New Comet Paid A Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—A newly discovered comet is blazing a fiery trail across the heavens. It has been visible to the naked eye in the northeastern part of the United States.

Dr. Franklin Brantley, associate astronomer at the Hayden Planetarium, said Thursday the comet was discovered Aug. 2 by a Czech astronomer named Mrkos.

Brantley said the discovery had been reported to the Harvard College observatory and that the comet had been named Comet Mrkos-1957d.

This follows the practice of naming comets for their discoverers. Mrkos has had other comets named for him. The "1957" differentiates the latest from others of the same name and the D indicates it was the fourth comet discovered this year.

Brantley said the comet, visible just before sundown, is located below the pointers of the big dipper, or in a northwesterly direction. He said the comet had gone around the sun and now is moving away.

In Providence, R.I., Prof. Charles Smiley of Brown University, saw the comet Wednesday night and said that because of its large size it could be seen better with the naked eye or field glasses than with a telescope.

P. M.'s Discuss Maritime Coal

OTTAWA (CP)—The premiers of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick today completed discussions with Prime Minister Diefenbaker concerning federal aid for the development of coal-produced electrical power in the two provinces.

Premier Fleming of New Brunswick said after a final meeting with the prime minister and Resources Minister Harkness that proposals of the two premiers met with "a very sympathetic hearing."

While he declined to say what they talked about, it was understood a major request of the provincial premiers was that coal used for power production should be given the type of federal financial aid—subventions—used in assisting its movement to commercial markets.

The previous Liberal administration announced early this year it would build thermal power plants for the two provinces, and it has been indicated the new government will hold to this offer.

The Liberal project did not include subventions for the coal to be used.

A major point in the project has been the location of the main power plant—whether in New Brunswick or Nova Scotia—and it was reported today the federal government has reached no final decision on this.

A statement from Prime Minister Diefenbaker on the talks was expected later today. Meanwhile, Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia was not available immediately for comment.

High Quality Swine And Sheep At The Exhibition

Very keen competition featured the swine show at the Provincial Exhibition which was said by the swine judge G.B. Crowe to be one of the best he has ever attended. Returning to the Island after two years, Mr. Crowe said he noted a remarkable improvement in the hogs.

Honours were fairly evenly divided with veteran breeder, Almon Boswall taking top honours from his nearest contender, Stirling Willis of Kingston The grand champion boar was shown by W. R. Paynter of French River. Rowell Boswall had the junior champion boar while Almon Boswell took the Junior champion female, the senior female championship and the female grand champion.

Almon Boswall in addition to his championship winnings had seven firsts, four seconds and three third place winners. Stirling Willis had three firsts, four seconds and five thirds.

Other strong contenders were S.C. Stewart and Sons with a first second and a third; Rowell Boswall had a first, a second and two thirds. William Found of Long River took two seconds.
