He will take no Risks.

Shrewdness of a wellknown City Merchant.

HE KNEW WHAT WAS GOOD FOR HIM.

In winter when Canadians spend a large portion of their time indoors and cannot have the same variety of fresh food as in summer and fall, indigestion and dyspepsia afflict a majority. "If anybody will tell me that dyspepsia in its advanced stages is perfectly curable," said a Toronto merchant, "I will take his word. Personally I run no risks. As soon as I feel a sense of weight in the stomach, after a meal, I know that my blood is sluggish in circulation. In my business I cannot take much exercise, and I fight the first sign of stomach troubles with Scott's Sarsaparilla. It has never failed me, and has saved me many a doctor's bill."

Scott's Sarsaparilla possesses medicinal properties superior to all other so-called sarsaparillas made. As a remedy for indigestion, rheumatism, pimples, scrofula and all blood diseases, physicians state that its equal was never known. Sold at $1 per bottle, of all dealers.

FIRST THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

The First Book, Paper, Clock, Bread, Sunday School, Negro Song, Etc.

According to Dr. Wild of Toronto, Adam was not the first man. He says that Cain, the first son of Adam, went into a far country and took unto himself a wife, and he wants to know what people lived there and how long they existed before Adam was born.

The first Bible printed in America was Elliot's Indian version, in 1658.

The first printing press in America was at the house of the president of Harvard College in 1639.

The first poems published in America were by Anna Bradstreet, in 1678.

The first book printed in the English language was a "History of Troy," printed in Europe in 1474.

The first daily paper, the Daily Courant, appeared in 1709, in England.

The first daily paper in America was printed at Williamsburg, Va., in 1780.

The first Sunday-schools were established by St. Charles Borromeo, who has the largest statute ever made erected to his memory.

The first man who ever sang a negro song on the stage was an actor named Herbert. He sat in a chair before the curtain. He painted his face with black paint, burnt cork being then unknown.

The first band of minstrels ever formed consisted of four persons, Dan Emmett, William Pell, Frank Brower and William Whitlock. They performed in New York in 1842.

Africans were first brought to America in 1619 by a Dutch vessel and landed at Jamestown, Va.

Omnibuses were first introduced into New York in 1830.

The first playhouse in America was erected at Williamsburg, Va., previous to 1722.

The first steamship to cross the Atlantic was the Sirius, about 700 tons, which arrived in New York from England April 23, 1838.

Levi North was the first man who ever threw a somersault on horseback.

The first Union flag was unfurled on January 1, 1776, over the camp at Cambridge. It had thirteen stripes of white and blue, with the English cross in the corner.

The first American voyage around the globe was completed in 1769 by Captain Robert Grey, in the ship Columbia.

The first use of the word Democrat in American politics was May 30, 1793, when the Democratic Society was formed.

The first railroad was built in the United States in 1827, at Quincy, Mass., on which horses were used.

The first man in New England who let out hackney horses was Tobias Hobson. He lived in Cambridge, Mass., and he always pretended to have but one horse and one carriage, hence originated the familiar expression "Hobson's choice."

The first water-works constructed in the United States were at Bethlehem, Pa., in the year 1762.

The first advertisements known of in England were in the shape of small bills affixed to the doors of St. Paul's Church.

The first bread was made by the Greeks, and the first windmill by the Saracens.

Turnpikes originated in 1267, the sum of one penny having to be paid for each wagon passing through a certain manor.

The first striking clock was imported into Europe by the Persians, about the year A. D. 800. It was brought as a present to Charlemange from Abdella, King of Persia by two monks of Jerusalem.

The first balloon was made by a Jesuit, about 1620. The idea was revived in France by M. Montgolfier, in 1783, and introduced in England the following year.

The first record we have of coal is about three hundred years before the Christian era. Coal was used as fuel in England as early as 852, and in 1234 the first charter to dig for it was granted by Henry III. to the inhabitants of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The first glass window in England was one put up in an abbey about 1080. Glass windows, however, did not become general for many years.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Potatoes an Unhealthy Food.

John Gilmer Speed, Dr. Cyrus Edson (ex- president of the New York Board of Health) and Mrs. S. T. Rorer learnedly discuss "The Potato as a Daily Diet," in November Ladies' Home Journal, and pretty conclusively prove that the humble but popular tuber is not a healthful article of food. Mr. Speed asserts that the potato as a food is not nearly so valuable as we have very generally esteemd it to be. It is quite deficient in nitrogen, and as a sole diet is therefore unsuitable. It is hard to digest and therefore should be partaken of very sparingly by all save those who live active lives out-of-door. .. .. .. The potato provokes our great national ailment, dyspepsia, and the sooner the consumption of the mealy tubers begins the sooner will the dread fangs of the dyspepsia appear.

Dr. Edson in a rejoinder to Mr. Speed writes: I must quite agree with Mr. Speed in his condemnation of the potato. I am sorry to have to say anything against the humble tuber, but the truth, especially when it is scientific, and more especially medico-scientific, must be told. It is certain no one can at all times eat the potato with the assurance that it will do him no harm. .. .. .. The practice of feeding potatoes to infants and young children cannot be too severely condemned. A potato diet may not kill them outright at once, but it is certain to injure their digestive organs permanently and effectually, so as to make their lives a burden to themselves and those who are brought in contact with them. Dr Edson also contends that the potato is very deficient in nutritive qualities, and has less value as an article of food than most other vegetables and cereals.

Mrs. Rorer writes: I am not a potato prohibitionist, but I firmly believe that potatoes should be served only with strongly-concentrated notrogenous food, such as roasted beef, or, for the vegetarian, with beans, peas or lentils.

GROWN-UP SCHOLARS.

An English Instructor Whose Pupils Are Anxious to Learn.

An English professor, who sat up in London some time ago with a view of giving instruction to people who were beyond school age, has made a great success of it. Referring to his scholars, he says: "Frankly, nearly all my pupils are women, and in a large number of cases women who have found themselves getting independent and ambitious, and have become desirous of shining in intelligence. I can give you, as an instance, many young women connected with the stage. These, having begun in the very humblest capacities on the boards have revealed genuine talent, and have then encountered the great stumbling-block of want of education. I could name to you several girls earning very large salaries who, when they came to me, could only just scrawl their names in a mechanical way. But the strangest about most of my women pupils is that, although when they come to me then can neither read nor write, they can generally speak what is called the 'Queen's English' very passably indeed, for they have learned it like parrots, this especially applying to stage folks.

"And now, as to the more romantic part of my profession, I have an astonishing number of young married pupils, who, having comfortable homes, and even splendid ones in some instances, have set themselves to be worthy of their surroundings. Most of these girls have worked in the very humblest capacities, but have been lucky enough to marry almost brilliantly. One most promising pupil I have, and a very beautiful woman to boot, was a folder at some printing works, and has married an Irish viscount, who seems to idolize her. Another pupil of mine is the wife of a colonian government official and a baronet. She was, not long ago, a housemaid at a watering-place lodging-house. The wife of an eminent lawyer was, two years ago, working in a laundry. She is not a girl, but a mature woman, and is certainly the cleverest pupil I ever had.

"I have an ex-Australian storekeeper and publican, of nearly 60, as a pupil, and never did one work harder. He is now so far educated that he has become an honored county magistrate. I have a pupil of over 50 now, an American, who, having made a fortune, came over here for the double purpose of being educated and of seeing the country. Most of these mature pupils are infinitely more diligent and tractable than are any young ones I ever had."

BABY'S BURNING SKIN.

Skin Peeling Off, Skin Literally Afire, Cooled and Soothed by Chase's.

The great feature of Chase's Ointment—Almost instantly it touches itching, burning, eczematic skin, relieving the pain—Is a boon to mothers whose children are sufferers — There is nothing uncertain about it or this way of speaking about it:

"My six-year-old daughter, Bella, was afflicted with eczema for 24 months, the principal seat of eruption being behind the ears. I tried almost every remedy I saw advertised, bought innumerable medicines and soaps and took the child to medical specialists in skin diseases, but without result. Finally, a week ago, I purchased a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and the first application showed the curative effects of the remedy. We have used only one-sixth of the box, but the change is very marked, the eruption has all disappeared and I can confidently say my child is cured. (Signed)

MAXWELL JOHNSTON,

112 Ann Street, Toronto.

A face that was a scab from forehead to chin cured in 10 days.

On behalf of the Fred Victor Mission Bible Class I wish to express our gratitude to you for the box of Chase's Ointment which you supplied in aid of our charitable work to the infant child of Mrs. Brownrig, 162 River street. Ten days ago the child was awfully afflicted with scald head, the face being literally one scab from forehead to chin, and in that brief time a complete cure has been affected. Surely your gift was worth more than its weight in gold.
