CBC To Seek TV Outlet On Island

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC said yesterday in an annual report that it intends to apply for new television stations in Newfoundland, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan.

The report did not say when, where, or in what order the proposed stations will be built—other than to indicate that priority in the initial engineering studies will be given to a station at St. John's, Nfld.

Later a CBC spokesman said these are largely long-range plans of the publicly-owned corporation. Any immediate steps would be affected by the government austerity program, since the CBC needs cabinet approval for such spending.

The other stations would likely be at Charlottetown, Fredericton and Saskatoon. But in any event the CBC would need a favorable recommendation from the Board of Broadcast Governors.

MAMMOTH PARADE TODAY

S'side Lobster Carnival, Livestock Show All Set

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN
Summerside's largest annual event, the Lobster Carnival and Livestock Exhibition gets underway this morning.

This six-day crowd pleaser is becoming more and more popular each year as it grows in size and interest. Last-minute plans were hurriedly carried out last evening at a meeting of the carnival committee held at Civic headquarters in Civic Stadium.

One more contestant for the "Miss P.E.I." contest was announced, Miss Mimi Duermeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Duermeyer, Charlottetown, who represents Sight-Seeing Enterprises Inc. of Charlottetown.

Miss Duermeyer, 18, is employed in the Robin Room of Sherwood Acres Motel. This brings the total number of entries to 15.

About nine floats arrived in Summerside yesterday from Ignace Bay, and more are expected to arrive this morning from Charlottetown. The "Daisy Queen" Charlottetown float, a sight seeing amphibian, will arrive via the waters of the Northumberland Strait. At 10 a.m. today, the parade will be one of the most colorful, as far as sights are concerned. The mammoth parade in the afternoon is expected to draw a crowd in the thousands. The shopping program consists mainly of little league playoffs in Queen Elizabeth Park ball field. At the end of course, the Bill Lynch midway at the fair grounds at Civic Stadium will be a drawing card for the younger members of the family.

The midway last evening was already in full swing as enthusiastic members of the crowd expected this week's sun-raisers, covered on the till-a-whirls and ferris wheel and amused themselves with dozens of other attractions.

Inside the stadium last night bright lights were being given much improved over the past few days. Last night water was being pumped off and clay fill being bulldozed in to dry the yards.

In view of the forecast of good weather, showmen can breathe a sigh of relief, knowing that now they need not wade their prize animals, sheep and horses through the mud.

A record number of entries in all classes is expected for the show Wednesday afternoon.

Although official opening of the carnival by Lieutenant-Governor F. Walter Hyndman, will be until 12.15 tonight, the day will be one of the most colorful, as far as sights are concerned. The mammoth parade in the afternoon is expected to draw a crowd in the thousands. The shopping program consists mainly of little league playoffs in Queen Elizabeth Park ball field. At the end of course, the Bill Lynch midway at the fair grounds at Civic Stadium will be a drawing card for the younger members of the family.

Marketing Bd. Operates Elite Potato Seed Farm

The establishment of the Elite Potato Seed Farm at Caspary farm, near Summerside, is an example of the work the Provincial Potato Marketing Board is doing for the industry, Chairman R. L. Burge, St. Peter's, R.R. told this paper yesterday. The farm was established earlier this year.

Mr. Burge is confined to his home with leg injuries, received more than a week ago. He said he was driving cattle when he slipped on wet grass, catching himself his leg struck a stone, breaking his leg and spraining his foot.

The chairman was emphasizing the need of funds to carry on this and other promotional work which the board has in mind. He was asked for comment on the recent court ruling that the levy of one cent per bushel is not collectible on potatoes shipped outside the province, and that "where most of them go."

The levy is the only means of raising necessary funds to carry on this and other promotional work, the chairman explained.

Mr. Burge is optimistic about the seed farm. He said the seed farm can be the industry. Some 25 acres have been planted with the best seed available, including two acres on which eye-indexed seed has been used. Eventually, it is explained, it is hoped to have enough spuds developed from the eye-indexed seed to plant the entire seed potato acreage.

ISOLATED
The farm at Fox Point on a peninsula is almost completely surrounded by water, which means it is isolated as far as possible from the danger of frost.

There until 1950, when he was transferred to Summerside district and promoted to sergeant.

Set. Wannamaker will bring a wealth of experience to his new position, having attended various courses pertaining to police work, among which was a three-month course at Canadian Police College at Ottawa, where he graduated among the top 10 in his class.

22 YEARS SERVICE
He has over 22 years service with the RCMP and in 1961 received the RCMP long service medal. He is married to the former Audrey Margaret Jones of Brandon, Manitoba, and they have three children, Lois, Bruce and Ruth.

45 YEARS SERVICE
Chief White, with 45 years service in police work, has been with the Summerside police department for the past 31 years.

He has served with distinction as a police officer with the North-West Mounted Police and the Saskatchewan and a Provincial Police officer in the Summerside police department.

Chief White, a past president of the Maritime Police Chiefs' Association, has been a member of the Canadian Police Chiefs' Association of Canada continuously for almost 20 years and at age 48, is believed to be the oldest police chief in an active service in Canada.

He was the recipient of the Queen's Coronation Medal, and recently was honored with the presentation of the Canadian Service Medal for his 45 years of service in police work. The official presentation of this award is likely to be made this week in Summerside by a senior officer of the RCMP.

White served in the rugged hazards of police duty at one time the years, Chief White has had 31 years with every stage of police case, but in all of his 45 years with the Summerside police department has had a murder occur within the town

(Continued from page 1) he called neither scientific nor rational, he contended, because there is no full scale scientific behavior or a coherent philosophy of education.

Educational research cannot come to grips with the complex value system that characterizes human activities, he said. Both education and educational change cannot be more rational than the humans who make up society.

In order to make use of the full potential of education, research the first thing to do is to develop a reasonable set of expectations for the discipline, he suggested.

MORNING SESSION
At a morning session Prof. C. Wayne Hall, institute of education, McGill University said work in the language arts leads the classroom, rather than in independence in gathering and expressing ideas.

"Thought is the essence of language," Growth in the language arts simply means growth in thought, the speaker stated. "The so-called content of our English courses is intended to provoke thought and the skills in English are designed to improve either the assimilation of thought or the projection of thought."

As long as thoughts and ideas are the centre of the course, the various aspects of English: speech, listening, reading, writing, develop simultaneously. If the materials in reading and literature are used mainly as a source for thought, the course takes on a new sense of direction. "I am convinced that more discussion, more emphasis on the thought and the assimilation of thought, will bring many parts

Glen Ramsay, district inspector in charge of seed potato certification, Canada department of agriculture.

EYE INDEXING
Eye-indexing is a potatoes adopted from December to the eye-indexing laboratory, research branch, Experimental Farm, and tests are conducted through the winter months.

One eye is cut from each potato, both are tagged with the same number. The eyes are sprouted on trays and planted in pots where they can be grown under controlled greenhouse conditions. Thus, Mr. Ramsay explains "we can get a reading for the tuber as a result."

If certain eyes that are rejected in the testing is mainly for certain diseases like Mosaic of Leaf Roll - the tubers with the same numbers are also rejected and the tubers whose test eyes stand up, are returned to the grower for planting in his field by the "tuber unit" method, Mr. Ramsay explains.

He has maintained law and order within the town for 20 years, and conducted the majority of cases for the police department in court during this time.
