

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 10, 1890.

Notes and Comments.

The past few months have added to the British Empire a territory of two million square miles. Up to the conclusion of the treaty with Germany in regard to Africa the well defined area of the empire embraced a little more than 9,000,000 square miles, and though territorially the greatest in the world, only slightly exceeded in extent the Russian empire.

The Argentine Minister for Foreign Affairs has discovered a new kind of reciprocity. In a recent despatch to the representatives of the republic in foreign courts, the Minister instructs them to make a special study of the protectionist legislation now being enacted in so many countries, as it will affect the trade of the Argentine Republic.

The Boston Advertiser, a robust republican paper, has this to say about Boston and its last export trade: "Twenty years ago Boston had a large and growing local export trade in breadstuffs, that is an export trade done by Boston men and on Boston account; to-day the local export trade is noticeable mainly because of its absence, and no tendency towards an improvement is to be discovered."

A statement of the "Peter Pence" collected during the year 1889 has recently been made public. The statement is to the effect that Austria contributed £16,000; Italy and France, £14,000 each; South America, £12,400; North America, £11,500; Spain, £8,000; North Germany, £7,200; Portugal, £6,000; Ireland, £5,200; Belgium, £42,000; Asia, £4,000; Roumania, £4,000; Great Britain, £3,800; Africa, £3,600; Poland, £3,400; Australia, £3,400; Switzerland, £2,200; and Russia, £1,600.

The figures showing the deposits of the people in the various banking institutions of the Dominion in 1879 and 1889, are as follows:—

Table with 2 columns: Year (1879, 1889) and Amount. Rows include P. O. Sav Bank, Govt. Sav Banks, Bldg & Loan Cos., Chartered Banks, and Total.

The Speaker of the Imperial House of Commons, in a recent speech at Leamington, England, gave the following interesting piece of historical information:—

There has been three historical maces of the House of Commons. When Charles the First met his death on the scaffold the mace of the House of Commons disappeared, and no one knew what had become of that ancient symbol of authority. Cromwell ordered another mace to be made, and that mace was placed on the table of the House of Commons, and was 'the bauble' which he ordered to be removed from the table of the House on a famous historical occasion. That mace had also disappeared. Rumor was going about that there was at Kingston, in Jamaica, a mace which purported to be our 'bauble' itself, or a copy of it.

The extension of French Dominion over the western part of the Sahara desert is likely to have an important bearing on the enterprise of France. The new desert region reaches to the fertile West African possessions of that country, and will no doubt soon be traversed by a railway which will open to European, and especially to French, trade the regions of Lake Tchad and the upper Niger, where enormous development of great natural resources is possible. Even the desert may prove a source of wealth to France. It has little of the great utterly barren sandy expanses which, like the Libyan desert of the western Sahara, make cultivation and railway construction impracticable.

Dyspepticure—Is not a palliative, but a cure; it first relieves, then controls, and finally entirely subdues the irritation and inflammation of the stomach that causes indigestion and dyspepsia.

A Hard Ticket.

Mullens, one of the refractory crew of the David Irving, was sent to Georgetown Jail some few weeks ago from Souris for having run away with the Magistrate's horse while the trial of his chum was going on. The other day he was released from prison on condition, it is said, that he should at once go home to Gloucester and never show his nose in Souris any more. Instead of doing this, however, he found his way back as fast as his legs would carry him. Here he again began to spend his substance in riotous living. A little after dark on the evening of his return he wandered into the round house to have a look at the engine. The light of the bull's-eye dazzled his sight, while the effects of bad whiskey tangled his feet, and the consequence was that he tumbled head foremost into the pit near the turn table, cutting his scalp quite freely in his downward course. Out of this he scrambled, to turn up soon after in a row down the street. He continued his spree until Wednesday, which proved to be a very hard day on him and a boon companion who belonged to another Gloucester craft; for they got into a fight and got badly smashed up about the face and head, something harder than fists being used to bring the buffers to bay. Another trial before the Magistrates followed, and Mullens, handcuffed and in charge of special Constable Brehaut, was sent back to prison by Thursday morning's train. Just before the train started he made a bolt for liberty, but the Constable being swifter footed than the prisoner, he was caught and marched off again to the County Jail.

The Island Exhibition.

ONE OF THE BEST AGRICULTURAL SHOWS IN THE DOMINION.

(The Enterprise, New Glasgow.)

The P. E. I. Exhibition which has just closed at Charlottetown, was a magnificent success in every respect.

The horse show was not only up to the expectations of all who heard of the famed Island horses, but as we viewed the magnificent specimens of horse-flesh here displayed in the different standard-bred grade classes, the words of Queen Sheba to Solomon came up: "The hall was never told." The different classes and grades of cattle were exceedingly good, and will compare favorably with those of any other province of Canada.

The poultry exhibit is one of the largest and finest shows to be seen anywhere, the general average being very high. The sheep and swine department are well filled, and the quality of the animals excellent, far ahead of us in Pictou County. The whole arrangements of the building and exhibits in the different departments are about as nearly perfect as can possibly be. One feature that characterized the whole proceedings, both exhibition and racing, was the square, honest, fair and honorable dealing which was everywhere apparent. The judges in the different classes were imported men, paid for that duty, and so the usual ground of complaint that Oh, Mr. So got the prize because he was So and So, or had some influence with the judges was wanting.

Eggs for England.

(Montreal Witness.)

"We must find a market for our eggs, somewhere," said a member of a large produce firm, which does a considerable export trade, to a Witness man to-day.

One effect of the duty on eggs will be a very tangible increase in the exportations from the port of Montreal, and already the shipping agents are corresponding with Ottawa agent the conveyance of these delicate articles of food to the other side of the sea. The Hon. G. E. Foster, Minister of Finance, has written each of the steamship companies represented in Montreal asking for all information concerning the facilities on board the steamers for the safe carrying of the eggs.

Mr. James Thom, freight manager of the Beaver Line, notified the Minister that so far as that line was concerned the facilities were excellent. Each steamer is fitted up with three of Blackman's patent power ventilator wheels or fans, each of which supplies 30,000 cubic feet of fresh air per minute. Last year an exporter shipped 11,000 dozens of eggs to the English market as an experiment. A person who saw the eggs taken out on the other side of the Atlantic said that in three cases there were only six eggs broken. They were taken to the London, Liverpool, Manchester and Scotch markets, and were all sold at a profit. They were fresh and in good condition and enquiries for further lots were made.

Mr. Scanlan, of the Dominion Line, kindly explained the facilities of the Dominion boats for this traffic. They are admirable, and any shipments so far taken over by the line have always been landed fresh and in good order. All the companies including the Allan and Reford, are kindly disposed towards the new trade and promise to meet the demands of the exporters in every way possible to ensure the fresh keeping of the eggs.

Another produce merchant, interviewed regarding the egg trade, said: "Most decidedly we'll ship all the eggs we can get to England. No very few will be sent to the United States." He did not see anything to hinder the safe transit of the eggs. The British markets were at present supplied with eggs from France and Belgium, and the merchant thought that our eggs would be preferred. Ireland, in former days, supplied the bulk of the eggs, but now the trade was not fostered to any extent in the Emerald Isle.

Messrs. George Wait & Co. are to-day shipping several cases of eggs to England as an experiment. The freight on eggs to Liverpool will be about fifteen shillings per ton.

THE EVENING SESSION of the Charlottetown Business College and Writing Academy opens on Monday next. Subjects—Book-keeping, commercial arithmetic, penmanship, typewriting, shorthand and correspondence. Special rates for students entering this month. oct9dwf

FALSE REPORT.

A FALSE REPORT was published in the Patriot yesterday in connection with me. It states that I sell hop beer on my premises, and wonders how I can hold my position on the railroad. Now, although the beer which was stolen recently was found in the shop in my house, I had nothing whatever to do with the selling of it, or with the shop either. It is my daughter, Mrs. Carter, who runs the store. Everything in it is her own, and I have nothing to do with her.
