

Tax Cut Asked On Lipstick, Toothpaste

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the three women members of the Commons Thursday urged removal of the 10-per-cent federal excise tax on lipstick, shaving cream, toothpaste, baby oils and other cosmetics.

"Lipstick is not a luxury," said Margaret Aitken (PC — York Humber) in the Commons throne speech debate. "Half the electors of this country agree with me."

She described the tax on cosmetics as "discriminatory" and "incongruous." The excise tax had been removed a few years ago from such items as fishing rods, cameras and soft drinks.

At another point, Miss Aitken said unemployment insurance is being abused, possibly by thousands of persons.

She urged Labor Minister Starr to launch an educational program to make clear that unemployment insurance is not a pension, a holiday fund or a nestegg for those who don't want to work any longer.
