MISCELLANEOUS.

MR. GLADSTONE ON THE NEWSPAPER PRESS.

Mr. W. E. Gladstone presided on the 20th at the annual dinner of the Newspaper Press Fund, at which about 240 gentlemen were present, including nearly 50 members of Parliament. After the loyal and patriotic toasts had been honored, Mr. Gladstone proposed the toast of the evening, "Success to the Newspaper Press Fund." He congratulated the members of the association on the progress which they had made, and also referred with approval to the changes which are being made in the law of libel. The interests of the public at large were essentially bound up with those of the press. We have lived into times when the newspaper is a great social, political, and moral power—one so great that it cannot be overlooked by any of those who would comprehend the character of their country, or the nature of those processes by which the movement of a mighty nation is directed. (Cheers.) While the newspaper has thus become a power in the land, those who are connected with the management of newspapers—those who supply daily or weekly to the public the food which they derive from them, have become a body so important to us all that we may well say that they are entitled not less than others to the name and to the dignity of a profession. (Hear, hear.) The purpose of that institution was to recognize those ties of duty, charity, and of brotherhood which bind together the members of this profession, and also give an opportunity to others beyond its strictly defined limits for manifesting their interest in its welfare, and in both points of view to encourage it. (Cheers.) Mr. Gladstone advocated the claims of the institution to support, spoke of the obligations which speakers and the public are under to the reporters for the press, and proceeded:—But, besides that debt, there is another obligation which we owe, not to the reporters, but to the writers for the newspapers, and frankly I confess that without them I do not know how we should get on. (Cheers.) I think that their encouragement and encomiums are of very great value to us; they cheer us in the hour of need and of difficulty; but I assure you that I for one, and I believe all who have similar experience will join me in saying so, set far higher value on their criticism than on their censures; for no man is ever injured by criticism or by censures. (Hear, hear.) If the criticisms and censures are unjust, they will do him no harm, except it be through his own want of manliness of character. (Hear, hear.) If, on the other hand, they are just, they are to him invaluable; they become the mirror in which he acquires the view and knowledge of what otherwise he could not discern; from them he learns the means of amending his faults, of avoiding the errors he has committed; of making his abilities, whatever they may be, more available for the benefit of his fellow countrymen, of doing—I won't say more perfectly, but at any rate less imperfectly—the arduous work which Providence has appointed him to do. (Cheers.) In other times the usages of society permitted and encouraged more plain speaking than they do now. Modern courtesy is thought to be hardly consistent unless under circumstances peculiarly favourable for the exercise of the function of fair reproof; and I am afraid that, were it not for the honest and truthful censures of the press, each of us would be apt to spend his existence in a paradise of fools—(hear, hear); to go on lugging more and more his own errors and defects, exaggerating his imperfections, avoiding the means by which excellence is obtainable, and failing in efficiency in serving his country. (Loud applause.) I do not deny that a writer in any newspaper, and especially if it be a newspaper of great influence and importance, has in many cases a difficult function to discharge. He has to discharge a function that is difficult and dangerous for himself, far more than for the public—for himself, not because he writes without the sense of that responsibility, because it would be unjust to say so, but without the ready means of quickening that sense of responsibility which are derived from publicity, and with which most of us feel it would be difficult to dispense in the discharge of our duty. Nevertheless, for us the function he discharges is invaluable, and society is indebted to those who furnish for them the instruction and appreciement provided by the newspaper, but none are so much indebted to them as those who are the objects of the free and unbiassed review, nay, even of the hostile criticism. This debt I for one am most anxious to acknowledge. I do not wish to exaggerate—I hope and believe I have not exaggerated in the terms I have used—the immense, the incalculable importance of the functions of the newspaper press with regard to the mass of society. (Hear, hear.) I grant that, as in all other states, in all other combinations of affairs, where good is predominant, evil will creep in; and here the principle of evil, probably, is this—that by presenting us with knowledge in a form so easy, like food ready dressed for dinner, the press encourages men to a lazy and inert turn of mind. So far, however, as this is true, it does not apply to the mass of the people. (Hear, hear.) For them it is a question between having it in this shape or not having it at all. (Here, here.) I grant that there is an indolent, indefinite form sure to prevail more or less in wealthy and luxurious societies, where people who have nothing else to do but think, seize every opportunity, and avail themselves of every expedient, that will relieve them from the labour of thinking. (Hear, hear.) It is quite fair, I think, just to cast this little stone as we pass by, and to recollect the extraordinary fidelity and ability with which the task of a newspaper writer is commonly performed, in reducing to a net form all the raw material of public questions with which he has to deal. It may undoubtedly be a misfortune for an indolent man to have the means, through wealth and leisure, of indulging his indolence, instead of being, like other people, an honest labourer in the world. But this is no reproach to the newspaper press, nor to those who conduct it. Nor can I refrain from saying one word more. It is not for me to pretend to a minute or accurate acquaintance with the moral tone of the newspaper press since the time when it first became a great power in this country; but the knowledge of it that I do possess impresses me with a deep conviction that the newspaper press has become more upright, more candid, more regardful to the sanctities of private life and personal character—(hear, hear)—more careful to avoid whatever could raise a blush or stain the mind of conscience, exactly in proportion as it has become more popular and more broad. Therefore in recognizing the existence of this new power amongst us, let us give it a hearty welcome. (Cheers.) Do not let it be grudgingly admitted within the circle of our institutions and of our ideas; let us hail it as a new benefit, which, in the progress of affairs and institutions, it has pleased Providence to confer upon mankind. (Cheers.) Let us take every fair opportunity of showing that we sympathize with it, that we desire to aid it in its work; and let us acknowledge that kindly feeling with which we desire to recognize institutions such as this. (Cheers.) I ask you now to testify to your share in that feeling by drinking with me a bumper to the prosperity of "The Newspaper Press Fund." (Loud and continued cheering.)

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writing from Missouri, says that the talk about exterminating the Indians is a good deal like the early blunder about crushing the rebellion. You might destroy the savages with excessive kindness. You might teach them to pot greens in their firewater; debilitate their constitutions with family flour, or teach them the fatal art of frying; but they are not to be readily battered into that political department where they will be known as "the lost race." Look at one of their warriors, at his flying pony with his new slender thongs for saddle and bridle. Look at the expert rider as he dips from side to side, with the wariest horsemanship in the world. See how he plunges over ledges where Israel Putnam would have blanched; through crazy canyons where a chamois might be happy. The plains are his forage train and commissary department. Horse and man seem the nicest compliment of each other, living and floating on the gallop, unfettered by logistics, and slave to no conditions. You cannot pursue and exterminate the best cavalry in the world with infantry; nor can you overcome the best cavalry by dragoons that are only tolerable.

The New York Commercial gives the following catalogue of the occurrences and events of one day in the city of Chicago: A man committed suicide; a German was dangerously wounded in a melee; a child died of hydrophobia; a fight occurred before a magistrate, between two women who wished to marry the same man; 34 prisoners were sentenced for various crimes by the Recorder; two couples were divorced for drunkeness and other crimes; a boy was drowned; a man was sunstruck; four inquests were held; 22 persons were arrested in houses of ill fame: extensive frauds by street railroad conductors; 3 houses were set on fire; a gambler was arrested for cheating an Indian of $500; and a man was arrested for resisting a United States Revenue Officer.

CACOGRAPHY.—A foreign writer observes: "Those who affect bad writing as an aristocratic accomplishment, like the imbecile yawhawing of the same class of puerile mimics, simply show their incurable vulgarity and utter incapacity to understand the first essential in the character of a gentleman—the habit of courteous consideration of the feelings and convenience of others. Whoever wilfully annoys his friends and wastes their time by writing to them illegible letters, must be "no end of a snob" and nothing else.

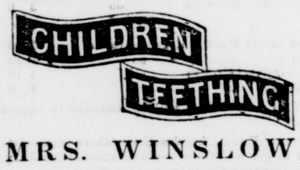
LEMUEL McKAY.

Charlottetown, Dec. 17, 1866.



MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

Soothing Syrup,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay all pain and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over thirty years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it; on the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "what we do know," after thirty years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skilful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in

THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve and overcomes convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in Children, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints —do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC,

☞ Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

THE ROAD TO HEATH AND LONG LIFE

SECURED BY

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.

Impurities of the Blood.

In selecting the most appropriate medicine for a particular ailment, there may be some difficulty unless one can be found to purify, regulate, and improve the quality of the blood. These Pills possess and exert these three qualifications in an extraordinary degree. They enable the stomach to digest any ordinary food, increase the secretory powers of the liver, cleanse and purify the blood, expel all morbid matter, and throw into the circulation the purest elements for sustaining and repairing the frame.

Weakness and Debility.

How many persons suffer from debility without knowing the causes why they are feeble! In most cases the stomach is the aggressor. Holloway's Pills have long been famed for regulating a disordered stomach, and restoring its healthy digestive tone; they are, therefore, confidently recommended as a never failing remedy in all cases where the constitution, from any cause, has become impaired or weakened.

Disease of the Head and Heart.

These formidable diseases are, unfortunately, of frequent occurrence; for the most part they creep on gradually, but may be prevented by proper precautions. Holloway's Pills are the surest preservatives against all derangements of the brain, and are the speediest correctors of irregular circulation. If they be taken without delay, when tingling in the limbs, drowsiness, or giddiness comes on, the effect will be marvellous.

Females of all Ages & Classes.

The fame of these Pills is partly based upon the beneficial effects they have upon the constitutions of females. From the domestic servant to the peeress, universal favor is accorded to them for their invigorating and purifying properties, which render them so safe and invaluable in all disorders peculiar to the sex. Obstructions of every kind, either in young persons entering into womanhood or approaching the turn of life—the most critical period—may be radically removed by a recourse to these Pills.

All Disorders affecting the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

Whenever the stomach, liver, or bowels are disordered by high living, climate, over-indulgence, undue exertion or other causes, these fine regulating Pills will soon rectify the evil, and speedily bring back energy, strength and cheerfulness to the frame where previously all was lassitude, gloom and dejection.

Despondency, Low Spirits.

The misery occasioned by a disordered digestion is, unfortunately, felt by most. These famous Pills should be taken in appropriate doses to adjust the disturbed functions. They dispel headache, biliousness, nausea, lowness of spirits, and all similar ailments. A course of these invaluable purifying Pills never fails in removing the cause of such morbid affections, without subjecting the sufferer to any inconvenience Influenza, Diptheria, Bronchitis, Coughs and Colds.

In our changeable climate few persons escape without colds, sore throats, influenza, diptheria, or bronchitis, for all of which these famous corrective Pills may be taken with the certainty of effecting a cure. While the Pills are expelling all impurities from the body generally, Holloway's Ointment should be well rubbed upon the chest and throat; it will penetrate the skin, reduce inflammation, and restore lasting soundness.

Holloway's Pills are the best Remedy known in the world for the following diseases:

Ague	Female Irregularities	Scrofula, or King's Evil
Asthma	Fevers of all kinds	Sore Throat
Bilious Complaints	Fits	Stone & Gravel
Blotches on the Skin	Gout	Secondary Symptoms
Bowel Complaints	Headaches	Tic-Douloureux
Colics	Indigestion	Tumours
Constipation of the Bowels	Inflammation	Ulcers
Consumption	Jaundice	Venereal Affections
Debility	Liver Compl'nts	Worms of all kinds
Dropsy	Lumbago	Weakness from whatever cause
Dysentery	Piles	&c. &c.
Erysipelas	Rheumatism
	Retention of Urine

Sold at the Establishment of PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY, 244, Strand (near Temple Bar), London; also by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicines throughout the civilized world, at the following prices:—1s 1½d, 2s 9d, 4s 6d, 11s, 22s, and 33s, each Box.

 There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.

NEW TRIUMPHS OF ROGERS' MEDICINES.

Run your eye over them and tell your affected neighbour about it.

Messrs. Rogers & Co.:

This is to certify that about five years ago I had a lump on the back of my neck, which all the doctors to whom I showed it pronounced it a Tumour, and said it could only be cured by cutting it out. I did not like the operation much; and by accident heard of Messrs. Rogers' medicine for the cure of cancers, &c, and concluded to try it; and to my surprise the tumour disappeared in a very short time, and I have not since been troubled with it.

JOHN W. McPHERSON.

Pugwash, 28th May, 1863.

Mr. Colin McCallop, Loading Ground, Pictou, is cured of a bad ulcer on his side, of many years standing. The doctors pronounced it incurable.

HANTSPORT, Jan. 25, 1864.

Messrs. Rogers &Co.:

It is with pleasure that I can justly say that your medicines are truly great, after proving them faithfully in two cases,—one of Erysipelas, which is now cured, the other that of the late Capt. F. McKenzie, of this place, who was widely known to have the worst of diseases, viz, Scrofula, and who consulted many of the best physicians in Europe and America, who pronounced his case incurable eighteen months ago. I attended him, and applied your medicines during the last few months of his life, and am fully persuaded that had you been sent for six months sooner his life would have been saved, and the disease cured. His constitution was gone, but your medicine worked marvellously for good. The captain himself had the fullest confidence in it to the last, and said to me frequently that if he had known you sooner, his life would have been saved.

I do, with every confidence, recommend your medicines to the suffering everywhere, and wish you God's blessing in your work of humanity.

Yours, very respectfully,
T. H. HARDING.

Miss Mary McDonald, East River, Pictou, was afflicted with a tumour on her face the size of a hen's egg, of six years' growth. Is now entirely removed.

(Extract of a letter.)

HANTSPORT, 14th January, 1864.

Messrs. Rogers & Co.:

I watched with interest the effects of your medicine upon the late Capt. F. McKenzie, of this place, and the facts of its straigthening the nose, and nearly healing up the face, as well as reducing the swelling, proves to me the virtue of the medicine. I would earnestly recommend all afflicted with Scrofula or Skin diseases, as well as Cancer, to employ your skill. I have every faith in your applications, and wish you success, and pray the Lord may bless and prosper you in your work of love to mankind.

I am, respectfully yours,
N. T. HARRIS.
