Plane Wreckage Found In N. B.

CHATHAM, N.B. (CP)—Weather as so far prevented identification of a crashed plane from Friday in heavily wooded country 60 miles west of the RCAF base here, in the vicinity of Serpentine lake.

A helicopter, carrying a ground search party, was unable to land the wreck, which may be that of a Sabre jet fighter missing from the base since last Tuesday.

Another effort will be made today, said an air force spokesman.

Identity of the missing pilot has still not been revealed by the air force due to difficulty in locating his next of kin.

The worst blow to Whiting proper was dealt by the terrific blast.

The explosion also blew out most of the windows in a three mile radius.

The initial blast hurled hunks of two-inch steel up to 80 feet long out of the refinery. One chunk nearly 50 feet long flew two city blocks and flattened an automobile to a height of scarcely one foot. Both were unoccupied.

One of the two dead was three-year-old Richard Plewaniak, killed when a piece of steel pipe shot through the walls of a house.

Walter Rhea, 63, assistant foreman of the Standard plant's high voltage department, died of a heart attack shortly after he was summoned to emergency duty.

A spokesman for Standard Oil said that all men working at the blast scene were accounted for. Seven of the injured were employees of the company.

Plaque Unveiled

United States except for his birthplace. The Chief Justice said "Franklin Lane could have done so with competence and distinction."

It was felt that a distinctive flavour would be given to this occasion, if it were prepared and delivered by an admirer of Mr. Lane in the United States," continued Mr. Campbell. It was with this idea in mind that he sought and found Professor Elliot Cheatham of Columbia University who prepared the address but was unable to be present for the occasion.

Mr. L.C. Callbeck stated that as a small boy Mr. Lane had known the green fields and red cliffs of his native DeSable, and while the United States had enjoyed his ability, Prince Edward Island was proud to honour him as one of its native sons. The chairman briefly reviewed some of the work of the Prince Edward Island Historical Society and encouraged those present to avail themselves of its membership.

Mr. Walter Shaw reminded those present that Franklin Lane received his first inspirations from the beautiful hills of DeSable. "I know of no activity that can emphasize the history of our Province to a greater extent than that of this kind," he felt. "I placed upon people who gained rich positions of eminence as the person being honoured."

Mr. Shaw stated that the Island's most important export over the years has been brains. He pointed out to the youth of the community present that there is no obstacle too great or no circumstances too unusual if they have within themselves the ability to reach the greatest heights either in their own country or in some other land.

THE TENTS dismantled their hearts the rest of their lives. "EEK'S BIGGEST OVATION" Her ovation was unprecedented the week's events. And she boys, fired with her enthusiasm crossed arms for the simultaneous singing of "Auld Lang Syne" 26 languages.

The lamborne officially was over. Unofficially it had only slipped—and for the first time into high gear. And the rim was short—merely overnight.

Scouts broke into little groups of eight to 16 or more, arms about one another's shoulders, and staged impromptu marches, singing scouting songs. They fed one another at their camp sites—really mixed up for the first time. Literally hundreds of campfires—some monster-sized and others family scale—burst out and the evening air rang out with songs and laughter from games around them. As night settled in the flames grew higher, the standard or sitting figures encircling them silhouetted in their light.

ANTIPATHIES FADE. Antipathies engendered during the week by language misunderstandings melted away.

Hundreds of men many lands joined the French-speaking Canadian, who sat in a giant oval around two immense fires consuming logs piled four feet high. The Quebec boys showed the way, singing songs in English and French, translating explanations line by line. An English scout reciprocated by leading the campfire in an old four-part French song which he taught the assembly and led.

The day was marred by three mishaps. Mr. Dods, 76, a former general manager of the Bank of Montreal, spent the night in hospital, suffering from an ankle twisted Friday at the Canadian National Exhibition. He was released Sunday.

Seth Kaminsky, 34, of Brooklyn, N.Y., was taken to Hamilton General Hospital with suspected spinal meningitis.

Gerhardt Sperlick, 16, of Montreal, suffered a slight concussion and head abrasions from a dead limb that fell from a tree overhanging the spot where he was sleeping. He was taken to the camp hospital where his condition was described Sunday as satisfactory.

At midnight, the Roman Catholics adjourned to their chapel area, near the arena, where Most Rev. Giovanni Panico, apostolic delegate to Canada, sang midnight mass. "Most 4,000 scouts were present. From dawn, all denominations conducted services after which scouts continued the business breaking camp."

Only One Man Survives Weekend Sailing Party

ROCKLAND, N.B. (AP)—A lone survivor of a four-man weekend sailing party told Sunday how the boat's owner was struck by a boom and knocked overboard and how he was snatched after their "pat foundered."

Lester Harrington, 30, at the time a three-year-old employee of H. Todge Cooke Bath automobile dealer, as rescued 15 miles south of Monhegan island Sunday by the coast guard.

The cutter Snowwhish earlier found a body caught in the nameless, 30-foot sloop's rigging. The half-submerged craft was floating near the annual Monhegan island race course which the cutter was patrolling.

The body was identified by Brooke's daughter as that of her father.

CAUGHT IN SQUALL. Harrington told chief boatswain H. Stimpson Jr., that the boat was caught in a thunder squall Saturday night.

A quick sweep over the boom knocked Brooke over and the craft was swamped. Harrington and two co-workers, Harold Smith and William Freeman, both of Bath then freed a small punt from the sloop's stern.

Harrington told the coast guard he climbed aboard the punt and bailed while the others helped from outside, but that Freeman went under and didn't come up. About an hour later, he said, Smith did the same.

Stimpson said the quartet left Bath Saturday afternoon for a weekend trip to Monhegan island 30 miles off the coast.

French Alert For New Riots

CASABLANCA, Morocco (CP)—French troops poured into the main towns of troubled Morocco Sunday night, ready for a new burst of anti-French rioting.

In Constantine, Algeria, French troops killed 26 Algerian rebels at the scene of a bloody attempt at insurrection eight days ago.

The French forces lost one killed and two wounded in the clashes at Ain Milia, Lannoy and Canrobert.

Authorities here said the department was still in ferment after the "black Saturday" rioting of Aug. 20, and there were hourly reports of murders, kidnapping and incendiarism.

Roads leading into Casablanca, Rabat and other large towns were lined with columns of tanks and armored cars moving to take up positions near the crowded native quarters.

Russians Jam Broadcast By Own Delegate

MUNICH, Germany, (AP)—Soviet stations kept up their customary jamming of the Voice of America Friday while the U. S. government station repeated a broadcast to Russia by the head of a Russian farm delegation in America.

Engineers at the VOA's relay station here reported no perceptible change in Soviet jamming during Russian-language broadcasts by Vladimir Mateskevich, first deputy minister of agriculture, who led the Russian farm tour of the U. S. and now is in Canada.

His remarks, recorded in Washington this week, were beamed to Russia on more than 20 repeater programs Thursday night and today. It marked the first time Soviet official had broadcast in Russia over VOA.

A VOA spokesman said "jamming appeared in varying quantities" on all but three of 15 channels which is "a customary pattern."

Mateskevich said in his broadcast that the Russian farm delegation had received "a friendly and hospitable welcome" in the U. S. and had seen "useful things that may be applied in the state and collective farms of the Soviet Union."

Find Body Of Missing Man

The Carters are luckier than they know!

Like all families, the Carters have plans and dreams for the future. But, unlike the families of just a generation ago, they have a better chance of making those dreams come true.

Why?

One important reason is because life insurance—which belongs in all plans for future needs—is much more flexible today. During the past 25 years, a variety of new policies has been created. The modern "family income" policy, for instance, provides maximum coverage while children are young, and reduces in amount as they become older and self-supporting. Other policies have been developed to cover mortgages and to provide retirement income to fit in with the government old age security benefits.

So it goes. No matter how you may wish to link life insurance with your future plans, you can now find a way to do so with one or more of the numerous different kinds of contracts available today.

This wider choice reflects just one of the ways in which life insurance companies and their representatives have adapted their services to the changing needs of Canadians in all walks of life!
