Acheson Is Firm But Conciliatory In Key Speech At U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 16—(CP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States said today the United Nations must fight as long as necessary to defeat aggression in Korea and must not allow faint-heartedness or recklessness to defeat the U. N. cause of peace.

The aggressors must be convinced that continued fighting in Korea will cost them more than they can gain, Acheson said in a major declaration of policy before the U. N. General Assembly. He urged every U. N. member to "look up its responsibility" to support the action in Korea which calls for training and commitment of troops and "food, clothing, materiel and money."

Acheson's address on the first day of the assembly's general debate was considered conciliatory. With Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia sitting in the first row of desks before him, Acheson said:

"Our differing ways of life may impel us to pursue our objectives in various ways. Let us vie with one another not in the arts of war, but in the ways of peace."

Vishinsky is expected to speak tomorrow or Saturday and delegates waited to hear whether he will be as conciliatory as Acheson, who has been reported influenced by Allies of the U. S. in taking a fairly soft tone.

Lobster Catch Smaller But Of Greater Value

Although the poundage was down this past season the landed value of the lobster catch was higher than a year ago, according to figures received last night from Mr. J. J. Larabee, Federal Inspector of Fisheries.

In 1951 the catch landed was 16,449 hundredweight, with a market value of $379,140. This year the weight was only 15,842 hundredweight, but the value to the fishermen was $405,028.

Col. F. A. Cliff Is Appointed To Rank of Brigadier

OTTAWA, Oct. 16—(CP)—The army today announced appointment of a new brigadier who is likely to command a new, single pool of reinforcements for Canada's overseas commitments.

Col. F. A. (Freddie) Cliff, D.S.O., 44, formerly of Melfort, Sask., is being named a brigadier to command the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Replacement Group with headquarters at Wainwright, Alta., starting in December.

This is the replacement or reinforcement group for Korea. It currently consists of units scattered across Canada and slated to go to Korea in the spring.

There is a separate replacement group in Canada for the 27th Brigade in Germany.

Plans to form a single replacement group are reported in the wind in line with plans to wipe out tendencies to have one army for Europe and another for Korea.

Now attending the Imperial Defence College in the United Kingdom, Col. Cliff will complete his course there prior to his new appointment. He succeeds Brig. J. E. C. Pangman, D.S.O., 44, Toronto, whose appointment to command the brigade in Germany was announced earlier. He attended Melfort public schools, the Saskatoon Normal School and the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon.

He rose to command the South Saskatchewan Regiment in England in 1942, succeeding Lt.-Col. C. C. I. Merritt, V.C., after the latter became a prisoner of war at Dieppe.

In 1944, Col. Cliff was promoted acting brigadier while commanding the 6th Brigade. He later relinquished this rank as a result of prolonged hospitalization due to wounds.

Propose Many Changes In Transfer Of Lawyers

TORONTO, Oct. 16—(CP)—The Law Society of Upper Canada today proposed sweeping changes in the regulations governing transfer of lawyers from one province to another.

At the same time the society announced that graduates of law schools anywhere in Canada will be called to the Bar in Ontario after completing the third and fourth years of the Osgoode Hall Law School course.

This move was taken at the request of Dean Horace Read of Dalhousie Law School at Halifax, who suggested graduates of the Halifax school receive these privileges, which are the same as those given graduates of the University of Toronto Law School.

The Ontario body urged the law societies of other Canadian provinces to meet immediately to approve these proposals:

1. Abolition of the special call fee required when a member of the bar of one province wishes to practise in another province. This fee is as high as $1,500 in some provinces.
2. That a lawyer wishing to plead a case in another province may do so without "paying a call fee."
3. That a lawyer, having practised for three years or more in one province, should be admitted to the bar in any other province provided he passes an examination in statutes and court procedure in that province and pays a fee of $250 plus the normal call fee charged graduating students.

Previously graduates of law schools outside Ontario had to be called to the bar in their home provinces before they could be called to the Ontario Bar. Now this requirement has been abolished.

The society also announced that an applicant to the four-year course of the Osgoode Hall Law School must have a university degree before entering the course.

Previously students completing high school had been admitted providing they had had two years' apprenticeship in a law office.

Will Discuss Lobster Problems At Summerside

OTTAWA, Oct. 16—(CP)—Federal fisheries experts will begin a series of meetings next week with lobster fishermen and representatives of the Maritime fishing industry designed to improve the lobster catch and methods of canning it.

The Fisheries Department said today the first meeting will be held in Moncton, N. B., Oct. 22 to deal with regulations governing canning and packing of lobsters and lobster meat. A second meeting will be held at Summerside, P.E.I., Oct. 24 to discuss lobster fishery regulations.

Other meetings will take place at Antigonish, N. S., Oct. 27, and at Shelburne, N.S., Oct. 29.

The department said canning regulations have been under scrutiny for some time "with a view to making amendments to bring about more effective inspection measures."

The lobster fishery regulations also have been under scrutiny. The proposed discussions with the trade are designed, the department said, to consider proposed changes which, it is hoped, will produce larger catches from Maritime waters and still allow a sufficient escapement to build up stocks for the future.

PARIS, Oct. 16—(Reuters)—A French navy commission of inquiry reported today that the submarine Sirois, lost with her 48 crew last month, probably met her doom trying to avoid collision with another warship passing over her. It was presumed that either the diving rudders or the ballast tanks failed to function properly.

Two New Industries To Open In Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 16—(CP)—Newfoundland is to get two new industries, Hon. P. J. Lewis, acting attorney general, announced here today.

Two companies formed by European, British and American interests will build a fur processing plant and a plant for the manufacture of rubber goods at Holyrood, a small settlement about 35 miles west of St. John's.

Mr. Lewis said it is expected the two plants will employ about 800 workers.

Construction of the fur processing plant will begin shortly.

Rockets From Balloons Reach 40 Mile Altitude

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The United States navy announced tonight it has launched rockets from giant balloons, high above the north geomagnetic pole and sent them to altitudes of about 40 miles—literally above the top of the world.

The instrument-laden balloons, tall as 10-story buildings were released from the coast guard ice-breaker Eastwind in Baffin Bay, west of Northern Greenland.

The soaring rockets radiated back cosmic radiation measurements at the one point on the globe where the earth's magnetic field has the least influence on incoming cosmic ray particles.

"This (40 miles) is the greatest height known to have been reached in these latitudes," the navy said.

The navy also sent photographic

U. S. Aircraft Missing On Flight To Goose Bay

HALIFAX, Oct. 16—(CP)—Air Force Search and Rescue officials said here today a twin-engine United States Beaufighter plane is missing on a flight from New York's Idlewild Airport to Goose Bay Labrador.

The aircraft and its three occupants were last reported at 3:15 a. m. EST. over Seven Islands Que. Earlier the pilot reported being in conditions and said he was dropping to a lower altitude.

The aircraft was being ferried to Europe by Fleetlines of Burbank, Cal.

Weather conditions in the Seven Islands area has prevented a large-scale search but a U. S. B-17 from Goose Bay made a preliminary investigation today.

Meanwhile, planes are standing by at the R. C. A. F. base in Greenwood, N. S. and at Goose Bay and Newfoundland bases waiting for the weather to clear.

Will Demand Bevan Disband Left-Wing Group

LONDON, Oct. 16—(Reuters)—Clement Attlee and his supporters decided at a meeting tonight to force a showdown with Aneurin Bevan for control of Britain's Labour Party.

Bevan, fiery Welsh leader of a group of about 30 left-wing Labour members of parliament, has been at odds for more than a year with the moderate wing of the party represented by most of Labour's 296 members in the Commons.

The Attlee supporters decided today to submit an ultimatum to a caucus of Labour members of the Commons demanding that Bevan disband what Attlee has called a "party within a party." And that Bevan supporters cease attacking the leadership of the party through the left-wing socialist weekly, The Tribune.

A bitter fight is certain at next week's caucus. A compromise will be suggested by a middle-of-the-road group now trying to keep the Labour Party together, but the party's leadership now has committed itself to stand or fall on the ultimatum it will place before the meeting.

Today's decision apparently rejected peace overtures made by Bevan in the Tribune yesterday. He maintained there was nothing sinister about meetings of his followers and invited all Labour members of parliament to attend the meetings. However, he said he and his supporters would not give up their rights to spread "socialist education" throughout Britain.

If the Labour caucus approves the Attlee ultimatum, Bevan will have to toe the line or quit. But if the Attlee ultimatum is rejected, the party leader and his closest supporters would have to resign their party posts.

Attlee commands majority support in the parliamentary group, and is unlikely to be defeated. But, if his victory is narrow, his prestige might be damaged almost beyond repair.

The clash is the biggest within Labour ranks since 1931. That year party leader Ramsay MacDonald and several other rightists quit to join the Conservatives in a coalition government to cope with the depression.

Ottawa Gives Assistance To N. S. Lobster Fishermen

HALIFAX, Oct. 16—(CP)—The federal cabinet has joined with the Nova Scotia government in providing loans to help rehabilitate Nova Scotia lobster fishermen who suffered severe storm damage last winter. The interest-free loans will be made on a 50-50 basis and will provide fishermen with 100 traps or 80 per cent of the loss—whichever is the lesser.

The loans will be payable over a three-year period without interest and the administration of the scheme will be carried out by the Nova Scotia government.

The provincial government said 1,118 fishermen had reported 77,620 lobster traps destroyed. Their value was placed at $346,275.

Announcement of the Federal Government's decision to share the joint plan was made by Fisheries Minister Mayhew—one of his last acts as fisheries minister.

LONDON, Oct. 16—(Reuters)—The government said today the Queen has approved appointment of Sir Robert Duncan Harris Arundell as governor of Barbados. He succeeds Sir Alfred Savage, who will be governor of British Guiana. Arundell now is governor of the Windward Islands.

Eisenhower Reviews Russian Plans To Destroy Free World

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower presented a detailed analysis tonight of the Russian master plan to destroy the free world, and then, having set forth a formula for meeting it, he said:

"The free peoples can face any new Soviet tactics without panic."

Eisenhower discussed at length the recent 10-day meeting in Moscow of the 19th Communist Party Congress. He put a spotlight on a number of key quotations from the 25,000-word statement by Prime Minister Joseph Stalin and warned:

"This is a deadly challenge to the free world in this critical autumn of 1952. It is this challenge that we must answer if we are to survive in freedom."

And he asserted several times that the Western Nations have the resources for meeting the Communist threat.

The General delivered the principal speech at the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner attended by many persons prominent in both major political parties, Smith, one-time governor of New York, was unsuccessful as the Democratic presidential nominee running against Herbert Hoover in 1928.

Although he said he was not speaking as the Republican candidate for president in tonight's address, Eisenhower did say in his prepared address:

"Our economy is insecure and vulnerable in many ways. But all our people have come to know that it is the primary task of any president and any government to insure that our country never again suffers a depression."

The reference was made in connection with his statement that the Russians are using economic warfare as well as political and military in the world struggle.

Tracing the development of Russian expansion, he said:

"The Russian frontier has moved westward until it includes Berlin within its limits. The old Russian vision of an empire spanning two continents from Aachen to Vladivostok has come closer to fact than fantasy."

Eisenhower called this a "sensational story."

In the military field, Eisenhower said, Soviet generals have been building an army of 1,000,000 men in the satellite nations, given them common military tactics, common weapons, a common training program, and a common military organization. The result, he said, has been "perhaps the most thoroughly internationalized army in history."

Regina Woman Named National C.W.L. President

WASHINGTON, D.C., director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, made the statement in an address to the annual convention of the Canadian Catholic Women's League.

Reasons for the situation, he said, are revolutions in industry, ideas, and ideals and in religion.

The industrial revolution had substituted "for the simple rural and village life of the past our mighty and mobile modern cities."

"Our housing situation and the slums of our cities, the inadequacy of income in many cases, the exorbitant prices of the times and the presence of large numbers of mothers in industry are evils that harm the family."

The ideological revolution, Father Schmiedeler said has resulted in a substitution of pagan principles for Christian ones.

To remedy the situation, Father Schmiedeler suggested concerted and concentrated promotion of social and recreational interests within the family circle as a means of combatting the trend away from family life in large cities.

Allies Stop Two New Attacks By Chinese Reds

By George McArthur
SEOUL, Oct. 17—(Friday)—(AP)—Chinese Communist troops, their ranks bled by at least 3,000 casualties, launched weakening attacks Thursday at two Allied-conquered heights in Central Korea.

U. S. and South Koreans on Allied Triangle Hill and Sniper Ridge moved down the Chinese as the Reds charged up the slopes.

Front reports said fighting slackened at nightfall Thursday and South Koreans began mopping up on Pinpoint Hill, the dominating height which they hold on Sniper Ridge.

They sealed up caves where Chinese soldiers refused to surrender with deafening charges of high explosives.

Allied casualty figures put Red losses on the two peaks at more than 3,000 killed and wounded since the U. N. assaults began Tuesday.

More than 300 Chinese bodies were strewn over Sniper Ridge.

The fighting on Sniper Ridge and Triangle Hill was by far the heaviest across the Korean 155-mile battlefield during the day.

Allied planes, circled overhead in a continuous ring, pouring bombs, rockets and searing napalm on the Chinese.

Once the Chinese drove the Koreans from Pinpoint Hill but they could not hold. The U. S. Seventh Division held all Triangle Hill except "Pike's Peak," a knob on the northwest part of the hill mass. On Sniper Ridge, the Reds held only one knob on the north end.

Fifth Air Force war planes hit supply points as far as 200 miles into North Korea Thursday.

Report Almost 100,000 Coal Miners In U. S. Idle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—(AP)—The Wage Stabilization Board appeared to be locked in a quarrel over the soft coal case today as the number of idle miners climbed close to 100,000.

Archibald Cox, chairman of the board, suddenly and without explanation cancelled a press conference he had called for early afternoon.

It was reliably reported that Cox had received a letter from economic stabilizer Roger Putnam on certain aspects of the case, which involves government approval, disapproval or modification of a 1.90 daily wage hike which John L. Lewis, United Miner Workers president, won last month from the soft coal industry.

Failure of the wage increase to take effect, pending W.S.B. approval, has already led to a work stoppage of 95,000 diggers, or about one-fourth of all Lewis' soft coal miners.

These walkouts, centering in West Virginia, appeared certain to grow as long as the W.S.B. fails to reach a decision on whether the wage boost is allowable under its anti-inflation regulations.

The new soft coal contract boosted the basic minimum daily wage from $16.35 to $18.25. Only slightly more than half this increase would appear to be automatically approvable under cost of living wage regulations.

Industry members of the wage board have said they will vote against approving the pact unless other wage regulations make it clearly approvable.

Industry members of the wage board have said they will vote against approving the pact unless other wage regulations make it clearly approvable.

Eisenhower Reviews Russian Plans To Destroy Free World

NEW YORK, Oct. 16—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower presented a detailed analysis tonight of the Russian master plan to destroy the free world, and then, having set forth a formula for meeting it, he said:

"The free peoples can face any new Soviet tactics without panic."

Eisenhower discussed at length the recent 10-day meeting in Moscow of the 19th Communist Party Congress. He put a spotlight on a number of key quotations from the 25,000-word statement by Prime Minister Joseph Stalin and warned:

"This is a deadly challenge to the free world in this critical autumn of 1952. It is this challenge that we must answer if we are to survive in freedom."

And he asserted several times that the Western Nations have the resources for meeting the Communist threat.

The General delivered the principal speech at the Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner attended by many persons prominent in both major political parties, Smith, one-time governor of New York, was unsuccessful as the Democratic presidential nominee running against Herbert Hoover in 1928.

Although he said he was not speaking as the Republican candidate for president in tonight's address, Eisenhower did say in his prepared address:

"Our economy is insecure and vulnerable in many ways. But all our people have come to know that it is the primary task of any president and any government to insure that our country never again suffers a depression."

The reference was made in connection with his statement that the Russians are using economic warfare as well as political and military in the world struggle.

Tracing the development of Russian expansion, he said:

"The Russian frontier has moved westward until it includes Berlin within its limits. The old Russian vision of an empire spanning two continents from Aachen to Vladivostok has come closer to fact than fantasy."

Eisenhower called this a "sensational story."

In the military field, Eisenhower said, Soviet generals have been building an army of 1,000,000 men in the satellite nations, given them common military tactics, common weapons, a common training program, and a common military organization. The result, he said, has been "perhaps the most thoroughly internationalized army in history."

Twice As Many

LONDON—(CP)—A report to the National Safety Congress said that 10,000 boys had been killed in highway accidents since 1939, compared with 5,000 girls. The report said this ratio remains constant.

Regina Woman Named National C.W.L. President

WASHINGTON, D.C., director of the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, made the statement in an address to the annual convention of the Canadian Catholic Women's League.

Reasons for the situation, he said, are revolutions in industry, ideas, and ideals and in religion.

The industrial revolution had substituted "for the simple rural and village life of the past our mighty and mobile modern cities."

"Our housing situation and the slums of our cities, the inadequacy of income in many cases, the exorbitant prices of the times and the presence of large numbers of mothers in industry are evils that harm the family."

The ideological revolution, Father Schmiedeler said has resulted in a substitution of pagan principles for Christian ones.

To remedy the situation, Father Schmiedeler suggested concerted and concentrated promotion of social and recreational interests within the family circle as a means of combatting the trend away from family life in large cities.
