OLD SCENE RELIVED AT MURRAY RIVER

This 1864 scene of a buggy and horse would be more or less out of place on our highways today but old Dobbin certainly was handy horse power in those days. Although the buggy has almost disappeared from the scene the horse is still very useful to the farm. As a yoke of oxen, however, the horse is fast fading from use and many of the camera fiends at Murray River Saturday stopped to take pictures of the above mode of travel. Most people there had never had the opportunity to have a ride in such a wagon.

'64 Lobster Carnival Said Most Successful

SUMMERSIDE — "As far as I am concerned, I couldn't be happier about the success of this year's Lobster Carnival Week."

This was how Francis "Ginger" MacQuarrie, president of the Summerside Lobster Carnival and Livestock Exhibition expressed himself on the carnival which ended Saturday night.

Mr. MacQuarrie added that "this has been the best carnival we've ever had." He said one of the things that added to its success was that service club members got "right behind it and worked."

The attendance figures this year were higher than 1963 for every day up until Saturday for which Mr. MacQuarrie hadn't received any figures last night. He also said there were more meals sold every day this year than 1963 except for Wednesday which failed to top last year's mark.

CREDITS MANAGER

"We appeared also to get less complaints this year than any other years," Mr. MacQuarrie said and he credited a lot of this to carnival manager Charlie Hogan who he said was a "wonderful organizer. without him we wouldn't have had a carnival."

The week-long festivities were climaxed by a coronation ball Saturday night at the Royal Canadian Legion Home at which Miss P.E.I., Kay Newson and her two princesses, Sandra Mills and Cheryl Corcoran, along with the other Miss P.E.I. contestants, were featured guests.

Earlier in the day the queen and her princesses were guests at RCAF Station Summerside for Air Force Day and following this a coronation motorcade returned them to town for the coronation ceremonies at the stadium.

Doing the honors at the crowning ceremonies was last year's Miss P.E.I., Cheryl Paquette.

At 7 o'clock Miss Newson presented prizes to the winners in the front float and also presented the trophy to the winning team in the little league carnival week baseball playoffs.

Midway activities, along with musical entertainment, went on as usual.

The feature act of the program was the aerobatic displays by the "Red Knight", Flying Officer Bill Slaughter. Flying a T-33 Silver Star the Red Knight thrilled the crowd with his numerous and well-executive manoeuvres.

The air show opened with a Voodoo jet from RCAF Chatham, N.B. doing a high speed pass over the flying area plus a couple of more passes before returning to its base.

Other planes performing during the afternoon were the Mighty Argus, the Neptunes, the Albatross and the versatile helicopter.

The spectators also toured the ground display of which the highlight was a miniature model of an Argus which, through an electronic board, could do everything but fly.

By manipulating switches a person could start the propellers, turn on the lights on the aircraft as well as other things.

Severe Electric Storm Strikes Island Sunday

An extremely severe thunder and lightning storm accompanied by a torrential downpour disrupted light and power, and telephone service in various parts of the province yesterday.

The rain began about 3.45 in the afternoon and continued for about a half an hour. The thunder and lightning affected areas in Southern Kings and Queens counties knocking out fuses and transformers in the various places in the area.

One bad strike in Charlottetown itself knocked all power out in the Charlottetown Hotel affecting the lights, elevators and switchboard when the power transformer in the basement of the building was put out of action. The hotel immediately went onto their emergency deisel generator so power was available while repairs were made to the transformer and other equipment effected by the storm.

EASTERN AREAS

In the Montague area work crews worked most of the afternoon replacing fuses in transformers and lines hit by the lightning. Telephone lines in the Valleyfield area were out and this trouble was believed to be caused by a broken pole which was struck by lightning.

In Georgetown power was affected for a while but power was restored as crews replaced parts of the transformers, broken by the lightning. At Burt Point a Holstein cow from the herd of George Mair was struck and killed by lightning.

The areas mainly affected at various spots was along the Southern Kings and Queens area.

During the morning yesterday the first thunder and lightning storm struck, but with much less ferocity than the one during the afternoon. Rainfall amounted to .14 of an inch.
