INSPECTING the 13 1/2 foot dory from which three men disappeared while enroute across Summerside harbor to spend the weekend at a fishing shack near oyster fishing beds in the Bedeque area on Saturday night. George Beaton, who discovered the submerged dory early yesterday morning describes to Summerside's Police Chief Peter R. White, (right), the manner in which the small anchor (seen on boat bottom) caught into the channel bank and held the dory stationary in water which was more than 25 feet deep at the point where the boat was found.

3 P. E. I. Men Missing And Presumed Drowned

Three men are missing and presumed drowned following the discovery, about 7 a.m. yesterday, of a submerged and overturned dory, in which they had left Summerside about 10 p.m. Saturday night.

The three men are: Freeman Campbell, 35, of South West Lot 16; Charles Baglole, 26, and Ronald Perry, 27, both of Summerside. Perry, only married member of the trio, is the father of three children.

The three men were seen to leave Queen's Wharf at Summerside on Saturday night in a fishing shack on the Bedeque shore at the mouth of the Dunk, about four miles from Summerside, where they (Campbell and Baglole) were employed in fishing oysters for Sonier Bros.

No indication of their disappearance occurred on Sunday, and no concern for their safety was indicated until yesterday morning when the overturned dory was sighted by fishermen in a motor boat operated by George Beaton, enroute to the oyster beds about 7 a.m.

Mr. Beaton said the dory was so low in the water that they were only a few yards away from it when it was first observed east of Holman's Island, about a quarter of a mile from MacDonald's Point, the closest distance to land, with the anchor caught on the side of the channel in water more than 25 feet deep.

After members of their families had confirmed they had last seen the three men on Saturday, the R.C.M.P. at Summerside checked the harbor area by motor boat and returned to organize a search party consisting of a number of outboard motor boats and an inboard fishing boat which searched the harbor and river areas throughout the afternoon, while a number of volunteer searchers were landed on Holman's Island to search that area and its surrounding shoreline.

Cars of relatives, friends, and observers lined the wharves and shore front during the search, and shortly after 2:30 p.m. many persons using binoculars, observed two of the search party wade into the water east of Holman's Island and carry an object ashore. Later when the search boats returned to Summerside for refueling it was learned that the object recovered has been a blanket or quilt that had been found in the water, but no one had any opinion as to whether it had come from the overturned dory.

When leaving the wharf at Summerside on Saturday evening the men were said to have purchased groceries to last them for the weekend.

Fishermen taking part in the search yesterday said that at the time the men would have left for the Bedeque shore the tide would be running in, and perhaps approaching the point of high tide. The meteorological section at R.C.A.F. Station Summerside said that wind about that time was recorded from the South at 18, with gusts up to 21 miles per hour in velocity.

SEARCH TO CONTINUE

With the tide low late yesterday afternoon the search continued late into the evening on choppy water which limited visibility beneath the surface, however it is expected that the search and dragging operations will be continued this morning.

Ronald Perry resides on Sheen Street in Summerside. His wife is the former Georgie Schurman, and their three children are Garry, age 4, Deborah, 2, and Linda, 1 1/2. They are presently reported to be expecting a fourth child. Mr. Perry is a son of Mrs. Maynard Perry, and the late Mr. Perry, of Duke Street, Summerside.

RECOGNIZE DORY

He said they recognized the dory as one belonging to Freeman Campbell, and believing the boat had merely gone adrift through the motorboat alongside the dory, hauled it on board, and continued on to the fishing grounds where oyster fishing activities were already underway at the time.

Talking with the Sonier Bros. for whom Campbell and Baglole were fishing oysters, it was learned that neither one had

Mark Birthday Of Queen In The Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Opposition leader Pearson Monday initiated the singing in the Commons of God Save the Queen to mark official celebration of her birthday.

Long known as Victoria Day and celebrated on May 24, the statutory holiday has lately been marked on the last Monday before May 24. Originally in honor of Queen Victoria, the day now officially marks the birthday of Queen Elizabeth.

"Last Oct. 14 was the Queen's Day," Mr. Diefenbaker said in reference to the term given that date last fall when she became the first sovereign to open a Canadian Parliament.

"But this is the day on which Canadians have an opportunity of reaffirming their affection and loyalty to Her Majesty."

The Queen's actual birth date is April 21.

The public galleries were crowded as the Commons opened and throngs of visitors were strolling about Parliament Hill and taking the conducted tours of the building.

British-Born Actor Ronald Coleman Dies In California

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Ronald Colman suave creator of dozens of memorable movie roles, died Monday 24 hours after being admitted to hospital with a lung infection. He was 67.

The British-born actor, a star since 1922, was operated on for a lung infection a year ago and had been in poor health since then.

Colman, who won an Academy Award in 1948 for his role of an egomaniac Shakespearean actor in A Double Life, starred in such movies as Lost Horizon, Random Harvest, A Tale of Two Cities, and The Late George Apley.

During his long movie career Colman was known as a man of culture and distinction, and he lived the part in real life. Quiet and studious, he was fond of browsing in antique shops and putting around in his garden.

Colman's voice was one of his greatest assets and helped him bridge the gap between the silent movies and the talkies. His career was saved when his cultured speech was heard in the theatres. He was married in 1938 to the

DeGaulle Offers To Lead France Out Of Crisis

PARIS (CP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle defended the army-led revolt in Algeria Monday and offered to lead France out of crisis by peaceful constitutional means.

At the same time, he said his investiture as premier by the National Assembly would call for "an exceptional procedure."

The next steps are up to Premier Pierre Pflimlin's coalition regime and the National Assembly, which meets this afternoon.

The wartime hero came from his country home to Paris and spoke out for the second time in recent years. To nearly 700 representatives of the press he stated his terms. Then he went back to his village home 150 miles from the capital to wait for his country's call.

He left political ferment behind him in Paris.

AMHERST (CP)—A severe electrical storm swept the Nova Scotia shore of Northumberland Strait early Monday. Lightning struck a cattle barn on the farm of Wylie Darragh at Linden, 25 miles from here, causing damage estimated by the owner at $25,000.

Will Not Be Submitted To Parliament For Approval

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Smith tabled the new Canada - United States defence agreement in the Commons Monday but said it would not be submitted to Parliament for approval.

Defence Minister Pearkes said in the Commons last Jan. 4 that the agreement would be submitted to Parliament.

Harold Winch (CCF - Vancouver East) said Mr. Smith's statement that Parliament will not be asked to approve the agreement "certainly breaks down the meaning of democratic principles in our country." He added:

"It is of paramount importance that Parliament should have an opportunity to discuss and approve such arrangements, especially when Canada might become a new Belgium between the United States and Russia."

NOT RESPONSIBLE NO CONSULTATION

Mr. Smith said the government regards the agreement as an extension to the North Atlantic Treaty. However, in reply to Paul Martin (L—Essex East), he said the commander of North American Air Defence Command is not directly responsible to the NATO council.

Mr. Smith said the agreement, embodied in an exchange of notes signed in Washington a week ago, makes formal provision for civilian control of Norad activities.

"Never," he said, "in the long and earnest consideration of this subject by the Canadian and U.S. governments, has there been any doubt of the primacy of civilian authority."

The agreement does little more than set out in formal language the interim verbal agreement between the two countries which had existed since Norad's establishment Aug. 1 last year.

NEW CLAUSE

However, there is one important exception. American fighter squadrons, armed with nuclear-tipped anti-bomber missiles, will have permission to fly over Canada without the Canadian government's prior permission in each individual case.

Previously, American fighter planes could fly over Canada in exercises with RCAF aircraft but they could not carry nuclear missiles except in a grave emergency—that is, war.

The agreement says at one point:

"Temporary reinforcement from one area to another, including the crossing of the international boundary, to meet operational requirements will be within the authority of commanders having operational control."
