MR. AND MRS. DAVID GREY MUNRO

Lovely Autumn Wedding Solemnized At St. Davids

St. David's Presbyterian Church, Halifax, was the scene of a lovely autumn wedding when Jessie Anne daughter of Mrs. G. C. MacRae and the late Mr. MacRae of Charlottetown, became the bride of David Grey Munro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thompson Munro, of Halifax.

Rev. Frank Lawson performed the double-ring ceremony.

The soloist was Ronald Murdock of New Glasgow, and Professor Harold Hamer was organist. The Church was attractively decorated with white gladioli. The guest pews were marked with lily of the valley caught in white bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Captain George D. MacRae, and looked very lovely in a floor-length gown of peau-de-soie, featuring a bateau neckline edged with handmade French lace, which also edged the long tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt with chapel train worn over a full hooped underskirt of slipper satin and nylon net, featured an encircling band of French handmade lace.

Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a Roman headdress of peau-de-soie, and lace, outlined with seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade of red roses with sprigs of lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Bonnie Fraser, R.N. classmate of the bride attended as matron of honour. She wore a dress of cornflower blue taffeta, styled on princess lines with a full skirt. She carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Miss J. Louise Smith, R.N. and Miss Margaret Munro, sister of the groom attended as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of cornflower blue taffeta, made in sheath style with matching over skirts of nylon organza. They wore matching feather hats, and carried nosegays of pink and white carnations with blue streamers.

The best man was Everett Walsh and the ushers were Donald Oxner and Burke MacDonald.

Mrs. MacRae chose for her daughter's wedding a gown of dusty rose lace over taffeta, with matching accessories, her corsage was of white tea roses.

Mrs. Munro, mother of the groom chose a gown of royal blue nylon organza over taffeta, with matching accessories, and stole, her corsage was of red tea roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Nova Scotian Hotel. The toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Frank Lawson and responded to by the groom.

For travelling the bride chose a two piece wool dress of sapphire blue with matching shoes and bag, and white feather hat, her corsage was of white roses.

The honeymoon was spent visiting points of interest in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Munro will reside in Halifax. The bride is a graduate of the Victoria General School of Nursing, and the groom is employed with C.B.C.

Out of town guests at the wedding were:

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cameron, Mr. Howard MacKinnon, Mr. Albert MacNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stewart, all of Charlottetown. Capt. and Mrs. George MacRae of Ontario. Miss Estelle Grant, New Glasgow. Mr. and Mrs. Allison MacPherson, Guysborough, N.S. and Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Fraser, Westville, N.S.

Following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew T. Munro intertained for the bridal party.

Mrs. Bonnie Fraser and Miss J. Louise Smith entertained for Miss MacRae prior to her marriage.

The C.B.C. entertained for the couple and presented them with a beautiful gift of crystal.

MR. AND MRS. PETER ALVIN ROSE

Attendants And Soloist Were Bride's C.G.I.T. Group

At seven o'clock on Saturday evening, September thirteenth 1958, at the East Point United Baptist Church, the marriage was solemnized of Margaret Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colin Dixon, East Baltic, and Peter Alvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Rose of East Baltic.

Rev. Frank Mollins was the officiating clergyman at the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of autumn flowers and maple leaves decorated the altar while the guest pews were marked with white ribbon streamers and pansies.

The youthful bride, given in marriage by her father, looked very lovely in her floor length gown of white chantilly and nylon tulle over bridal satin with tiered nylon net underskirt. The sequim trimmed lace bodice was fashioned with Peter Pan collar and long tapering sleeves.

Her finger tip veil of nylon net sprinkled with late motifs and jewel trim was held by a tiara, accented with irridescent sequins and tiny jearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and yellow roses.

It seemed fitting that for this important occasion the bride should have for her attendants and her soloist her fellow members in her former C.G.I.T. group.

Mrs. Lyman Baker, as matron of honour, and Miss Norma Garrett as bridesmaid wore matching ballerina length gowns of sheer nylon chiffon over taffeta in pale bue and yellow and mitts and each carried a nosegay of pink and yellow roses.

Little Beverly Dixon, niece of the bride as flower girl looked very winsome in her floor length gown of pink flocked nylon, head dress of rosebuds and carrying a basket of rosebuds and flowers.

The groom was attended by his cousin. Mr. Edgar Rose. The ushers were Mr. Waldon Rose, brother of the groom and Mr. John Dixon, uncle of the bride.

Wedding music was in charge of Mrs. Clinton Stewart who rendered appropriate wedding music prior to the ceremony and accompanied Miss Sandra MacGregor who sang "The Wedding Prayer" as the wedding party reached the altar and "I'll Walk Beside You" during the signing of the register.

The bride's mother was attired in a royal blue French velvet gown with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The groom's mother wore an ensemble of pink nylon over blue silk jersey with navy duster and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride for about one hundred guests. The bride's table was centered with a beautifully decorated three tired wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom and flanked on either side by white tapers.

Mrs. Harry Dixon, sister of the groom was in charge of the guest book and friends of the bride served.

Among the guests were Miss Margaret Hastings, and Mrs. Edward Dwyer, Oakville, Monn., aunts of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dixon, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Margaret Robertson, great-aunt of the bride.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Rose left for a honeymoon trip through the Maritimes and Maine.

For travelling the bride donned a red wool suit, with white accessories and a corsage of white and red carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Rose will reside in East Baltic.

Shower—Prior to her wedding, Miss Joan Dixon was tendered a community shower at her home in East Baltic, at which she received many useful and beautiful gifts.

Mr. Russel Garrett was masterof ceremonies and those assisting were the Misses Eileen Norma Garrett, Mrs. Lyman Robertson, Sandra MacGregor, Baker and Mrs. Robert Rose.

ELLEN'S DIARY

"Now, Where's The Milk For The Forlorn Piglet?"

A cold wind, we remember of today, one which brought with it over the field, chilly portents of Winter. And we said with some unease when we considered the Island harvests yet to be gathered "Are we to have Winter early this year? Did the earlier Spring foretell it?". But we know we shall have lovely days yet, full of mellow sunlight, bound about with a ribbon of summery wind. Farmers will be at the last harvesting then or maybe at the plowing, shares flashing as they open the sod-land or stubble, ever with hopes that are high.

Yes, there must come those pleasant days of grace for the armwives to harvest their dahlia tubers, and the gladioli bulbs that brightened their summer immeasurably. . .Granddaughter lifted a blossoming pansy to a pot today, to keep a spot of Summer in her room through the colder seasons ahead.

Here set down before us at dawn, all clean and shining was a new workaday week! One receiving such, made it an occasion for some interesting "New Day Resolutions." She says:

"In this day that's just beginning
I must walk a different way.
I must put more warmth and humour
In the words I have to say.

I must stop to pick some roses
And enjoy the fragrance there.
For those friends with pain or heartache
I must breathe an earnest prayer

Oh! Some days I am so hurried
With my selfish aims and plans
I let many golden chances
Slip unnoticed through my hands."

Today was given over to the harvesting of mangels at this farm, takings being drawn home to the barn-cellar and that of this house, by tractor-trailer and horse-drawn cart. It was nice to hear the hoof-beats in the yard and by way of the "run" once more saving the gifts of the field to this cellar, where Granddaughter helped at the storing.

"It doesn't take us long to fill the cart-about ten minutes, I believe" Mack reported when he came to the door so pressed for time he wished we would have "A stick of gum opened and ready for him when next he came by". "No, not long—but, he nodded "that trailer keeps us a while!"

"This appears to be the coldest night yet" James offers bringing in now a forlorn piglet in a basket." The mother has so many she has actually no room for him" he explains. "You see he's existing on what he gets by his wits. So I thought I'd give him a bit of cow's milk. He's a thrifty fellow" he says, stroking him gently "or else he would not be living. Come to live, I guess" he smiles. "Now, where's the milk, Ellen—and what shall I heat it in?" he asks.

Until tomorrow — — — Diary, Good-night.

HAMPTON W.A.

The Hampton W.A. met at the home of Mrs. F.A. Merrill on Friday evening, October 3rd. The president, Mrs. Windsor Bell presided and opened the meeting with scripture reading followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. The minutes were read, approved and signed. The roll call was answered by six members and four visitors were welcomed.

The treasurer's report was very encouraging. There was some discussion about making a quilt and mats to sell, also pillow slips were passed out to embroider. The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting. Mrs. Merrill and Mrs. Clayton Morrison acted out a charade and Mrs. Charlie Clywell was prize winner. A delicious lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed. Next meeting at "the Mamse."
