Budgetary Surplus Lowest Since War

OTTAWA (CP)—The government went into the red by $65,157,000 in June, cutting the budgetary surplus for the first three months of the 1954-55 fiscal year to $109,044,000, the lowest in the post-war era. Revenues declined, particularly in the field of corporation and personal income taxes...

June expenditures eased to $384,742,000 from $387,141,000 last year, mainly because of smaller spending on the army and air force. This reduced spending for the first quarter to $846,054,000 from $865,527,000 in the first three months a year ago.

With expenditures for June well ahead of receipts, the government's accounts were in the red by a $65,157,000, some four times greater than the $15,209,000 deficit in June last year. The surplus for the first quarter was $109,044,000, sharply below the $185,037,000 for the first three months last year...

The surplus for the first quarter was $109,044,000, sharply below the $185,037,000 for the first three months last year, when the government ended the fiscal year with a surplus of only $24,000,000. This year the government aims for a surplus of $4,000,000, but there is some possibility, based on the current trend, that a small annual deficit, the first in post-war years, may develop.

Lawyers Argue At Coffin Trial

PERCE, Que. (CP)—The legal status of Wilbert Coffin's common-law wife sparked an argument at the murder trial of the 43-year-old prospector Friday in a session that had jury members filing in and out of court to avoid clashes between crown and defence counsel. Francois Gravel, one of Coffin's lawyers, challenged the crown's right to call Miss Petrie to the witness box since she and Coffin were known as man and wife.

The jury was ordered out of the courtroom for the third time Friday while Mr. Justice Gerard LaCroix heard arguments regarding Miss Petrie's appearance as a crown witness. He did not hand down a decision immediately. Gravel said Miss Petrie, a tall, shapely brunette, had lived with Coffin since 1946 and they were known by their church as Mr. and Mrs. Coffin. He said a son born to Miss Petrie was called James Coffin and she signed all her letters "Marion Petrie Coffin".

He added that the federal revenue department recognized them as man and wife for income tax purposes and Coffin gave Miss Petrie financial support for both herself and her son. Coffin is accused of the murder of Richard Lindsey, 17, whose mutilated body was found in the Gaspé bush last July along with those of his father, Eugene, 47, and Albert Clair, 20. All were from Holidayburg, Pa.

Viet Nameese Catholics Stream Into Hanoi Charging Vietminh Robbing Them

By FOREST EDWARDS HANOI (AP)—Viet Nameese Roman Catholics streaming into Hanoi ahead of Communist-led Vietminh occupation forces said Friday Red sympathizers had stripped many of their money and valuables. "They stopped the trucks on the edge of the towns and climbed through them, taking our money and whatever else they saw that they wanted," said one refugee of a 3,000-strong contingent from the Catholic belt.

By truck, bus, and on foot, the refugees began pouring into this crowded city Thursday night in the first appearance of mass flight from the Red river delta countryside since the cease-fire went into effect Tuesday. CAUGHT OFF GUARD Viet Nameese officials here were apparently caught off guard. No preparations had been made for holding or feeding the refugees. The first trucks unloaded throngs, with their baggage, near a Catholic school. Others followed. Streets and alleys were jammed with confused men, women and children who had no place to go. Nuns opened classroom doors and hundreds surged in to sleep on floors and desks. The rest slept in the school courtyard and on the strips of grass between pavement curbs and building walls.

A member of a Catholic militia unit that fought the Vietminh near his hometown of Luc Nam, 40 miles northeast of Hanoi, said those who robbed the fleeing refugees were not Vietminh soldiers. BOBBED BY NEIGHBORS "They were people from our own towns and villages who like the Vietminh," he stated. "They did not have guns that I could see, but there were many of them. They tried to talk us into staying. But if we would not remain, they robbed us. They let the military trucks go by."

Premier Ngo Dinh Diem appealed Thursday to the 13,000,000 Viet Nameese north of the 17th parallel to make a mass migration southward. He announced a $42,500,000 program to move and resettle some 700,000 persons. The problem of air and ship transport, Diem added, has been solved with the help of friendly nations. In Taipei, Formosa, the Nationalist Chinese Tiao news agency said Friday Russia and Red China have agreed to aid the economic buildup of North Viet Nam.

Give Reason For Suicide

BERLIN (Reuters) - Former West German security chief Otto John claimed Friday that American agent Wolfgang E. Hofer committed suicide because he was "fed up" with American counter-espionage work.

In a statement issued by the Communist East German news agency ADN, John said the American agent who killed himself here last Friday had appealed to him for help in finding new work. He said he had a meeting with Hofer, an old friend, in Berlin on July 16 before he himself went over to the Communists.

John's statement quoted Hofer as saying he could no longer bear working as a counter-espionage agent and contended he had been assigned to spy on John by the American authorities in Germany.

The reason for spying on him, John said, was that "the American intelligence regarded me only as a British agent."

He declared that Hofer was "broken by the misuse to which the CIC (Counter Intelligence Corps) subjected him."

U.S. officials Friday night said they could not immediately comment on the charges made in the statement, but U.S. authorities earlier had denied there was any connection between Hofer's suicide and the John case.
