

The Yearbook Mystery...

Where have all our yearbooks gone?

In recent years, there have been problems with Nexus, UPEI's yearbook—specifically, the fact that some of the yearbooks are late. In fact, there has not been a yearbook printed on time for several years.

Bev Doucette, the current editor, explained that the previous editor (Sherryl O'Hanley) had recently resigned after finishing the 1992-1993 yearbook. The problems actually began with O'Hanley's predecessor, Dawn Ambler, who had taken on too much and was unable to finish the yearbooks produced during her employment. These yearbooks were sent to the printers in a partially completed state before Ambler's departure, and have begun to arrive as the printers finish them and then print them. Doucette stresses that the late yearbooks will be arriving, and says notices will be issued when they come. Until then, she hopes students will be patient. This year's book has had a slow start. The current staff are all new, which caused some delays in starting work. The staff is now trying to get photos from the fall sports before it is too late. The editor is also planning to get in contact with clubs on campus regarding their inclusion in this year's book.

Ms. Doucette emphasizes that there are staff positions open for applicants, including the photographer position. She also needs volunteers to take photos, write stories and to work on layouts. Anyone interested is asked to get in touch with the Yearbook office. As of yet there are no regular staff meetings, but Ms. Doucette hopes to have them by the end of this month.

Times and dates will be set in coming weeks.

The yearbook office now has the yearbooks up to the 1990-91 year in stock. The 1991-92 books are at the printers and are expected to arrive by Christmas. Last year's books (1992-93) are expected to be finished by January.

To pick up the books that are finished, Doucette suggests just coming in to the office and picking it up. You can also have your name put on a list for the yearbooks that have not arrived yet. The yearbook office is also compiling a mailing list for students who are no longer in this area. If you have friends who would like a copy, you can pick them up for them or add their name to the list.

Anyone with questions or problems can get in touch with the yearbook office by calling 566-0708, or by stopping by the office in Room 09 in the basement of the Main Building. Ms. Doucette says she is open to suggestions, complaints and (she smiles) compliments.
