwards gray-beards and grandmas whip out their tops and marbles, play tag and kissing games, suck candy and play with dolls for all the world like children of eight and ten years old. Strange as it may appear, this sort of thing makes converts to the doctrine that believers shall be innocent, sincere, above care for land or gold, but instead, should love harmless enjoyment, and those things alone which are intrinsically harmless.

An Exhaustive Process.

The Dutchman in "Knickerbocker" made his preparations to leap over a mountain. He ran five miles to get up momentum. When he arrived at the mountain he was forced to sit down to rest himself, and the leap was postponed. This little story is recommended to our Opposition friends. These gentlemen are so determined to have opposition, so bent on exciting public feeling, and determining public opinion, that they are exhausting themselves too early in the Parliamentary term. They are running their five miles to get up momentum. By and by, when the mountain of the general election is to be scaled, they will find they have not left themselves breath for the effort. The revenue story is even now pretty well exhausted. The civil service "scandal" has proved to be a hollow mockery. The Pacific railway contract "scandal" is really too artificial for public belief. Sir Leonard Tilley's loan has not offered a single coin "of vantage" to Grit grasp. The Letellier affair will have to be given up as a washed out political "claim." The Chatham post office business is hardly "national" enough to tickle the ears of a public, which, when there are scandals, wants them big. The "personage in high social standing" appears to have been absent from Ottawa—perhaps in charge of the blacking apparatus. The "high official" in London is probably out of a job—at ten-pence an hour. To the sources of Opposition journalism are not, just now, many or full; and violent exercise on an empty stomach is proverbially dangerous, so violent political agitation with an empty scandal-bag must produce unhappy results. Let our Opposition contemporaries take warning by the Dutchman in "Knickerbocker," and let them take their rest half way.—Toronto Mail.

Lawyers Fighting Over the Roe Bros. vs. Copp Case, Moncton.

Quite a scene took place in Stipendiary Magistrate Wortman's Civil Court on Saturday, between the counsel employed in the case of Roe vs. Copp. The affair is thus reported in the St. John Telegraph:

The case of Roe Bros. vs. Copp is still occupying the attention of Justice Wortman. Quite an excitement was created in court this morning between Mr. Wells, one of the counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. George P. Thomas, one of the counsel for the defence. Mr. Wells, who was cross-examining Mr. Copp insinuated that the witness had been coached by Mr. Thomas during the night. Mr. Thomas claimed that Mr. Wells was in duty bound to apologize. Mr. Wells stated that Mr. Thomas could settle the matter outside, and expressed himself ready to go out and challenged Mr. Thomas to go with him. Mr. Thomas went and struck at Mr. Wells, knocking him through the court room window and breaking two panes of glass.

Mr. Wells, seeing that he would have to succumb to Mr. Thomas, fled to the wharf, and Mr. Thomas, not being as good a runner, could not catch him. Both counsel after some time got back to court and received a lecture from the learned justice on their unruly conduct, but soon a row took place again. Mr. Thomas claimed that Mr. Wells was using unprofessional language to him.

Mr. Wells—you do not deserve to be treated with gentlemanly courtesies.

Mr. Thomas—I am sorry I associated so much with Mr. Wells in my earlier days.

Mr. Wells—My friends at Cape Tormentine kept Mr. Thomas from starving to death.

Mr. Thomas—At that very same time Mr. Wells was begging for his family with a basket on his arm, his arms naked, a pair of old stockings on his feet and an old straw hat on his head in the middle of winter, and he talks of keeping me from starving to death! (Loud laughter.)

The magistrate expressed disgust at the disgraceful proceedings of the lawyers, and adjourned the court until two p.m.

The Winchester Murder—Confession of the Fratricide.

In the Brown murder case Constable Pike, who was with the prisoner, Clark Brown, son of deceased, all night along with Constable Stallmyer, says Clark put in a very uneasy night. Dr. Reddick was sent for and gave him some medicine, after which Clark slept an hour or so. Rev. A. Rowat, Presbyterian minister, visited him yesterday morning about six o'clock and requested him, if he had done wrong to confess openly. Holding out the inducement of forgiveness being granted only on that condition, he made an open confession before the two constables and the Rev. Mr. Rowat. In confessing he stated that he rapped on the door below to bring his father down stairs; that he struck him with the axe at the foot of the kitchen stairs, expecting to kill him instantly, and leave him till morning. Having partly failed, his father ran into the bedroom below, where the struggle between him and his father took place, the final and fatal blow being dealt on the prostrated body of his father outside the bedroom, just at the door. He then saw his sister looking on and dispatched her to cover the crime of murdering his father. He states that neither his mother nor his wife, nor any other person, is implicated. On being pressed to give the reason of his committing the awful crime, he said he should not give any reason. He had thought of doing it all that day; that his mind was strangely acted upon and a determination to do the deed seized him that evening.

The Post says "The deed was in all probability accomplished in the heat of revengeful feeling because the murdered man had raised $400 on his lands unknown to part of his family. It is seldom that Canada is cursed with such a terrible crime, a crime which reads strangely like one that might have been committed in Texas."

WHILE the trans-atlantic circus was parading the streets of Mayfield, Ky., a boy twisted the tail of a lion, which hung outside the cage, causing the animal to assail and nearly tear to pieces his keeper, who rode inside with the beasts. The keeper is alive but badly torn up.

Summerside Notes.

The ladies of the Methodist Church of this place intend holding a tea near the Drill Shed, on Exhibition day, October 1st. They intend putting forth every effort to make this tea a success, and we hope that they will succeed in doing so.

The iron cylinder for the new light-house, to be built at Summerside, has been completed. It was done to its position at the Point the other day.

Viola Clifton's troupes performed in Ludlow Hall on Friday evening last. Owing to the weather being wet the audience was not a large one.

Mr. Thomas Brehaut has received the contract for plastering the Fish Hatching establishment at Dunk River.

On the 30th September and exhibition of "All Right's" colts takes place on the Summerside Driving Park. Three prizes are to be awarded: $100 to the best; $50 to the second; and $25 to the third. The $100 prize is the gift of the Rev. W. H. Murray, from whom Mr. Lee purchased the "All Right."

MR. THOS. BAYLEY POTTER, the English Free Trader and M. P., is now in Montreal. In an interview on the prospect of trade at home, he said: "If the present prices of food are maintained, and the great question turning on free trade in land are settled satisfactorily, an improvement may be expected in England at no distant day. Of course there has been over-trading, and all classes have been extravagant in their expenditures, both these will bring about their own cure. There is a distinct revival of trade in the United States, and also in Canada, and I anticipate a similar change in England before long, although the payment in gold for food to America may cause temporary embarrassment. We now take from America eighty millions sterling worth of products per year, and only return in commodities sixteen millions—one fifth—of our exports from the United States."

THE Canadian Illustrated News aptly says: "The conduct of some of our Canadian papers is inexplicable. Whenever they see a spiteful or ignorant reflection on the country in an American or other foreign journal, they pounce upon it with savage glee and republish it with sensational headlines. If they do this through party prejudice they are very unwise; if they do it in an anti-patriotic spirit, they act despicably and show themselves unworthy of their high mission as public teachers. The proper course that we all should pursue is to resent any and every attack against our credit, our prospects or our national institutions. No matter what may be our intestine divisions, we should unite in defending our country, when its policy, based upon the will of the people for the time being, is made the subject of foreign animadversion."

FOREIGN PRINCES IN ENGLAND.—There are several foreign Princes in England at the present time. The Crown Prince of Sweden is doing the Midland districts. The hereditary Grand Duke of Baden has been sedulously inspecting the metropolis and dock-yards. The Grand Duke and the Grand Duchess of Baden, daughter of the Emperor of Germany, are staying at Eastbourne. Prince and Princess Hermann, of Saxe-Weimar, have arrived at Government House, Portsmouth, on a visit to the Lieutenant Governor, and Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar, the young Archduke Charles, of Austria, is trying the pleasures of yacht sailing in the Solent.

The six daughters of Peter Siple of North Ferrisburgh, Vt., average 217 pounds each, and they are not allowed to vote even for a school committee.

A map of the locality, together with plans and specification of the works to be done, can be seen at this office and at the Resident Engineer's office, at St. Anne, on and after SATURDAY, the 27th DAY OF SEPTEMBER next, at either of which places printed forms of tender can be obtained.

Contractors are requested to bear in mind that tenders will not be considered unless made strictly in accordance with the printed forms, and, in the case of firms, except there are attached the actual signatures, the nature of the occupation and residence of each member of the same, and further, an accepted bank cheque for the sum of $2,000 must accompany the tender, which sum shall be forfeited if the party tendering declines entering into contract for the works at the rates and on the terms stated in the offer submitted.

The cheque thus sent in will be returned to the respective parties whose tenders are not accepted.

For the due fulfillment of the contract satisfactory security will be required by the deposit of money to the amount of five per cent. on the bulk sum of the contract; of which the sum sent in with tender will be considered a part. Ninety per cent. only of the progress estimates will be paid until the completion of the work.

To each tender must be attached the actual signatures of two responsible and solvent persons, residents of the Dominion, willing to become sureties for the carrying out of these conditions, as well as the due performance of the works embraced in the contract.

This Department does not, however, bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.
