a round of trump, and then led the jack of hearts, hoping to steal the trick if West had the ace and ducked. When it turned out East had the ace these declarer had to settle for eleven tricks. What they didn't realize was that East's eight of clubs play was the beginning of a high-low signal, thus marking West with a six-card suit. Consequently, West could not have the ace of hearts or he would have over-called the spade bid with two clubs. So, while these Souths had larceny in their hearts, they bungled the job. Their efforts were misdirected. The declarer who made six used a more delicate approach. They ducked the club lead and won the club continuation. After trumping a club high in dummy, they drew six rounds of trumps, producing this position:

The bidding:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 3♠ Pass
4♠

Opening lead—king of clubs. Stealing tricks is something many players get the most fun out of. The grammar may be bad, but the sentiment is good. The hand on exhibit demonstrates a refinement in larceny. It was played in a duplicate pair game where the extra trick is more important than in rubber bridge. It does not seem possible for declarer to make more than eleven tricks, and, in fact, this was the result usually obtained. But in several cases South succeeded in making twelve tricks. The way the play generally went was that South won the club lead, East playing the eight, drew

Policy Liberal CCF Calls PC

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. CP.—Hazen Argue, CCF leader in the Commons, said Tuesday night the Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa has taken over "lock, stock and barrel" the policies of the Liberal government which preceded it. He said the Conservative record since taking office fully bears out a statement Defence Minister Pearges once made, that there was no fundamental difference between the Liberal and Conservative parties. "How right he was" said Mr. Argue. He spoke at a public meeting in the Longshoremen's Protective Union hall. His statements were included in a text of excerpts from his speech issued to the press before delivery. The Conservatives had two faces, he said, a progressive one in opposition and a reactionary one in power. In "less than a year" they had reversed themselves on issue after issue, including parity prices for agriculture, unemployment and health insurance.

Forestry Needs Wise Leadership

FREDERICTON (CP)—A more comprehensive program of forest development was advocated Tuesday by Maxwell MacLagan, Port Arthur, Ont., in an address at the annual banquet of the Canadian Institute of Forestry. Mr. MacLagan, manager at Lakehead, Woodlands Division, Forest Administration, stressed the importance of leadership for Canadian forestry. Such leadership, he said, might come from a government-appointed committee of foresters, forest administrators, economists, taxation experts, businessmen and political leaders. Mr. MacLagan recalled that the forestry institute had presented a brief to the Gordon commission, asking that the federal government take the initiative to set up such a body. NEED COMMITTEE Development of forestry was handicapped because decisions about forest lands were made by persons in government and industry who were not trained foresters, but this handicap could be overcome by the formation of such a committee.

West Indies Heads Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—It will be West Indies week in Ottawa starting Saturday. Lord Hailes, governor-general of the West Indies federation, arrives that day for a four-day stay at Government House as guest of Vincent Massey, Canada's governor-general. Lord Hailes leaves Oct. 15 for Montreal and the last three days of his Canadian visit, his place at Government House will be taken by Sir Grantley Adams, first prime minister of the federation. Sir Grantley will be here Oct. 17-19 to sign the agreement whereby Canada will extend $10,000,000 aid to the federation over a five-year period. PATHS CROSS The paths of the two visitors will cross Oct. 16 when they are guests of honor at a Montreal reception given by C. R. Stollmeyer, commissioner in Canada for the West Indies, British Guiana and British Honduras. Lord Hailes, once a member of the British cabinet, will be accompanied to Canada by Lady Hailes whose son by a former marriage, Nicholas Williamson, is a student at McGill University. The vice-regal couple will arrive in Ottawa from Montreal Saturday night. Their program includes a television appearance by Lord Hailes Tuesday.
