Bar Ass'n Wants End Of Strike Right Where Public Safety Concerned

By Richard Daignault (Canadian Press Staff Writer) QUEBEC, (CP)—The Canadian Bar Association urged the country's parliaments Saturday to give federal and provincial cabinets the power to withdraw the right to strike in labor disputes involving public safety and health.

M. M. MacFarlane of Vancouver, chairman of the industrial relations committee of CBA, proposed the resolution which would make disputing parties subject to the final decision of an arbitration board.

The lively general session, which ended the 35th annual convention of the Canadian body of lawyers saw a labor attorney second the motion and rise in its favor when a standing vote was called.

John H. Oeler of Toronto, who originally put the motion in the convention works during committee sittings, came before the meeting to say his stand represented the views of the Ontario sub-section of which he had been chairman.

To Protect Public

Mr. MacFarlane said it is wrong to define the resolution as a limitation of the right to strike. It is a measure to protect the public.

General session debate and adoption of 41 resolutions dealing with legislation and bar activities closed the week-long session for 800 delegates from all parts of Canada.

Improvement In Living Standard Reported Aim

MOSCOW, (Reuters) — Russia launched a colossal plan Sunday to improve Russian living standards with a country-wide, top-to-bottom reorganization of the agriculture industry.

The plan was issued by Nikita Krushchev, proclaimed Saturday night as the first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

He presented the plan to the party central committee. It was emblazoned Sunday across four whole pages of the party and state newspapers, Pravda and Izvestia.

It is designed to give the peasants greater incentives to raise their crop yields, and, particularly, to increase the breeding of cattle and other livestock.

Seathing Comments

At the same time Krushchev directed at Russian agriculture the most seathing comments ever aimed at any branch of Soviet economy.

The period he fixed for "a mighty rise in the whole of Socialist agriculture."

Miss America Of 1954 Selected

By JIM TOMLINSON ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., (AP) — The Miss America of 1954 crowned Evelyne Margaret Ay, a tall and striking beauty from Ephrata, Pa.

Ay (pronounced eye) won the title late Saturday night in the finals of the Miss America pageant, after a week of competition with 51 other girls similarly favored with good looks and talent.

She is 20 years old and a student in medical technology at the University of Pennsylvania. At five feet eight, she was one of the tallest girls in the contest. She weighs 132 pounds, has a 37-inch bust, 24-inch waist and 36-inch hips.

As she exchanged her Miss Pennsylvania title for the robe, sash and sceptre of Miss America, which will be worth about $50,000 to her in the coming year, Miss Ay gasped out, "it's hard to express an emotion that's so deeply set."

She has a litting musical voice and read a poem in the talent division of the pageant.

During the week, the girls were judged according to their poise in an evening gown, their talent, their personality and of course, how they looked in a bathing suit.

The 10 finalists were narrowed down to five as the evening progressed and the tension mounted.

Representing Canada in the contest was 19-year-old Kathleen Archibald of Kelowna, B.C. Miss Canada is a hazel-eyed brunette, five feet five and 135 pounds with a 36 bust, a waist of 24 1/2 inches and 37-inch hips. She plans to be a veterinary surgeon.

Miss Canada did not reach the finals but gets $100 scholarship just the same.

U. S. Army Has Wrist Radio

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States army says it has almost caught up with Dick Tracy.

It announced the development of an experimental wrist radio similar to the fictional job employed for years by the comic-strip detective.

The new wrist radio, capable of picking up broadcasts within the range of 40 miles, has been dubbed the "Dick Tracy," the army announcement said.

The radio weighs 2 1/2 ounces and is worn like a wrist watch. It has an ear receiver, resembling a hearing-aid, connected with a short antenna wire and cord concealed in the wearer's sleeve.

The army said the set is powered by a battery little larger than the tip of a pencil.

Supply Ship Returns From Arctic Voyage

QUEBEC, (CP)—The government supply ship C.D. Howe, carrying a cargo of 5,000 pieces of Eskimo sculptures, steamed into Quebec Sunday from a two-and-a-half-month trip to Canada's Arctic.

Capt. J. P. Fournier, 40, of Montreal, who has commanded the vessel for the last two years on its annual Arctic voyage, said the trip was made without incident, even though "we encountered a lot of fog and ice."

"We covered about 9,600 miles and brought back 11 members of the Baird expedition from the north pole, as well as a 23-year-old Eskimo who will be treated for a heart disease at the immigration hospital here."

Captain Fournier, who has been sailing ships for 17 years, and has made four trips to the Arctic, said he saw this year, for the first time, a polar bear in its natural icy surroundings near Ungava bay.

The C. D. Howe's cargo of Eskimo sculptures was collected by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Houston, of Montreal, for The Canadian Handicraft Guild.

Houston said the objects were all reproductions of either bear or seal.

U. S. To Test New Radio Defence Plan Next Week

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Conrad, the tricky radio operation designed to thwart any effort to use broadcasting beams to lead bombers or guided missiles to U. S. cities, will have its first national test next Wednesday.

Experts of civil defence, the federal communications commission, and the air force hope to learn just how good is the device worked out to keep an enemy from homing on a U. S. target by getting a navigational "fix" on a radio station in a large metropolitan area.

The long-range regulations called for a quick shutdown of all broadcasting as soon as an enemy approach was suspected. This robbed the enemy of direction beams—but it also robbed civil defence authorities and the general public of a vital means of communication at a time when quick communications were most needed to keep people informed and to direct the civil defence force.

So Conrad was developed, a joint effort by the FCC, civil defence, the air defence command and the broadcasting industry.

The word is short for "control of electromagnetic radiation." Its sponsors like to call it "planned confusion" for the enemy.

Entirely reversing the previous approach, the system needs as many stations as possible kept on the air, with the largest stations sharply reducing power and every station shifting promptly to a frequency not its own. Thus an approaching enemy would be provided with not one beam, but more than he could handle. The scramble renders the known direction finders on planes useless.

The Wednesday tests will find 1,200 standard radio stations across the country contributing to the confusion while 20 air force bombers, including some B-29s, try their luck in finding large cities with theoretical bomb loads.

Promotions Announced In 28th L. A. A. Regiment

Major D. J. McCormack, acting officer commanding the 28th L. A. A. Regiment, has been promoted to Lieutenant-Colonel and to command the unit. The promotion, one of four within the regiment, was announced by officials Saturday night.

Other promotions were those of Capt. Michael Campbell, to the rank of Major; Lieut. Vernon Walter MacLean to Captain, and Corporal Wanda MacMillan of the orderly room to Officer Cadet. It is believed that the latter is the first such appointment to be made here since the last war.

Col. McCormack first joined the 2nd Medium Battery as a gunner in 1939 and was on his way overseas in January the following year. He was commissioned as a lieutenant in 1943 shortly before going to Italy. He returned to England in 1944 for an A.O.P. course and qualified as a pilot the following March and proceeded to the Northwest European theatre. At the end of the war he returned to Canada in September with the rank of captain.

Like so many other former active service men he entered the Reserve Army in 1946 and won his majority in 1950. At the time he was named to command Number 204 Battery comprising men from Montague and Souris. That same year he was named second-in-command of the Regiment.

Col. McCormack was born at Souris Line Road, a son of Mr. Allan J. McCormack and the late Mrs. McCormack. He attended Souris High School and St. Dunstan's University. He is presently employed in a civilian capacity as Succession Duty officer in the Income Tax Office. He is married to the former Miss Patricia Moynagh, Souris, and the

Cabinet Faces Tough Transportation Decisions

OTTAWA, (CP)—The cabinet faces a tough political problem in arriving at decisions on two major transportation issues. The decisions may have repercussions in the next Parliament.

The two issues, both carry-overs from pre-election days, are:

1. The plea of eight provincial governments that the federal administration throw out the seven-per-cent, $38,500,000-a-year freight rate increase awarded to the railways last March.
2. The appeal of Canadian Pacific Airlines for a Vancouver-to-Montreal air-cargo license which, in effect, would break the monopoly of the crown-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines in this field.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will take up these issues next Thursday. Minister Howie, a senior minister, will be absent from the meetings, participating in international tariff talks in Geneva.

There are indications the cabinet has already reached tentative conclusions on the two applications: to reject the provinces' bid for revocation of the freight-rate boost and toss out the CPA attempt to compete with TCA for trans-continental air-freight business.

But these conclusions will be open for re-examination next Thursday before the cabinet's formal decision is handed down.

Rejection of the appeal of the eight provinces, all except Ontario and Quebec—likely would see western members, particularly, protest sharply at the next session of Parliament scheduled to open in mid-November.

It would place government supporters from the outlying provinces in an embarrassing position. Members may find difficult to tie in support of the cabinet's decision with the desire of local voters.

Actor Lewis Stone Dies Suddenly

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Lewis Stone, the popular "Judge Hardy" of the movie and a show business figure for more than 30 years, died Saturday night.

The 73-year-old actor collapsed on the sidewalk and died of a heart attack at his home after chasing teenage boys who had been prowling around his swimming pool. He did not regain consciousness.

The widow, Mrs. Hazel Stone, told police that previously boys had thrown garden furniture in the pool.

Stone, known for his kindness to movie beginners in his position as unofficial dean of Hollywood actors, was an honored guest last week at an MGM luncheon.

Toronto Milk Strike Settled

TORONTO, (CP) — Settlement of Toronto's three-day milk strike was announced late Sunday following an afternoon meeting of the striking milk drivers.

Fire Alarm On Canadian Liner

LIVERPOOL, England, (Reuters) — Five fire engines were summoned to the 20,448-ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France in dock here Sunday when smoke was seen coming from one of the decks. The smoke was traced to an electrical fault in the forward part of B deck. No damage was caused. The liner arrived from Montreal Friday.

Conference May Result In Joint Economic Committee

By Irving C. Whynot MONTGOMERY, (CP)—The old subject of Maritime union cropped up again Sunday as premiers of the three Maritime provinces and a Newfoundland cabinet minister prepared for an historic meeting here to discuss mutual co-operation.

The meeting was first planned to include premiers of the four Atlantic Provinces but, pressure of business prevented Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland from attending. P. J. Lewis, minister without portfolio, will represent him at Monday's session with Premier MacDonald of Nova Scotia, Matheson of Prince Edward Island and Flemming of New Brunswick.

One of the top items on the agenda is the proposed establishment of a committee to study all aspects of the Atlantic Provinces' economy. Others concern co-operation on industrial development, promotion of natural resources and the tourist industry and uniform highway codes and education standards.

Workable Alternative

There has been no hint that the oft-debated subject of Maritime union will ever be mentioned but some of the 50 or so business and political leaders here to attend the sessions said the meeting could

Farmer's Wife Wins $45,000 On Sweepstakes

MONTREAL, (CP) — A hard-working farmer's wife won $45,000 on the running of the St. Leger race Saturday at Doncaster, Eng.

Mrs. Eva Compagnon of Lawrencetown, 90 miles southeast of Montreal, held an Army and Navy Sweepstakes ticket on Premonition, winner of the annual classic.

In a telephone interview she said:

"I'm still too nervous to even think what I will do with the money, but I certainly need it!"

She lives on a farm with her husband, a former resident of Montreal, she said she has been buying sweepstakes tickets for more than 25 years.

Two other Canadian-both from Montreal—won large sums in the sweepstakes.

Sonia Beuregard of Montreal held a ticket on second-place Northern Lights and will collect $27,000. Dr. Albert J. Desparois of Montreal won $17,000 when the Queen's horse Aureole placed third.

Dr. Desparois, a 65-year-old retired Montreal medical man took the news of his good fortune calmly.

"The amount is reasonable," he said, "and it will help a lot."

He had no immediate plans for a vacation but indicated he may donate some of the money to charity.

"I'm not sorry I won," he said.

Doukhobors Use Fire In Anti-School Protest

(By Joe MacSweeney, Canadian Press Staff Writer) KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—Flames across the interior Kootenay Doukhobor country during the week-end signalled a new outbreak of extremist Sons of Freedom protest against a government order to send their children to school.

At least four homes have been reported burned. The RCMP said they feared a mass protest by fire would spread through the whole Doukhobor country before order is restored.

The latest fires, all set Sunday, followed a series of meetings by the 3,500-strong Sons of Freedom during which they sought direct word from God on action against the government back-to-school policy.

Meanwhile at Okalla prison near Vancouver, the 148 arrested Doukhobors continued a hunger strike they began when they were picked up and charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency Wednesday. Prison officials said two elderly Freedomites who took part in the fast have been taken to hospital.

A spokesman for the prisoners said the hunger strike would be ended when they get word from God.

The 104 children of the arrested families have been taken to a British Columbia sanatorium where they are being cared for by Doukhobor women and welfare workers.

The Freedomite Doukhobors, who believe in following only the laws of God and regard man-made laws as a slight to God, traditionally use arson as a means of protest.
