NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL.
PARIS, June 21.

The Gazette de France says that before starting for Zululand, the Prince Imperial made a will appointing Prince Victor, eldest son of Prince Napoleon, his heir.
Cassagnac, in the Journal de Pays, after an outburst of grief for the dead Prince, puts the question:—"Does the Empire die with the Prince?" and he answers it in the same breath:—"No. There is an heir whom the Prince has designated should be his successor—Prince Victor, the eldest son of Prince Jerome Napoleon, a youth of warm heart and bright intellect, whom his pious mother had rendered worth of us and France. Were there no Prince Victor, there would be still a great dominant idea of the system which prevails and impresses itself. Were ever Bonapartism in peril, Imperialism would be stronger than ever."

At a meeting of the Bonapartist Senators and Deputies at M. Rouher's, yesterday, a suggestion was made and received with considerable approval, that all immediate propagandas for the restoration of the Empire be suspended, but care taken to keep alive the Imperialist sentiment until the elder son of Prince Jerome arrive at a majority, when, if affairs march rightly, an attempt for the restoration of the Empire will be made.

It is rumored that Rouher has a testament of the Prince Imperial disinheriting Prince Jerome Napoleon and constituting Prince Victor, the eldest son of the latter and the Princess Clothide (daughter of the late Victor Emmanuel, of Italy), as heir to the French throne. Prince Victor is now seventeen years old. Rouher left for Chislehurst to-day.

THE VICE-REGAL FISHERS.
METAPEDIA, P. Q., June 22.

The fine and beautiful weather which has prevailed since Wednesday has given a fresh impulse to the salmon and trout fishing on the Restigouche and Metapedia Rivers. Reports received last evening at the Indian House say that the Vice-Regal party are having very good sport and had taken nine salmon up to 6 o'clock last evening. Her Royal Highness, the Duke of Argyll and the Governor General are the successful ones, the Princess having captured the largest fish caught and which weighed 28 pounds. All are in good health and the best of spirits.

Lord Elphinstone and Col. McNeil have added ten more to their already large record, which now amounts to sixty-one. Mr. and Mrs. Whiteher, who commenced fishing on Wednesday last are having grand success, and Mrs. W. has hooked and landed seven fine salmon in the three days. Mr. Fearing of New York, with two of his friends, have just returned from a short excursion up river, and triumphantly bring nine fish as trophies of their success, the largest weighing 38½ pounds.

The arrivals at the Metapedia Hotel since yesterday are: John Richards, Prince Edward Island; Jos. Hammond, Campbellton; W. Campbell, Ottawa; Peter McKenzie Montreal; R. A. Clive and J. B. Thomas, Philadelphia.

CAPTAIN AND MRS. GOLDSMITH'S JOURNEY.
HALIFAX, June 22.

Captain and Mrs. Goldsmith, in the boat "Uncle Sam," arrived here at 8.30 last night, on their trip around the world—twenty days from Boston. To-day thousands of persons visited the craft and the courage of the adventurers was the subject of general admiration. Your correspondent had a long interview with the travelers. Both were in the best of health and spirits, and have enjoyed their trip, thus far, immensely, although they have experienced not a little roughness. Mrs. Goldsmith was sitting in the boat dressed in a navy blue suit, her hair hanging in one braid, and was writing a letter to her friends. She is a good-looking woman, 5 feet 3 inches high, and 23 years of age. Her maiden name was Annie McConnell, and she was born on King street, St. John, N. B., in a house adjoining the Waverley Hotel. Her father was a journeyman tailor. When about four years old she removed with her parents to Boston, where she has resided ever since. They propose to sail on Tuesday. If the weather is favorable, they will make direct for England. If unfavorable, they will coast along the Newfoundland shore, from England down to the Mediterranean, through the Suez Canal, call at Alexandria, thence to Aden, Bombay, Ceylon, Singapore, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Yokohama, Yeddo, San Francisco, and return overland to Boston.

NOVA SCOTIA.
HALIFAX, June 22.

The one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the settlement of Halifax was celebrated on Saturday. All public offices were closed and business was entirely suspended. The weather was delightfully fine. The Citadel, shipping and all prominent places were gaily decorated with bunting. At 6 a.m. the Halifax Field Battery fired a salute of 139 guns from the Grand Parade, amid the ringing of fire and church bells. Excursion trains were run from the country, and steamers ran to Bedford, MacNab's Island and other points. On the harbor thousands of people crowded boats and witnessed the base-ball matches yacht races, etc. The day's amusements wound up with a grand promenade concert in the Public Gardens.

The Intercolonial Railway will issue excursion tickets to Boston on the occasion of the Morris-Smith race. Warren Smith leaves on the Intercolonial train this morning for Boston. His boat was sent on the Worcester on Saturday.

THE ATKINSON SHOOTING MYSTERY.
SACKVILLE, June 22.

Atkinson continues to improve rapidly, and will probably be out in ten days. The shooting is involved in as deep a mystery as ever, but the prevailing impression is that Gratte, whose wife keeps house with Atkinson, committed the act. Against this theory are the circumstances that both Atkinson and Mrs. Gratte are very respectable, the former having a young family needing a woman's care; that Gratte had ceased to support his wife for over two years previous to her entering Atkinson's service; that the shooting was done with a shot gun which Gratte could scarcely bring there from Boston without being seen or noticed by some one.

Telegrams have been sent to Boston asking for his whereabouts, but no reply has yet been vouchsafed. The Sheriff intends offering a reward of $200 for information leading to the apprehension of the shooter.

QUEBEC, June 21.

Lieut. Col. Blanchet, Speaker of the Dominion Commons and the members of the Canadian Wimbledon team under his command, left this port by the steamer to-day for England.

It is understood that the St. Lawrence Steam Navigation Company have finally closed arrangements with the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company and the boats of these two companies will run in connection, as has been done for some years past.

Le Canadien says: "It is rumored that the name of the Honorable Judge Meredith will shortly be placed on the retired list."

Parting of Eugenie and the Prince Imperial.

Now that the Prince Imperial is no more the following account of the parting of the Ex-Empress with her gallant young son, written by Olive Logan to the Cincinnati Enquirer, acquires an additional interest:—

"I went to Waterloo station to see the last of young Napoleon, who is off to the Cape to have a look at the Zulus. He was accompanied as you know, by Eugenie as far as Southampton. It really gave me a pang to behold the once peerless beauty, to whom I was presented in the days of her utmost splendor both of fortune and fame. Her appearance was so pathetic that it made the tears spring to my eyes. She was attired in a style which we ladies understand as half-mourning, and she carried in her beautifully-modelled hand a large bouquet of early spring violets, the chosen emblem of the Napoleonic dynasty, and the odorous harbinger for us all of lovely days to come anon. Her hair is still the beautiful blonde so inseparably connected with her name, and this is something that puzzles me, unless I accept the explanation which has been given by some observers—that she wears a wig. Certainly there is not a thread of grey visible. Otherwise she was aged indeed. She looked positively haggard, pale as a ghost, her drooping, fatigued eyes encircled with the blue rings of care and anxiety. Her faded appearance formed a great contrast with that of her son, a rosebud of a young fellow in the first blush of joyous youth, up to anything you like, you know; and evidently just bubbling over with pleasurable excitement at the thought of going out to the seat of war with members of the greatest 'swells' in the British army. One has only to see these two relics of the imperial shipwreck to fully understand what a fearful sacrifice it must be to Eugenie to give up her boy, even for the short period of four months, which is supposed to be the length of his stay in Africa. She is the French mother to the very letter, quite a different being from an English or an American maternal parent. She has no sangfroid with him: her eyes are incessantly upon him; idolatry is legible in every glance. Since his departure, her condition, I hear, has been really alarming. Tears, sobs, and fainting fits have succeeded each other almost uninterceptedly, while cries of 'O mon fils! mon fils, cheri!' have wrung the hearts of her listening attendants. It is said that when the Prince Imperial called to take formal leave of Queen Victoria, she received him with almost maternal kindness. Thanking him in a tremulous voice for his interest in England and its army, she drew him to a sofa, sat down by his side and talked to him in a real motherly style. Then, when he rose to depart, she took a ring from her finger, and placing it on his, bade him wear it as a mark of her grateful regard."
