Japan May Become Leading Canadian Iron Ore Market

VANCOUVER (CP)—Japan, making all her Canadian iron ore purchases from the country's mines, soon may replace the United Kingdom as this country's best overseas customer.

"The possibility is seen in mining circles here following the recent contract for the export of iron ore to Japan," said a spokesman for the Iron Ore Trade Mission to Britain and Europe.

The mission reported in part that the world iron ore market is virtually closed to the United Kingdom, and that it exists for selling iron ore outside North America for perhaps decades to come.

Exports to the U.K., the report said, were falling off rapidly. British Columbia shipped an estimated 1,631,000 tons of concentrate to Japan in 1962, a trade worth around $20,000,000.

Under terms of contracts with six producing iron mines on the Pacific coast, the total value of the trade is almost 2,000,000 tons during 1963.

LIST EXPORTERS
These mines, with their 1962 shipments to Japan listed in this, are:

Zeballos Iron Mines Limited, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, 20,000; Brynora Mines Limited, a Nevada operation at Kennedy Lake in the Altona Canal area of Vancouver Island, 50,000; Jetway Iron Ore Limited, a Grancy subsidiary at Harris Harbor in the Queen Charlotte Islands, 70,000; Harris Mines Limited, on the east coast of Vancouver Island at Beattie Cove, 300,000; Empire Development Company Limited, at Port McNeill, on the north coast of Vancouver Island, 21,000.

In 1960, the last year for which Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures are available, Canada exported a total of 180,000 tons of iron ore in various forms.

The United States took 11,600,000 tons and Japan 1,100,000, leaving a balance of 610,000 tons going to the U.K., West Germany, The Netherlands and Belgium.

The U.K. was second to the U.S. with 3,000,000 tons.

B.C. Union Will Fight Dues Ruling

BY JOHN E. BIRD
OTTAWA (CP)—A Vancouver union affiliated with the New Democratic Party will attempt to use the NDP constitution to bolster its case against British Columbia legislation making it illegal for B.C. unions to sue their members for political purposes.

Local 9401 of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, a Canadian Labor Congress affiliate, will ask the Supreme Court of Canada Jan. 22 to introduce the NDP constitution as evidence in an appeal against the legislation on constitutional grounds.

The union, with the support of the New Democratic Party government of Saskatchewan, will argue that the legislation enacted by B.C.'s Social Credit government is invalid because it infringes Parliament's control over federal elections.

After passage of the amendment in 1960 the union, which includes some 165 employees of Imperial Oil Limited in Vancouver, refused to make the required declaration.

The B.C. legislation, an amendment to the B.C. Labor Code, requires that a union dues for political purposes and requires a statutory declaration that a union is complying with this section. It was upheld by B.C. courts.

The college states that it is derogatory to the professional status of pharmacists for them to use trading stamps or other premiums.

Remarks On Pope's Health Are Explained

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano says content of text had given "an optimistic meaning" to remarks made about Pope John's health by Archbishop Paul-Emile Cardinal of Montreal.

The newspaper says in a dispatch from Montreal that Cardinal Leger, at a meeting in Montreal, said that the Pope's health is in the most general terms, "probably to imply that in old age it was not unusual to see free ourselves from any illness."

The paper says those who heard the address or saw the archbishop on television were astonished to read reports of the remarks published in the press.

Cardinal Leger was reported to have told the meeting, in response to a question, that the 85-year-old pope was suffering from an indigestion, "11 years that will remain with him until the end of his days."

Earlier this week the Turin newspaper Stampa Sera reported Cardinal Leger's telegram to Pope John regretting certain remarks he made had been "misinterpreted."
