Tignish Taking On Colorful Glow

TIGNISH — The Village of Tignish is taking on an added glow for the Yule season, as many new homes will be lighted for the first time.

Many homes are erecting nativity scenes, that appear very real and impressive, signifying the true meaning of Christ's birth.

Santa Claus and his reindeer are all ready to dash out at the village watching the glare of children's anxious watching eyes, as they gaily roam around the village watching the glare of holiday decorations.

Christmas is expected to be celebrated by church attendance and family gatherings. Many homes will be experiencing sadness in the recent loss of a loved one from the family circle this Christmas. Many homes will be welcoming a loved one home for the festive season, and many homes will seem vacant, with loved ones not able to make it home this Christmas.

HARBONY MASS

A three-part harmony Mass by J.G.E. Steble under the direction of J. Henry Gaudet, with Miss Jean Perry as organist, will be featured number of the Christmas Midnight Mass program to be performed in the Church of St. Simon and St. Jude, Tignish.

A mixed choir of over thirty voices has been assembled for the occasion. The various harmonic parts include a Soprano section, an Alto-Tenor section as well as a Bass section.

MIDNIGHT SERVICE

Preceding the commencement of the Midnight service, the Choir will sing traditional Christmas Carols, in both French and English.

For the first time in the long history of the Parish, three carols will be sung in French, having a four-part arrangement specially arranged for the occasion. The singing of Carols by the Choir will begin at 11.30 p.m.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICES

Christmas Eve Services and Lessons of Carols for the protestants in the area will be held by the members of the B-C Group at Elmfield at 7 p.m. and at Alberton at 8.30 p.m., assisted by the minister, Rev. R. Pocklington.

have to ratify the agreement. It is understood that the proposed settlement for the shop craft unions basically is the same as that agreed on by the representatives of the "residual" non-ops and the trainees.

SETTLED TO 1968

The shop craft negotiators agreed to a settlement giving them a six-per-cent wage boost in 1968 in addition to the 15 per cent granted by Parliament for 1966 and 1967.

The increases were calculated on the shop craftsmen's 1965 average hourly wage of about $2.50.

In addition, the railways offered skilled workers another 10 cents an hour-half applying July 1, 1967, and the rest in 1968. The package settlement for these workers works out to an increase of about 28 per cent over three years compared with 34 per cent for unskilled workers.

The CBEY is the only group that has not approved any proposed agreements. They withdrew their negotiating teams from the talks in Montreal Nov. 24 because of what president W. J. Smith called "the lack of satisfactory results from mediation." His union officers were told to prepare for compulsory arbitration.

CBEY workers also granted an 18 per cent increase by Parliament, were earning an average of $2.22 an hour before the August strike.

Accidents Over Weekend Take 45 Lives In Canada

At least 45 persons died accidentally in Canada during the weekend, 25 in traffic.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 8 p.m. local time Friday to late Sunday also showed five died in fires, one shot accidentally and four died in miscellaneous accidents.

Ontario led the list with 22 dead, 17 in traffic. Four small children died when their home at Timmins was destroyed by fire Saturday night. One man was accidentally shot, and a Toronto man died when he fell from a third-storey apartment balcony.

In Quebec there were four traffic deaths and three Quebec City residents died as a result of a gas leak in their rooming house.

Newfoundland and Manitoba were fatality-free.

Prince Edward Island reported one traffic death and New Brunswick reported two dead in traffic. In Nova Scotia three died on the roads and one in a fire.

Saskatchewan reported three traffic deaths and Alberta had one dead in traffic. British Columbia reported four traffic deaths.

Proceedings by Mrs. Kennedy to halt publication of the book, the Times said, "the manuscript showed 'the then vice-president (Johnson) to be of no little significance that immediately before the motorcade on the day of the assassination (in Dallas in 1963), important persons were trying to avoid riding in his car."

"The scene in the plane as Johnson tried to determine how to go about being sworn in as president is not calculated, according to the person who read the book to his wife and friends for Johnson or to be regarded favorably by him," the Times said.

The survey does not include industrial or natural deaths, or known suicides or slayings.

The 400-foot freighter, owned by Clarke Steamship Co. Ltd. of Montreal, turned on her side in 30 feet of water early Friday.

Emerson Gemis, president of Atlantic Fish Processors of Marytown, said Saturday that the Cabot had electrical and mechanical equipment for the plant aboard. The plant was to have opened in February.

Mr. Gemis said plant representatives now are in Montreal to determine if the equipment can be recovered and if the plant opening will have to be delayed.

"I don't know how Mr. Manchester escapes from the fact that he made a promise and now he has not lived up to his part of the bargain. I don't know about literary integrity nor the matter of history—they don't concern me at the moment—but keeping his word, particularly when it is in a written memorandum of understanding. There has been no approval from Mrs. Kennedy."

The New York Times quotes a source as saying the book depicts Lyndon B. Johnson as being a "weak and ineffectual person" until the assassination of John F. Kennedy made him president.

FAMILY SAID HOSTILE

The Times says Johnson is reported to be depicted in the book as sympathetic to the Kennedy family after the tragedy, but bewildered by the Kennedy group's hostility to him.

The newspaper quotes a source in the publishing field who read the manuscript six months ago as saying: "The over-all impression you get of Johnson at that time is that of a guy who is in a state of shock and who is confused by the Kennedy hostility."

The source, the Times said, is not involved in current court

Three Hunters Missing In Nfld.

GLOVERTOWN, Nfld. (CP) — A search party led by RCMP Saturday continued to look for three men missing in the Gander Lake area of central Newfoundland on a moose hunting trip.

The three, identified as Ronald White, Pierce Pickett and Angus White, all of Centerville, entered the woods Monday and have not been seen since.

Searchers have been trying to find them since Thursday after a heavy snowfall which covered paths leading back to the highway.

RCMP said it is believed the men may have taken shelter in one of several cabins along the shore of Gander Lake.

Hendsbee Recovering

HALIFAX (CP) — Hospital orderly Laurie Hendsbee, 41, continued to do well following an operation that arrested bleeding from an abdominal ulcer.

Mr. Hendsbee, who has one of the world's rarest blood types, was taken to Camp Hill Veteran's Hospital Dec. 4 after he suffered a hemorrhage. Relatives supplied sufficient quantities of the blood type.

A hospital spokesman said Sunday there was a possibility he would be well enough to be discharged before New Year's.

Delay Possible For Fish Plant

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The opening of a $7,000,000 fish processing plant at Marytown, Nfld., may be delayed as a result of the capsizing of the freighter Cabot in Montreal harbor.

The 400-foot freighter, owned by Clarke Steamship Co. Ltd. of Montreal, turned on her side in 30 feet of water early Friday.

Emerson Gemis, president of Atlantic Fish Processors of Marytown, said Saturday that the Cabot had electrical and mechanical equipment for the plant aboard. The plant was to have opened in February.

Mr. Gemis said plant representatives now are in Montreal to determine if the equipment can be recovered and if the plant opening will have to be delayed.

Consumer Credit Law Supported

OTTAWA (CP) — The New Brunswick government favors consumer credit legislation, says Finance Minister L. G. DesRivais.

"We feel the goal of this legislation should be to ensure that consumers can use credit intelligently and without restriction," he says in a statement scheduled for delivery today to the federal-provincial conference on consumer credit and interest disclosure.

"It should also further competition among financial intermediaries. To a large extent both these goals can be accomplished through a complete disclosure of all the information necessary to enable both consumers and investors to make intelligent decisions."

Mr. DesRivais says his government, however, is opposed to legal ceiling in all cases although it may be required in special circumstances.

"Little or nothing is gained by fixing limits which are or very quickly become unrealistic."

Credit legislation should consider consumers who owe more money than they can afford to repay and should ensure the protection of their equity.

In addition, he says, the legislation should promote the education of consumers since "so much of the problems of consumer credit is the public is neither aware of them or concerned about them."

Children In Sherwood Hospital Gives Performance

By IRA BALDERSTON

For the fifth time since the opening of Sherwood Hospital, the children of the day training and day-care classes performed Saturday before the public.

This was the annual Christmas concert, where the children performed in "The Story of Christmas."

Anyone who attended the performance on Saturday could not help but understand the real meaning of Christmas, when they saw these children put their best into a pageant which they have been rehearsing for a number of weeks.

The scenery and costumes were of excellent design which all helped in making the story clearer to the large crowd of parents and other interested people who attended.

What does it mean to these children? No one can fully say: Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, the day care teacher, tells me of unpacking the cradle, which was packed away from other years and the little boy who was watching smiled and said, "Baby Jesus."

AT THE MANGER

Knocking at the manger stall, three boys dressed as wise men may not fully comprehend the meaning of the ancient gifts they bring, but far more important, they are learning that every child is welcomed by the Christ Child.

A little boy in white shirt and tie, keeps perfect rhythm with the tambourine, to the music of the drummer boy. One might imagine, that to him the story tells of boys and girls of our day the world over bringing whatever they have to the Christ Child.

DEEP EXPRESSION

There is a deep expression of wonder and child-like trust in the faces of these children, as they re-enact God's lessons of life in story and song. It may be very simply done but in doing this they seem very close to the good shepherd of life and his tender care.

Many long hours of study and rehearsing the play, was under the direction of Mrs. Marie Howard and Mrs. Dorothy Taylor, assisted by Father Walter Reid and Rev. Ross Howard. We should be thankful to these people for the time and effort they are spending on these children, helping to make them more useful citizens.

Astrobugs Remain In Orbit

HONOLULU (AP) — Telemetry experts hunted Sunday for clues to explain the retro-rocked firing failure that lost a highly prized American astrobug satellite in space.

The failure prevented recovery of the Biosatellite I capsule carrying 10,000,000-bird seed and plant specimens. Instead of a planned parachute descent, 400 miles north of this Hawaiian capital, the satellite remained in orbit, said officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Biologists wanted the chance to study the recovered living specimens to judge the possible effects on man of long-ranging flights into space.

The astrobug was launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., Wednesday. Relatively, three days of space cruising by a fruit fly would be the equivalent of many years in a human life.

Charles Wilson, Biosatellite project manager for NASA, said telemetry systems operated perfectly up to the point of retro-firing command.
