Tourists Find Lambkins To Be Very Photogenic

"In the cool of the evening" we walked along a street. "I like to read, the different number plates. See there, one from Oregon. And Florida, a 2 and Massachusetts, and Quebec. And I saw several from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. It's a lesson in geography, isn't it?" he smiled.

"Yes," we agreed. "Just to see the cars is to be curious about the state or the province they are from and how that we have had a gift of a hand-carved Kiwi from New Zealand. It makes us want to learn more about that far-away land, doesn't it?"

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE McDONALD Bridal Ceremony In S'ide Solemnized At St. Mary's

St. Mary's Anglican Church, Summerside was the scene of a recent wedding when Louise Marie Ryan daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Ryan became the bride of Clarence John McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McDonald, Stratclair, Manitoba.

Rev. Robert C. Tuck performed the ceremony. Mrs. M. J. Buley played the wedding music, and Mrs. Graham Linklater was the soloist. The bride gave, in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white satin with long trimmed white and long sleeves and a full length lace-trimmed train falling from the waist. A bouffant shoulder-length veil was held in place by white fabric roses and blue-rose valley, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

The maid of honor was Donna Smith, Summerside. Darlene Buan, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and Doreen Buan another sister was flower girl. The groom was attended by Sheldon MacLean. The usher was Wayne Buan, brother of the bride. A reception was held at St. Mary's Church Hall where the host to the bride was proposed by Rev. Robert C. Tuck. Telegrams of congratulations were read by the best man, Sheldon MacLean. For her honeymoon to the United States, the bride wore a tangerine two piece suit trimmed with white lace and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Nurses Will Press Rights To Better Work Conditions

By LINDA CRAWFORD - MONTREAL (CP) - There is an urgent need to improve the economic welfare of the nurse, Isabel MacLeod, president of the Canadian Nurses' Association, said at the opening of the association's biennial meeting Monday.

"Nurses feel that they have a right to better salaries, better hours, better conditions of work," she said. "But as a profession, we have been inhibited by a guilty feeling that pressing for our rights somehow conflicts with the professional ethics of 'putting the patient first'."

Some 1,500 nurses from across Canada and special international guests are attending the convention, which continues until Friday. The Canadian association claims 20,000 members.

Mrs. MacLeod said: "The use of modern bargaining methods is consistent with a healthy respect and the dignity of the nursing profession."

ENGAGED EXPERT - Mrs. MacLeod said the national organization recently hired an industrial relations expert and that several of the provincial associations have also done so as collective bargaining had to proceed on the provincial level.

The president also mentioned the necessity of offering both university degrees in nursing and diploma courses that are not prolonged by service in hospitals in lieu of fees and government grants.

In a later interview she said a statement defining the function and purpose of the nurse is being prepared by the executive committee for release within a few months.

A plan for the streamlining of the organization was to be presented later Monday.

It calls for smaller executive committees to meet frequently with employed experts to formulate and authorize faster policy decisions and will be voted on later in the week.

Toronto Couple Add Five Sons To Own Family

TORONTO (CP) - John and Mary DeBruyn, who have two teen-age sons of their own, decided two years ago to take in more. They added five.

The DeBruyns are one of 21 couples in the Toronto area who are providing group homes for foster children, under the auspices of the Catholic and Metro Children's Aid Societies, which are experimenting with group home ideas.

"We thought we would like to take one boy," said Mrs. DeBruyn, who came to Canada with her husband and two sons from Holland 12 years ago. "Then we saw this ad in the paper and decided it would be nice to take more."

So Glen, now 16, Ken, 15, Desi, 14, Barry, 13, and Ernie, 13, joined the DeBruyns, which are experimenting with group home ideas.

"It's been more of a problem for the boys than for us," said Mrs. DeBruyn. "It's hard for them at first. But it's just fine now."

Memorial Hall Reception Following Zion Ceremony

Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, was the scene of a pretty wedding on June 15th when Roberta Winifred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shaw, Lorne Valley, became the bride of Maurice Ronald Pocklington of mixed bloods, Hamilton, Ontario.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father during the processional hymn, "Praise Ye, Soul the King of Heaven". The service of worship was conducted by Dr. D. A. Campbell and the Rev. Basil C. Lowery of the Zion Church.

Music was provided by the organist, Mrs. Harvey MacKinnon, who also directed the Junior and Intermediate choir in the singing of "Ponder Thy Words, O Lord", "The Lord's Prayer" and "Brother James' Air". The recessional was "Trumpet Tune in D" by Purcell.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white lucerne crepe with empire waistline and a line skirt, lilypoint sleeves and full length train. Her finger tip veil of nylon illusion was held in place by a wedding ring headpiece matching her dress. She carried a cascade of deep pink roses.

Lola Shaw, sister of the bride was maid of honor. She wore an ankle length dress of yellow European cotton with a headpiece of matching bow and veil. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white carnations. Christine Shaw, also a sister of the bride was bridesmaid and D. L. A. Myers, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses identical to that of the maid of honor, Hazel Webster, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a yellow dress similar to those of the other bridesmaids and carried a basket of red and white flowers.

Rev. Donald Bell was groomsmen. Mr. Alan Clarke and Rev. Keith Whiney served as ushers. Master Gordon Little, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer. The mother of the bride wore a dress of pale blue silk crepe. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a dress of olive green with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following the service, a reception was held in the Coles Memorial Hall in Zion Church. Candies and Eileen Shaw circulated the guest book.

For travelling the bride wore a home linen dress with matching three-quarter length coat, a pink hat and bone-colored accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

After their honeymoon, the Pocklingtons will reside in Elmisdale, Prince Edward Island where the groom is the United Church minister.

Pictou Presbyterial UCW Entertain Island Members

On June 28 approximately 100 P. E. I. United Church Women were guests of Pictou Presbyterial UCW at Pictou United Church. After the noon luncheon, Mrs. Raymond MacKay conducted a hymn sing, followed by a service of worship, led by Mrs. Wm. Morrison of Pictou.

Rev. R. A. MacLeod welcomed the guests to the Church, and Bertha Robertson extended a welcome on behalf of the UCW.

Elma Inman, a native of P.E.I., a former missionary in Trinidad and now serving at Atlantic Christian Training Centre in Tatemazouche, was introduced as guest speaker by Maud MacKinnon.

In her address Miss Inman called upon all UCW's to extend the hand of love by contributing to help the needy of the world. In Trinidad, 80% of every 28-mile and boys eligible for college only five can be accommodated. The government of Trinidad continues to build more schools, but still the need is great.

Miss Inman also mentioned the great need of food in India, and stressed the urgency of famine relief. In closing Miss Inman said, "Let us not be afraid to stretch out our hand of love to bridge the gap of brotherhood."

Mrs. D. H. Gass introduced the guests of the Presbyterial, among whom were representatives from the Catholic Women's League, First Presbyterian Church, The Anglican Church, and the Kirk.

An interesting panel "P. E. I. Presbyterial at Work" was moderated by Mrs. J. R. Davies. Other panel members were Mrs. F. Anderson, Mrs. M. Johnston, Mrs. H. Jones and Mrs. C. Howatt. The panel presented the work of the UCW on P. E. I. since inauguration to the present day.

Reflections from the Maritime Conference UCW Annual Meeting were presented by members of the Pictou Presbyterial. The closing worship was conducted by Mrs. Henry Tye of Park Royal Church, Charlottetown. Rev. David Hamilton, former minister at O'Leary, P. E. I., and now of Trenton, pronounced the benediction. Afternoon tea and a social hour was enjoyed, new friends were made, ideas were exchanged and a feeling of good will was experienced as United Church Women together carried out the theme, "Christian Love".

Barter System Is Revived By 'Swap Shop'

Ideas are good. If they work, and when they are based on well-known traits of human nature, they are likely to be profitable ones. That is why the "swap" shop which two American women started has proved so successful. These partners know how the members of their sex love bargains, antiques and something which is "different". And that is what they give them.

They reintroduced the age-old barter system with 18 items to be "swapped". Customers bring in goods which they turn in for "wampum" - a specially designed paper scrip in various denominations.

When an exchange is made the purchaser pays at the rate of 12 cents per wampum unit. That represents the shop's profit on the transaction. General barter-a-brae find their way, as do very often rare china, jewellery and similar items. Goods sought by customers and not then available are listed on a board for the benefit of those who have these things and might like a chance to dispose of them.

One of the partners explained: "They trade off their old clothes, Aunt Nellie's china dog, dishes, jewellery, and have a wonderful time doing it. Some customers come every day to be sure they don't miss a bargain."

And she added: "Men, however, seem to be completely baffled by the whole procedure. Somehow they just don't understand."

That is to be expected, too. For the shop is founded on a feminine trait - and so caters successfully to women customers. But men, lacking this "leaning" or instinct, would generally fail to understand or to patronize such a concern.
