AMANDA.

Where sun and flower are beaming
 Amanda's charms appear
 Her beauty's rays are streaming
 Round all this earthly sphere.
 The breeze when gently blowing,
 The rose that scents the grove,
 The vine when brightly glowing,
 All tell of her I love.
 I hear her song's sweet numbers
 When zephyr's breezy wings
 Sweep o'er the gold harp's slumbers
 And wake its tuneful strings.
 All, all the charms of nature
 Amanda's beauty bear
 And show in every feature
 Her godhead imaged there.
 The spirits of the dying
 Must quit this clay's control,
 But they to rest are flying
 In regions of the soul.
 The floods, now onward striding,
 Are foaming fierce and free,
 Yet soon their waves, subsiding,
 Will slumber in the sea.
 But I must vainly languish
 For joys I ne'er can know
 And wear a careless anguish
 In loneliness and woe.
 Fair goddess, I shall never
 Behold thy beauty shine
 Like stars above, but never
 Can hope to call thee mine!
 —Eric Johan Stagnellius.

HIS NOVEL METHOD.

A Sheriff Who Appointed His Deputy With a Double Barreled Shotgun.
 That tale related of an Alabama girl who shot a young man a couple of times and then married him recalls the method employed by George Bardsley, one of the early day sheriffs of Ellis county, in appointing his deputies. One night he was called to Chris Riley's saloon, where "Texas Frank," a newly arrived desperado in Hays City, was "shooting out" the place—a performance which consisted in the promiscuous firing of his "gun" at the bar-keeper, bystanders, lamps, bottles and pictures. Sheriff Bardsley grabbed the first weapon handy in his own saloon, which happened to be a double barreled shotgun, and proceeded to Riley's on the run. Dashing in he ordered Frank to throw up his hands, and the response was a bullet from Frank's 44. Letting go both barrels of his shotgun, Bardsley brought the desperado to the floor, so full of shot holes that he couldn't hold either air or water.
 Frank was not killed, however, and in course of time recovered, under the kind attention which he received in the county jail. Presently it was observed that the Texas man was walking around town without a guard, and a little later the people were astonished to find him serving legal papers and making arrests. Bardsley was approached by a newspaper man at this time, when the following colloquy took place:
 "Is 'Texas Frank' your deputy?" queried the reporter.
 "Yep!" was the sententious response of Bardsley.
 "How does that come?" was the next inquiry.
 "Well, you see," said Bardsley, "most sheriffs appoint their deputies, but I like to shoot mine."—Kansas City Journal.

There doesn't seem to be very much the matter with your child. He doesn't actually lose weight, but there is no gain. He belongs to that large class of children that don't seem to prosper. You look at him a little more thoughtfully than you do at the rest and say "He is not doing well." Failure to gain in weight in a child is a danger signal. Scott's Emulsion should be taken at once. It puts on fat where health demands it, strengthening the digestion.
