NEWS NOTES.

The world's wheat supply shows, at the latest estimate a decrease of 2,938,000 bushels.

President McKinley has ordered General Merritt to take charge of the Government of Manila. He says that "the insurgents and all others must recognize the military occupation and authority of the United States."

A rumor is in circulation that the recent Liberal conference at Bat. Portage was to arrange a further settlement of the Manitoba school question. Notwithstanding the Premier's boast that a final settlement of the differences between the minority in Manitoba and the educational authorities had been reached, the Roman Catholic hierarchy pressed for more of the promised concessions. The nature of these is now shown to be a change in the formula of enquiry sent out by the Educational Department to all Catholic teachers throughout Manitoba. Originally these teachers were required to certify that the trustees of the school have directed that the religious exercises prescribed by the advisory board be used in the said school, and that none others have been used. Either that or they must certify that the trustees had not directed the use of any religious exercises and that accordingly none had been used in the school. The concession granted lies the striking out of these two clauses, so that Catholic teachers are not required, in order to secure the provincial school grant to certify that none other than the regulation religious exercise have been engaged in. It other words it means that the Manitoba Government has conceded to the Catholics of Manitoba the right to use in their schools the religious exercises prescribed by the church and still participate in the provincial school grant.

Why is it that one man is old and decrepid at 45, and another hale and hearty at 80? It depends on the care he takes of himself. Often a man's body gets out of repair—the trouble grows until it lays him out in bed. Whenever a man feels that he is not as well as he ought to be, whenever he is listless, without energy and without vitality, whenever he finds that he loosing weight and that his ordinary work gives him undue fatigue, he needs Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If he keeps on working with his liver inactive and his impure—he keeps nerves and his body under a constant strain. He will not be hearty when he is old. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures many so called diseases because nearly all illness springs from the same thing, bad digestion and consequent impure blood. The "Discovery" makes the appetite good, the digestion strong, assimilation easy, and the blood rich and pure.

PROWSE BROTHERS

Corrected in Rhyme.

Thackeray was much pestered by the autograph hunter, says Hodder in his "Recollections." He disliked above all things to write in an autograph album, and often refused those who asked him to do so and sometimes rather brusquely.

On one occasion the owner of an album, a young lady, was fortunate. Thackeray took her book to his room in order to look it over. Written on a page he found these lines:

Mont Blanc is the monarch of mountains—
They crowned him long ago,
But who they got to put it on
Nobody seems to know

ALBERT SMITH.
Under these lines Mr. Thackeray wrote:

A HUMBLE SUGGESTION.
I know that Albert wrote in hurry—
To criticise I scarce presume.
But yet methinks that Lindley Murray
Instead of "who" had written "whom."
W. M. THACKERAY.

What Italy Needed.

Shortly before his death, which occurred in 1866, Massimo d'Azeglio, statesman, orator, poet, the painter of "Orlando Furioso," but, above all, the trusty friend and valued counselor of Victor Emmanuel, was talking to a Frenchman, who congratulated him upon the unification of Italy. "Yes," was the reply, "we have made a new Italy; now we must endeavor to make new Italians."

Providing For an Emergency.

"What will you have?" inquired the waiter as Mr. Heyroob scanned the French bill of fare. "Waal," he answered, placing his finger over an item, "ye kin bring me some o' that. But don't go away, 'cause if it tastes like it looks in print I'll have to try somethin else."—Detroit Free Press.

Signs.

"Was that man ever a farmer?" inquired Mrs. Cornutssel. "No," answered her husband very positively. "But he's always talkin about the delights of livin in the country." "That's what shows he never was a farmer."—Washington Star.
