HAPPENINGS

Senator F. Elsie Inman arrived on the Island Saturday evening. Senator Inman had been in New York attending the opening of the Canadian Travel Bureau in Canada House. She was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Manning Bagnall of Saint John. Senator Inman attended the fourth meeting of the committee at the United Nations. She sat in at a briefing session of the Canadian Mission, Third Avenue, in connection with the improvement in the roads and the new highways throughout the country.

Senator Inman and Mrs. Bagnall were on a tour of the United Nations. They were guests at luncheon of Mr. Heath Macquarrie, M.P. who is a delegate this session to the United Nations.

Hon. A.E. Arsenault, Miss Iphigene Arsenault and Miss Katherine Arsenault spent the weekend in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Flying Officer J. Desmond Burke has an interesting article in the Roundel, the Royal Canadian Airforce magazine, entitled "Air Force Groundman." The article deals with anti-submarine warfare as the primary function of Maritime air command.

Flying Officer Burke is the son of Mrs. Annie Stewart, Pownall Street, Charlottetown. He was formerly employed with the Guardian.

Mrs. Alan Holman and Mrs. R. Gordon White entertained at a tea Saturday afternoon at the Holman residence, North River Road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Watts, St. John's, Newfoundland, were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Watts, York, and other relatives here. This was Mr. and Mrs. Watts' first trip to the Island.

Miss Marjorie Stewart, Miss Iris MacLellan, Miss Dorothy Stewart and Mrs. William Johnston left Saturday on a motor trip to Canadian cities and New York City. Miss Stewart while in Hamilton, will visit her brother, Mr. Alan Stewart, Q.C. city solicitor for Hamilton, Mrs. Stewart and family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Boyne returned from Halifax where Mr. Boyne was attending the Atlantic District Managers' conference of the Bank of Montreal held at the Nova Scotian Hotel.

Miss Gertrude MacAulay of Banff, Alberta, is in the province visiting her brother, Mr. Malcolm MacAulay, Charlotte-town.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Murphy returned a short time ago to their home in Brockton, Mass., after spending a very enjoyable two weeks visiting relatives and friends in Hope River, East Royalty, Charlottetown and Breadalbane.

It is thirty-three years since Mr. Murphy has been on the Island. He saw a great many changes in that length of time. He was very much impressed with the improvement in the roads and the new highways throughout the country.

While on the Island he visited with his nephew the Rev. Louis Dooley, who is parish priest at Coleman, P.E.I. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy hope to return in the near future.

Miss Laura Crosby, who has been employed as assistant housekeeper at the Banff Springs Hotel for the summer, has returned to the Island.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Gordon White North River Road, Charlottetown and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lidstone, Summerside, leave Wednesday for Mexico where they will attend the International Roads Federation. They will be accompanied as far as New York City by Mrs. Russell White who will visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon MacQuarrie.

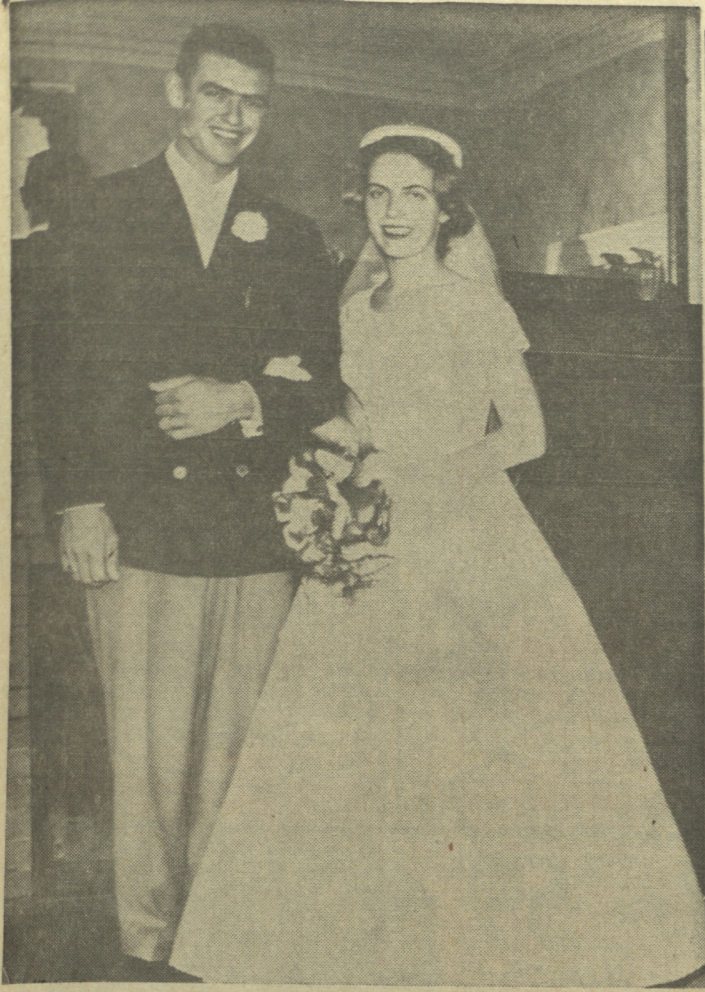

Miss Anne Grant, Ottawa, of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association has been a recent visitor to Prince Edward Island.

Miss Olive Fisher of Vancouver was a weekend visitor to the province. Miss Fisher was for many years with the College of Education, University of Alberta. She is an author of books for children one of these being Tomtem, Teepee and Tumpline, a story of the Canadian Indians.

Mrs. John C. Jack flew from New York on Wednesday to spend a week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Maynard, Tyne Valley. Mrs. Jack will spend some time in Ottawa before returning to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw of Brackley Point and Mr. and Mrs. William Howlett of Vernon returned Monday from an enjoyable vacation trip to Kentville, Truro and other places of interest where they visited relatives and friends.

Miss Margaret Wood is on her annual holidays visiting in Toronto and other places in Ontario.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH M. WHITEHEAD

Lovely Autumn Wedding Is Solemnized At Zion

Baskets of white gladioli around the altar of Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, formed an attractive setting for the wedding on Saturday, September 13th, 1958, of Carolyn Jean Nelson and Ralph MacKay Whitehead. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Nelson and the late Mr. Nelson of Charlottetown and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitehead, also of Charlottetown.

The ceremony was solemnized by the Reverend W.H. Brown of Zion Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Reverend F.H. Littlejohns, uncle of the bride.

The lovely young bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Nelson of Saint John, was gowned in floor length white tulle with a portrait neckline. Her shoulder length veil of nylon net flowed from a small head dress and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Jeannine Whitehead, sister of the groom, who was her only attendant, wore blue tulle designed with a full skirt and fitted bodice. With it she wore a small white feather headdress and carried a bouquet of brown and yellow mums.

The best man was Mr. Barry Dawson. Mr. Nathaniel Larabee and Mr. Bradford Murray ushered the guests to flower-marked pews.

Mrs. Nelson, mother of the bride, wore a light blue wool sheath dress with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Whitehead, mother of the groom, was attractively gowned in a light wool two-piece dress in a light blue and white patterned neckpiece and brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Oakwood Lodge. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier wedding cake flanked with white tapered silver holders. Serving were Miss Jeanne Robertson, Mrs. Roland Jewell, Miss Cathy Shepherd, Miss Margaret Williams, Miss Joan Nelson and Mrs. Charles Compton.

The toast to the bride was proposed by the Reverend F.H. Littlejohns and responded to by the groom.

During the reception congratulatory telegrams from Ottawa, Saint John, Halifax, and Talara, Peru, were read by Mr. Barry Dawson.

For travelling the bride wore a dark green sheath dress with matching gloves and an off-white coat. Her bag, shoes and hat were of the new tan shade.

The young couple will reside in Fredericton, N.B., where the groom is attending the University of New Brunswick.—Photo by R.B. Hamblly.

GRAHAM'S ROAD W. I.

Mrs. Walter and Mrs. Ralph Wigmore were co-hostesses for the "Success" W. I. Meeting of Sept. 9th. Following the opening in the usual manner, 16 members answered roll call by paying a penny an inch for their waistlines.

Old and new business was discussed; the treasurer reported $43.50 proceeds from a pantry sale. A new minute book is to be ordered. The collection and waistline fees amounted to $3.73.

For the program, Mrs. Ralph Wigmore read a poem, "Mother's Job," followed by Mrs. Mary Ferguson leading the members in an amusing game.

Mrs. Angus Green will be hostess at the October meeting when roll call will be answered by "My Most Embarrassing Moment."

A talk and demonstration on the beginning of hobbies will be presented by Mrs. George MacLeod and Mrs. Malcolm Campbell will provide the fun and nonsense.

Following the singing of the National Anthem, a delicious lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Plenty Of Work On Farm One Can Keep Very Busy

So gentle was this autumn day... and entrancing now the night which spreads its balm of rest over field and hill. Hushed they lie. And peaceful: the woodlands across the road, a piece of dark velvet in the exquisite tapestry of dimness above which a star gleams; dim meadows, where stay the flocks and herds, are serene, all kept as are the sparrows that visit the rowan tree on the lawn by day, through the vicissitudes of the dark.

In the yard in the following twilight we found we were listening hopefully for something once seasonal, now missing: sound of the farm-carts bearing home from the potato-fields the last loads of the day, and the workers, baskets caught nearly in the chains at either end of the vehicle's tail-board.

Pleasantly won these last loads were. They meant present ease for the aching back and weary muscles. They meant too soap and towels and warm water and clean hands, to enjoy better the delectable viands and substantial, the housewife had spread for the workers.

We listened in vain. Somewhere over the fields a tractor puffed, doubtless drawing homeward some harvesting to a farther farm. Soon along the road, its pace confident and bearing easily its load of tubers and workers came out little truck, to nose its way in at lane's end.

Would we have wished time to turn back? Not actually. And yet to the older-grown there remains ever some nostalgia for the days and the ways of those young years now flown.

"We conquered her!" Mack first down, smiled. "Got the potatoes done! Yes, our next work will be at the mangels... or perhaps" he stopped arrested by another thought "it will be to get in the furnace-wood. We needn't worry" he chuckled, "there's sure to be something!"

Ewes were the purchase of our farmers today, in a buying to replace any aged ones, destined for disposal, so to keep the flock at its customary and healthy level.

"Aren't they pretty!" we said, inspecting them in the truck before they were taken to join those on pasture at the other farm. We touched a woolly coat. How soft the wool and how clean.

"And well-kept—they're in good shape. Yes, fat" James nodded. "Sheep are not like bought cattle are they?" we chuckled. "They don't shrink any on the way home!"

"Oh, they can too," he smiled.

Close to the soil ours and we know many a family was this delightful day as they harvested their crops of the tubers, for which in its exports, the Island is famed.

But now the night rests both workers and fields. Until tomorrow — — — Diary Good-night.

There Are Some Warning Thoughts For Wintery Days

By Ruhamah S. Frank

Pity that the long Thanksgiving week-end was so cold and rainy (with touches of snow, too). Still, optimistically speaking — concentrating on the delightful edible rim of the doughnut rather than the empty inner portion—many who are alive and well today might have been killed or injured in drownings, highway accidents, etc., had the weather been fine.

NO BAD DAYS

I met a friend, a man in his eighties, on as dreary a day as we have had. "Br-r-r!" I said with a shiver, "what a day!" "It's a wonderful day," said my friend. "Every day is a wonderful day. Just being alive is wonderful!"

CHRISTMAS IN WINTER

Not all elderly people have this outlook. Two women, no longer young, were driving through the country on one of our "pet days." In the back seat their grand-daughters, aged seven and eight were seemingly immersed in their own affairs. One of the women was thrilled with the color and glow of the autumn foliage. "Just look at those maples," she would exclaim, gold, copper, apricot—all of these — and more with the sun shining through! And that Red Maple—talk about lip-stick colors — Elizabeth Arden should be ashamed!"

Her friend, however, was not savoring the beauty before her in her worry over a possibly unpleasant future. "Yes," she grudgingly admitted, "the leaves are nice but they're beginning to fall — and then comes winter."

From the back seat (I was told) a childish voice said, "But grandma, you know Christmas comes in winter—and you love Christmas, don't you?"

TEACHER BUDGIE

From South Wales comes a happy story of the budgie, the "talking budgerigar." It seems that the budgie is proving to be more successful in teaching sub-normal children to talk than human teachers. These children, hitherto "near speechless" learn to form words by talking to the "chattering birds." Imagine the fun and laughter in a budgie class-room!

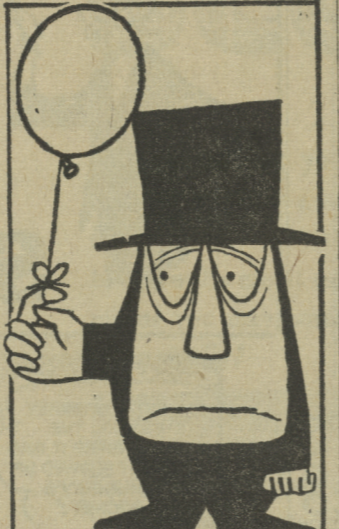

FRIENDSHIP

At times we have probably all been disappointed in our relationship with friends. We have failed to find the understanding we expected from them. We have ed them and we reproached ourselves as well. We felt we must lack the vital ingredients for true friendship. It is comforting to learn that one of the most highly regarded thinkers of our time, George Santayana, says: "Friendship is almost always the union of a part of one mind with a part of another; people are friends in spots."
