Bad Enough

I used to kind o' think I'd sort o' like to settle down And mebbe quit this farmin' an' enjoy a house in town, An' clean furtit the atmosphere of worry an' of toil That seems to settle 'round you when you're tillin' of the the soil.

I've tried it an' I'm satisfied. I'm goin' home agin, Compared to all them snowdrifts country mud is slick an' thin. An' wen the fuel's gettin' low, twill do my feelin's good To know the axe is handy fur to chop a load o' wood.

I'm goin' home agin'; out where there isn't any law To keep a man from sittin' down and waitin' for a thaw. I used to think 'twas hard to spade the ground, but I dunno, It's easier diggin' garden than it is to shovel snow.

I'm goin' back so where the pantry's allus full o' pie An' the bacon from the rafter is a hanging not too high; Where all you've got to do is lift your rations from the peg An' the hens don't want a nickel every timethey lay an egg.

The Live Stock Outlook.

Reports which have just been received from feeders in several districts indicate a decidedly improved demand for export cattle. Several sales are already mentioned at five cents per pound, live weight for May deliveries. One writes: "I have sold $2,000 worth of stock in the past ten days." This included, we understand, his stall-fed beasts and a few breeding animals besides. Better prices for export beeves will react favorably on stock for home consumption. Since the removal of the ninety-day quarantine many thousands of feeders have been drawn away to the States at very good prices considering that they were not of the most desirable type. It has had doubtless a stimulating trade, but in our opinion a better class of beeves should be reared and finished at home in order that the full advantage of the industry be derived. The prices being realized for other farm stock are also encouraging.

There has been a corresponding advance in the prices, and demand for breeding stock. The annual meetings of the Canadian Live stock breeders in Toronto last week were very largely attended and most encouraging throughout, as we foreshadowed in our last issue. From present appearances 1899 ought to be a record year with the Canadian breeder and farmer, whose greatest security rests in an intelligent system of live stock husbandry.—Farmer's Advocate.

The Co-operative Farmer says: Mr. Colin J. Craig, of Central Bedeque, P. E. Island, has a strain of barred Plymouth Rocks which seem to hold the record for early laying. His first lot of pullets were hatched on April 15th last, and on August 16th last, just four months and four days later, they began laying and have kept it up well since. At five months old one of the cockerels weighed 7 3/4-lbs, and the pullets

5 3/4-lbs. each. The cockerel now weighs 9 1/2 lbs. Mr. Craig is not making a specialty of poultry, as he is a large stock raiser and dairyman, and has mentioned these facts to show that poultry can be made successful on P. E. Island.

Straining Milk.

There are some points about straining milk that are not generally thought of, and therefore the milk is not wholly cleared of its bacteria. In the first place it is important that the milk should be put through the strainer and set where its cream is to rise as soon as possible after it comes from the cow. It often accumulates bacteria very rapidly if left in stables exposed to foul odor. Besides, if left long some of the cream will rise and will be so mixed with the milk that which does notes cling to the strainer cloth or wire will not rise as cream again. The strainer should be thoroughly washed by dipping it first in cold water and moving it rapidly through both ways, so that bacteria will not adhere to the underside, as they are apt to do if the rinsing water is merely poured on the strainer from above. Then repeat this process with water pretty near scalding hot. In that way if there are any bacteria on the strainer they will be killed.—Boston Cultivator.
