

A Beautiful Wedding Is Held In Northern Ireland

All Saints' Church, Belfast, Northern Ireland, was the setting for a pretty wedding, when Blanche Anne Dystant, daughter of Mrs. H. B. Dystant, Summerside, Prince Edward Island, became the bride of William Frank Jamfrej, son of Mrs. J. J. Jamfrej of Bangor, County Down, Northern Ireland. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Adams at 11:30 a.m. on Nov. 1.

The church was attractively decorated for the occasion with standards of white mums. The church organist Mr. Horton, was in charge of the wedding music and accompanied those assembled as they sang "The 23rd Psalm" previous to the ceremony. The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Peter Patterson, brother-in-law of the groom, was lovely in her traditional empire gown of white faille with train, rounded neckline, fastened in back with small covered buttons and long, pointed sleeves. The hand embroidered finger tip veil of French illusion was held in place with a crown of seed pearls and mother of pearl sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep red roses.

Mrs. Edward Mayne, as matron of honor, was gowned in turquoise satin and net with head-dress and gloves to match, and carried a nosegay of pink roses. Mr. James Jamfrej was his brother's groomsmen and Mr. Edward Mayne was usher.

Mrs. Dystant chose for her daughter's wedding a beige woolen, satin trimmed, sheath dress with coral hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The groom's mother was attired in a two-piece dress of powder blue with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

A reception dinner for thirty guests was held at the Wellington Park Hotel, where the bride's table, with its attractive arrangement of white chrysanthemums and lighted tapers, was centered with a three tier wedding cake.

Young Alex Enjoys The Sleigh Ride By Dog Team

So interesting and pretty are the winter trails which wind now along the white of the farmlands, blazed there it may be by tractor, or by the horse and sleigh of the farmer off to his harvest in the woodlot. If many of the country-stoves and furnaces are fuelled otherwise, it is evident to us at Alderlea these days, that there remains those still powered wholly or in part by wood.

"See that!" the dogs bark, with interest.

And from a window where you see or mend, or are about the sares of our housework, we look out to a most satisfying sight. Following a trail along the fields is a scene quite as engaging as those which artists portray on cards; amid the snow of the winter landscape with its sentinel evergreens and groves, on a horse-drawn sleigh woodsmen to their woodlots or maybe the team is homeward bound, of sticks.

Neither, we are aware, with the enthusiasm nor art of lads of the elder days, whose first words had to do with horsemanship, whose first steed was a kitchen chair, reined in twine, or broomstick, to while happily away the young hours, Jamie elder or grandson of these farms, hitched a horse to a sleigh in the barnyard of this place this afternoon. Then with the younger farmer (his uncle) went in a lessened crew than usual, to yard to the adjacent field, sticks from the heaps assembled during wood's work in our grove.

We saw James assist at the hitching, arranging the horse's forelock neatly, fiddling the mane by the collar, and then stand a moment watching with a bit of a smile, Jamie deliver the reins with obvious relief to his elder, before team and workers moved away.

For a youth of a farm to be a handy mechanic but an indifferent horseman, is to James one of the items of this age which is quite "past understanding!"

Granddaughter came in chuckling this evening after she and Alex, our small one, had enjoyed a sleigh ride behind the pup.

"I've been teaching Alex how to guide the dog-you know, as though it were a horse we had in the traces. And you should hear him call "Gee!" and "haw!" she laughed. "He may be fond of horses" she nodded.

Winter in a perfect January day this was—and with it appeared a hint of the Spring.

"No lambs yet?" we overheard James ask his namesake.

"No 'none yet."

"I'd say, you should keep that black ewe indoors overnight!" James advised. "You know it doesn't take much cold to chill a lamb. Yes it will pay to keep an eye to the flock now."

Yes—Spring tokens. But over the winter-held landscape now, over hillside and valley is the serenity and charm of moonlight.

Until Tomorrow—Diary—Good night.

HAMPSHIRE W. I.

The ladies of Brookfield, Kingston and Hampshire enjoyed the services from January 5th. to 16th of Women's Institute Handicraft course which was conducted in Hampshire Hall. Fourteen ladies took part making a wide variety of articles which included leather work such as, Glove making, handbags, billfolds and key cases.

Dress making with amocking, satin cushions in numerous designs and embroidery work on pillow cases, Bureau scarfs, luncheon cloths and cushion covers.

Achievement day on the 16th was very enjoyable with the two instructresses, Misses Bertha DesRoche and Doris LeClair also the Supervisor Miss Teresa MacLeod in attendance.

Mrs. Errol Stewart was chairman and after a short address of welcome to Miss MacLeod on behalf of the group called on each lady in turn to present their achievements to the supervisor and guests, after which Miss MacLeod gave a talk on the importance of such work and had words of praise and encouragement for all.

She also suggested that the ladies continue with a Handicraft group and learn from each other. She congratulated the Hampshire W. I. on organizing a 4-H Garment Club and stressed the importance of such a project and the hope that each and all would lend their support.

In closing she expressed the pleasure it gave her to be able to meet and speak with us and to see our work. And not to hesitate to call on her for help in W. I. work at any time.

The chairman thanked Miss MacLeod for her kind words after which on behalf of the group expressed thanks to the Misses DesRoche and LeClair for their pleasant and capable instruction and the hope that they would be back again soon.

Mrs. Calvin Holmes then presented them with suitable gifts with well chosen words. Both young ladies thanked the group for their kind expression of appreciation.

HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Daniel O'Rourke entertained at a party at her beautiful home, North River Road last night. Bridge was in play and Mrs. L.S. Newhall had the highest score for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clements, East Royalty, have left for an extended visit to the United States. While there they will visit their son in Washington, D.C., and other relatives in Philadelphia and Boston. They expect to return to the island in the spring.

Miss Marion MacMillan has returned to her home after being a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph MacDonald, City, returned to their home after spending some time with relatives and friends in Lauderdale, Florida.

Island Couple Observe 50th. Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Angus Stewart received guests on Monday afternoon the occasion being their 50th. wedding anniversary. A wedding cake was made by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Leigh Stewart, Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were here for the weekend but returned early on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were the guests of their granddaughter, Mrs. Harold MacRae and Mr. MacRae, West Royalty, on Saturday for dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Leo Frank Honored At Queen Hotel

It's hard to know just what to say when special people go away. Because you hate to see them go and the heart is fond of them, you know.

So this just says "Goodbye" and then "Good luck until we meet again!"

With these words her friends at the Queen Hotel, Charlottetown, greeted Ruhamah (Mrs. Leo) Frank on Thursday evening last. The occasion was a farewell party in honor of Mrs. Frank held in Mrs. Paul O'Rourke's apartment at the Queen Hotel.

The hostesses were Mrs. Daniel O'Rourke and Mrs. Paul O'Rourke. The guests were residents and staff of the Queen Hotel, where Dr. and Mrs. Frank have spent many happy winters. Since selling their beautiful home at Rosebank, they have been living permanently at the old family hotel, the Queen.

During the evening there was much happy reminiscing. Dr. Frank's name has been a household word for generations now in this province—this place which he loves with his heart and soul. Dr. Leo Frank it was recalled was one of the "big names" in the fabulous but far too short-lived fox business.

Mrs. Frank came to the province as the wife of Dr. Frank who is the home of a learned Jewish rabbi, her father.

Now Dr. and Mrs. Frank are to make their home in the great city of New York. There Dr. Frank has a sister and Mrs. Frank has many relatives among whom is her beloved brother, the renowned Dr. Amram Scheinfeld.

Mrs. Frank, a university woman of standing in New York City, was active in different organizations here, one of the earliest being her membership in the Women's Institutes.

Mrs. Frank was a fortunate example of the liaison of an urbanized woman with a rural organization. At that time combination was more rare in Canada, although Great Britain had been in advance of us in this. Mrs. Frank Gates, a great personal friend of Mrs. Frank's was another early shining example of good urban-rural relationships.

Mrs. Frank is known to literally thousands of readers through her column "We and Our Neighbors". This column was marked by an originality of subject matter combined with a liberal and progressive point of view.

Mrs. Frank was presented with a china cake plate in the Island Lady's Slipper design. Mrs. Frank was delighted with her remembrance remarking that even in the great cosmopolitan city of New York, the choice of this Island gift would be a modern "Conversation Piece".

Dr. Frank was remembered with a personal gift.

The farewell party ended with the hope that Dr. and Mrs. Frank would return to spend their summers with us on the Island.

ANGLO RUSTICO W. I.

Anglo Rustico W. I. held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. S. D. Parkman on Tuesday evening, January 8th. with an attendance of six members. The vice-President was in the chair and the meeting opened with the Ode and Collect. Roll call was followed by reading and approval of the minutes of the previous meeting.

Correspondence consisted of a thank you card from Mrs. Edison Rollings and letters from Miss MacLeod, Institute Supervisor and Mrs. J. L. Dewar, convenor of health and welfare.

Receipts were received from Mrs. Williams for spray, M. S. Burge for $3.00 to help send a delegate to A. C. W. W. conference in Scotland next summer and from Carter's for articles for the school. Roads and weather permitting the members plan on holding several card parties during the winter.

Reports of committees were given and new ones appointed as follows, Sick, Mrs. Noel Hooper and Mrs. Read Stevenson; Lunch, Mrs. Hooper and Mrs. Dannie Anderson; programme, Mrs. Hooper and Mrs. Parkman; School, Mrs. Dannie Anderson.

The secretary was asked to write to Eatons and Simpson-Sears for remnants.

Mrs. Exton Bulman invited the next meeting to her home when roll call will be answered with a hot supper dish recipe. The meeting closed with The Queen and luncheon was served by Mrs. Exton Bulman and the hostess. A social hour was enjoyed by all.

MARY HAWORTH

Boy Is Unfair To Girl— Sneaks Out On Other Dates

Dear Mary Haworth: I am a girl 19, and I go with a boy a few months younger. We have been going together for seven months. I am very much in love with him, and he has told me that he loves me; and has asked to marry me.

However, for the last few weeks I have been having doubts as to whether he is really serious, or just leading me on. For example, he used to telephone every night; but now he seldom calls. Also, he doesn't come to see me as often as he used to. And I have heard by the grapevine that he is a big flirt with all the girls.

A few nights ago, mother and I went to a basketball game and when Jack (I'll call him) saw us there, he came and sat with us during the game. After the game, he escorted us to our car and said he was going home. Mother and I stopped for something to eat; and while eating, I saw Jack drive by with a girl.

DOUBLE STANDARD

Later I learned that he had brought that girl to the game; but when he saw us, he sat with us, and afterward took her home. I learned too that he has been seeing her quite often. When I asked him about it, he said in effect that he likes her, yes; but I am a nice girl and she isn't—and he can't fool around with me as he can with her. But he didn't say he would stop seeing her; though he did say he would get mad if I dated anyone else.

I love him very much, and don't want to break up. And if we did break up I'd have a hard time finding dates, as I live in a small community with very few young people. I would appreciate your early advice, as this problem is making home life miserable for me, and also my parents.—K.D.

INFAMOUS DISLOYALTY

Dear K.D.: Evidently the other girl regards you as Jack's real girl; and she probably congratulates herself that she is "beating your time," when she manages to attract his society for an evening. Otherwise, she wouldn't put up with the brand of mistreatment he dealt her the other night—in deserting her to sit with you, after he espied you at the game.

But of course this doesn't excuse the infamous quality of his disloyalty to both of you—a rotter performance which hits bottom, (from a gentleman's view of honor) in his open vilification of the other girl's character, as "the reason why" he spends time with her.

The fact that you might have a hard time finding dates, if you broke with Jack, shouldn't enter into your calculation of what to do about him.

FATE FORMED

The fabric of a life, and the formation of character (after we reach the age of reason), is a matter of making choices, from hour to hour, and day to day.

And the person who bases his choices on higher considerations, that will keep him in paths of decency, righteousness, self-respect and noble purpose—who doesn't stoop to expediency, for

NEW GLASGOW W. M. S.

The January meeting of the New Glasgow W. M. S. met at the Dingwell home on Friday afternoon Jan. 2nd., at 2 o'clock.

The worship service was conducted by Miss Anna Stevenson and opened by singing "Standing on the Portal of the open ing year." The scripture reading taken from Isaiah was read responsively.

Comments on the scripture were read by the leader. This part of the meeting closed with a prayer by Mrs. Gordon Laird.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read approved and signed. Roll call was answered by 10 members. Mrs. Huntley Dingwell was welcomed as a new member to the Auxiliary. A letter was read re the Presbyterian Meeting to be held in Summerside on Jan. 24th. The president to attend.

The February meeting will be held at the Dingwell home on February 5th. at 2 o'clock when appointments will be Leader Mrs. Blair Andrew; Heralds, Mrs. J. S. Edwards; Mrs. Blair Andrew; Missionary prayer, Mrs. Blair Andrew.

Miss Anna Stevenson then read "time is short," followed by Missionary prayer by Mrs. R. W. Stevenson. Meeting closed by singing "Oh God Our Help in Ages Past."

SOUTH WINSLOE W.M.S.

Mrs. Glydon Maund was hostess to South Winsloe W. M. S. on Thursday evening, January 8th. The devotional leader, Mrs. Earle Rodd, gave a most inspiring message choosing for her theme "The Fruit Of The Spirit," which vividly portrayed how we as Missionary workers can set Christian examples to others in our daily walk of life. Prayer was offered for our adopted Missionary, Miss Joy Vickory, by Mrs. Harold Diamond.

The new President, Mrs. Ted Sabine, capably presided during the business period. Many items of business were discussed and the President is to contact Dr. Betts in regard to Bible Study and also plans for a combined World Day Of Prayer service. Committees for next meeting are as follows: Devotions - Mrs. Hammond Rodd, Study - Mrs. Earle Rodd, Adopted Missionary Prayer - Mrs. Glydon Maund.

Mrs. Erith Hughes, presented the Study book "Concerns Of A Continent," which showed an upward trend to-day of church work being carried on in various ways in the United States. This was followed by the circle of Prayer and benediction which brought a most enjoyable meeting of fellowship and study to a close. Delectable refreshments were then served by the hostess.

MILLO W. I.

The January meeting of the Millo Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Scott Milligan. Nine members were present.

The vice-president presided at the meeting. Roll call was answered with some very interesting New Year's Resolutions.

The sick committee reported delivering a treat to a person over eighty in a district. It was decided to make a quilt for a needy family outside the community at the home of Mrs. Wallace MacNeven. A thank you card was read from a member who received a treat.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Oliver Gorill, with Mrs. Norman Campbell and Mrs. Alvin MacLean, appointed on the programme committee.

The meeting adjourned. Lunch was served by Mrs. Wallace MacNeven and Mrs. Lyman Gorill.

W.M.S. GEORGETOWN

St. Donid's W.M.S. held their January meeting at the home of Mrs. Spurgeon Walker.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Miss Josie L. Leveilyn who lead the worship on the theme "Showing Magnanimity."

Scripture readings were given by Mrs. H. Larsen, Mrs. Spurgeon and Mrs. Henry Parker, and prayer by Mrs. Cecil LeLacheur.

A study on know your neighbor and the hospitals of the United Church in Canada followed.

Roll call was responded to with a verse of scripture and the World Day Of Prayer service was discussed.

The meeting closed with prayer by the president, and a delicious lunch was then served by the hostess, Mrs. S. Walker.

Next meeting to be at the home of Mrs. C.H. Llewellyn.

MILLVIEW W. I.

Millview Institute activities for the year 1959 began on January 7th., at the home of Mrs. Leo Hynes, with a completely new program arrangement and several worthwhile New Year's resolutions for working together during the coming year.

After repeating the Creed, the roll call was answered by each member giving an article for a Penny auction, which provided much amusement as well as contributing to the funds.

An interesting talk on health given by Mrs. Edison Deake, should be very helpful when planning our daily meals. The school committee reported several articles purchased and sent to the school. The sick committee also had made their calls and brought fruit to the sick in the district.

Many letters and cards of thanks were read from those who received treats at Christmas. A. Plans were made to hold a card party and dance in the hall on Wednesday of next week; if the hall is available.

A character contest, put on by the hostess was won by Mrs. Milton Smith, Consolation, Mrs. Walter Crane.

Mrs. Milton Smith invited the members to her home for the February meeting Refreshments were served by the hostess and the meeting adjourned.

Food Authority Plans Menus For Millions

Some years ago when the Chef and I stopped in Cleveland on a personal appearance tour, we saw in the audience an especially interested, enthusiastic, starchy-eyed woman. She was the first to greet us afterward.

FOOD AUTHORITY

Mrs. Margaret Mitchell was an important lady even then, a top-ranking food authority heading up the research-food-work, food production and control for a large corporation with a chain of excellent eating places.

Now her work has tripled. Last year she planned menus served to more than 20,000,000 guests!

If I were to sum up my two deepest impressions of Margaret Mitchell, I would say, first, "friendliness", second, the ability to focus patiently on a problem until it is solved. No detail of food-preparation, garnishing or service is considered trivial. Her standards are the highest standards of the best home cooking.

"WOMAN'S TOUCH"

To be sure of "the woman's touch" in preparing foods, only highly trained women cooks are employed. And these are supervised by seventy-five graduate home economists, especially trained by Mrs. Mitchell.

Has business interfered with Margaret Mitchell's love of home making?

SPECIAL PLANS

Not a bit. Her favorite room is her kitchen. Her hobby, home decoration. But her greatest love is her garden where she is planning a special herb section and, quite separate, a special garden in memory of her mother.

SOURIS WEST W.I.

The January meeting of the Souris West Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Frank J. Deagle on Wednesday the 14th with the President, Mrs. R. Peters in the chair. Thirteen members answered roll call.

Routine reports were heard from the sick and school committees. Current bills were ordered paid. Letters acknowledging treats and get-well cards were read by the secretary. Two dollars was voted as a special prize for Apple Pie for the 1959 Souris Exhibition. It was decided to hold a Bingo in Souris West School on Friday evening January 23rd, in aid of Souris Hospital, and all residents of the districts were to be asked to support this.

An auction sale capably conducted by the president, added substantially to the funds.

Mrs. Bert Mullally invited the members to her home for the February meeting. Roll call to be answered with an exchange of valentines. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Deagle, with Miss Ann Deagle sharing hostess duties.
