WHAT CANADA NEEDS.

A Banker's Suggestion for Improving Our Affairs.

Mr. B. E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, publishes a statement as to what Canada needs. Mr. Walker says:

First. We should settle as speedily as possible all questions now under discussion which are calculated to create sectional differences.

Second. Let us also discuss less such questions as Imperial federation or better trade relations with the United States, and give closer attention to the humbler but more important details of our business affairs at home.

Third. We should exercise the greatest possible economy in public expenditure consistent with efficiency, whether in the affairs of the Dominion or the smallest municipal government. Business is depressed and we spend too much publicly and privately. Economy is unpopular, but absolutely effective for such moderate ills as we in Canada are required to bear.

Four. Each province should offer the best possible conditions to induce the better class of men, not satisfactorily employed, to take up free grant lands. This is an old story but every man already in the country and willing to work when thus placed, is a greater gain than an immigrant. The Dominion Government should open throughout Great Britain and northern Europe offices where reliable information could be obtained regarding our lands, agricultural, pastoral and mineral. Nothing has happened in the progress of Canada which requires us to seek new roads to success. We have merely halted after over-exertion and will resume our march when through the needed rest we have acquired fresh energy.

MILLIONS FOR DEFENCE!

NOT ONE CENT FOR TRIBUTE.

Safety of Canadians Assured

When Paine's Celery Compound is Used.

It has ever been the boast of Britons, that they never shall be slaves. The Briton's heart warms to freedom; his blood is aroused when human being become mere chattels—bought and sold like animals. British subjects will suffer patiently even extreme taxation for the raising of millions for defence; but, never, nevr will they pay tribute to any foreign master.

British subjects — men, women and children—are slaves too often! What do we mean? Just what we say—that we are too often miserable bondmen and bondwomen, when we might revel in freedom and strength.

Thousands of us are slaves to some trouble or disease that makes this earthly pilgrimage burdensome and oppressive.

Why suffer longer? We have near us a mighty and powerful deliverer and rescuer known as Paine's Celery Compound that quickly banishes our assailing and tormenting enemies that come too often in the form of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, heart disease nervousness, sleeplessness and blood diseases.

Why encourage and pay tribute to such death-dealing masters? Our bodies should be free, clean, pure and fitted for the full enjoyment of true life. That world-renowned prescription, Paine's Celery Compound, gives perfect health, strength and life. It removes every trace of disease from the body, and purifies the blood.

This is the season to banish every weight and oppression. Let the renovating work be commenced now, so that summer and the hot weather may be met with strong and vigorous bodies and clear heads. Paine's Celery Compound has in past spring seasons saved thousands of sufferers; it will do the same for you today, weary and sick mortal.

When you decide to use the great health giver, see that your dealer gives you the kind that CURES. Ask for Paine's Celery Compound, and see that it has the trade mark, the "stalk of celery." No other preparation will suit your case.

NOT ALLOWED TO EAT FISH.

Tea Pickers on a Restricted Diet to Protect the Delicate Flavor.

The Chinese tea plant is a pretty evergreen from 3 to 7 feet in height, covered in the winter months with fragrant white or yellowish blossoms, resembling those of the orange or blackberry. The first crop of tender unexpanded leaf buds is gathered in May or June, and is the finest quality, being reserved for the use of the mandarins and other individuals of authority, and selling at $8 a pound.

They are gathered by hand with the greatest care, and often with a rough sort of glove, while the pickers are forbidden to partake of any fish or strong-smelling substance, for fear of affecting the delicate flavor. Much depends also upon the exact time of picking, as a delay of even twenty-four hours may produce an inferior grade of tea. No less than five successive immersions can be made from these leaves, while the other crops supply but one or two.

The second and principal harvest is in early summer, the tea selling at $1.50 a pound, and the third and last crop is gathered in the autumn. This is what is usually exported; so that, unless dealing with well-known tea houses, we seldom obtain the choicest brands.

Green tea is made by roasting the leaves over hot fires immediately after picking, but those intended for black tea are allowed to wilt and ferment for several days in the open air till they turn red, when they are "fired" over furnaces of burning charcoal.

The Hysons are most generally used of the green teas; and, like other brands of their class, are often stained by the Chinese with various mineral dyes, such as indigo and gypsum. All but the best teas are also subject to adulteration from the mixture of other kinds of leaves or of exhausted tea leaves recolored with black lead or logwood.

The greatest tea drinkers are said to be the Australians, and after them the English, who consume four times as much tea as coffee, while the people of the United States drink eight times more coffee than tea.—Providence Journal.

St. Bernard Dog's Reputation.

Another illusion seems likely to vanish and the faithful hound of the St. Bernard is at present on his trial before the world. He cannot, unfortunately, be himself the plaintiff in a libel suit, so the sporting foreign press is at present ardently espousing his cause. The facts, says the Pall Mall Gazette, are these. An Englishman some time ago wrote to an English sporting contemporary and told his one experience of the traveller and the faithful hound.

He and a friend were nearing the top of a pass, when a St. Bernard, a professional St. Bernard, and one actually en tournee at the very time, rushed upon them, knocked them over the edge of a small precipice, and, turning his attention to a knapsack which had been left behind in the struggle, opened it with some difficulty and devoured the tourists' breakfast.

This is the statement for the prosecution; it is a sad fall from a high ideal, but the defence has shown much ingenuity in meeting the charge. The plea is that they were either smugglers or the dog took them for such; that he had once been a douanier's dog, and served his country with more zeal than the Hospice. Contraband goods are confiscated by international law, and therefore the knapsack belonged to the St. Bernard by international law. This is quite a new reading of Longfellow's poem.—N. Y. Herald.

Now is the time to get your supply of glass and crockeryware, as we want to make room for the new. We will sell cheaper than ever for a few weeks.—W. Colwill.

CLOSURE RULE WANTED.

(Montreal Gazette.)

One of the duties of the new House of Commons will be to consider a change in the rules that will prevent such a state of affairs as has characterized the greater part of the present session. Either the Speaker or the majority of the House must be given the power to declare when debate ceases and obstruction, or provision must be made for taking a vote on any important question at a fixed time. There is in the rules of the British Parliament precedent for adopting either of these ways of making business progress possible. There is in the record of what has transpired in the Canadian Parliament since the present session began as ample justification for a closure rule as ever the Irish Home Rulers gave in the Imperial House of Commons. No political party has a right for purely partizan ends to make the transaction of business in Parliament impossible. This, however, is what the Liberal opposition has done during almost the whole of the past four months. The work was undertaken with deliberate intent. Not only public, but individual business interests have been sacrificed. There are many private bills affecting considerable enterprises that have been lost, and their promoters will be put to the trouble and expense of reintroducing and defending them next session. That is unjustifiable. Private concerns in the way of legislation may, at times, be legitimately set aside. Parliament's first duty is to the public. But the expectation of making a few votes by blocking progress is not a public justification, and that is all that was behind the Liberal policy of obstruction. Very serious public interests have also been jeopardised. The estimates have not been adopted. The Supply Bill cannot be passed. There will, after the first of July, be no money to carry on the public services. Another session of Parliament must be held immediately after the elections, at a cost to the country of $400,000 or $500,000. All this inconvenience, all the necessary waste of time, all the expense, is directly due to the minority of Parliament, which wilfully resolved on its course for purely partisan motives, and which the present rules of the House of Commons were not sufficient to check. Every business man, inside and outside of Parliament, who is opposed to such wasteful, selfish and wicked obstruction, must approve of a change in the procedure rules that, while allowing the fullest discussion of every phase of every measure submitted to Parliament, will enable the majority to do the work the people entrusted it with, that of administering the public affairs of the country.

LITTLE MONEY NEEDED.

How to Dress the Youngsters Well.

Diamond Dyes Keep the Children in New Clothes,

Little money is needed to keep the children well and handsomely dressed. Thrifty mothers rarely buy new clothing for their little ones, yet they always appear nicely dressed. This is the result of using the Diamond Dyes, which make all the fashionable colors with but little work and trouble

Father's suits and mother's dresses can be taken to pieces, re dyed, and made over for the boys and girls at a very small expense. When this work has to be done, be sure you use the Diamond Dyes in order to get good colors. The use of imitation dyes means loss of your materials, as well as waste of time and money.

The last report issued by the Pasteur Institute in Paris shows many gratifying results. In the year 1895 1,520 persons suffering from rabies or incipient rabies were inoculated, and only two died. Of the patients, 1,263 were French, 173 English, 35 Swiss, 20 Anglo Indian, 11 Spanish, 6 Belgian, 6 Dutch, 2 Egyptians, 2 Greek and 2 Turkish.

HER HEART AND HANDS FULL.

She Has Changed Her Mind About Sleeping Car Porters.

A young Englishwoman who has not lived in this country long was recently called west by the serious illness of her husband. The summons came unexpectedly, and she took the first available train, gathering together a few articles for herself and baby. The child was only 2 months old, and the mother naturally feared that the journey of twenty-four hours would be a severe trial. As she said:

"I didn't know how baby would take to traveling, and the thought of his crying all night in the sleeping car was simply maddening. We started at 6 o'clock, and for two hours baby was quiet. But then he became restless, and soon he began to cry. I did all I could, but he kept it up. The men in the car looked at us ruefully, as if expecting a sleepless night, and I finally began to cry myself. I know it was foolish, but alarm for my husband and the trouble with baby were too much for me;

"There were three women in the car, one elderly and the others young, but none of them offered me even a word of sympathy. But the negro porters were as kind and good as they could be. I didn't know much about negroes, and from the newspapers I had an idea that the porters on sleeping cars were greedy and soulless. These certainly were not. The one on my car may have been animated by a desire to get a tip, but all the others on the train who passed stopped to speak to me and to ask if they could do anything for baby. They got me lumps of sugar and warmed the milk, and spoke so cheeringly that I felt much relieved. Fortunately baby quieted down in an hour or two and slept well all night. Now my heart is warm for the negro race, and especially for sleeping car porters."—New York Tribune.

The world is conquered, not by armies, but by a gown. The dainty gown exerts a sway more potent than that of king or emperor. Priestley's black dress fabrics make, in the hands of the skilled modiste, adorable gowns, because the material, rich and soft, lends itself to the figure and drapes with poetic grace. A niche higher has been reached in "Eudora," the new dress fabric. To the casual observer there is no difference between it and Henrietta, but ladies experienced in dress goods are full of praise for new qualities they have discovered in it. The "Eudora" does not rust, does not gather dust, has a lovely glow, which makes it fit for a princess; and has greater width and weight than the Henriettas. Wrapped on "The Varnished Board," and Priestley's name stamped on every five yards.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA
BREAKFAST—SUPPER.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided for our breakfast and supper a delicately flavored beverage which may save us use many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette
