THE DAILY EXAMINER.

AUGUST 16, 1892.

The Railway.

WHILE the Minister of Railways was here THE EXAMINER called his attention to the present unsatisfactory Time Table of the P. E. Island railway, and also to the facts and conditions which ought to be bourne in mind when a time table is being framed. The only change effected, so far, has been the placing of a daily train upon the Cape Traverse Branch. But this concession is accompanied by an order that only a second-class car shall be employed and that only one man shall perform the various duties of conductor, brakeman and baggageman. The amount to be saved by this cheese-paring is insignificent. A first-class car might as well run twenty-two miles a day as stand constantly idle upon the siding at Emerald, and it is impossible for one man to unload freight, such as mowing and reaping machines, or casks of oil or molasses, keep check upon every article that is sent along the branch line, look after the mails and keep the cars clean and tidy, take the tickets and pay proper attention to his passengers—so that extra help must of necessity be employed. From the point of view of mere safety we question whether a private railway would be liable to damages if it were to run a train operated by only one man besides the driver and fireman, and if so, surely a government railway ought to afford at least one man in addition to the conductor to prevent accidents or to assist in case of accidents. We are credibly informed that the people Kinkora, Albany, Cape Traverse and the outlaying settlements consider that a gross insult has been offered them in being afforded only a second class car, destitute of every comfort, without even water-closet accommodation, and that their present intention is to resent the indignity as voters only can. We have to admit that their case is one which is calculated to try to the uttermost their political principles, and to cause them, unless a better train service is provided, to boycott the railway and vote for the grits.

Notwithstanding the representations which have been made, no change has been effected along the main line. Yet the existing arrangement is altogether bad. We are surprised to learn that even the prompt delivery of the mails is not secured by it. The mails which arrived at Summerside on Saturday last were, actually, we are informed, not forwarded to Tignish and intermediate stations until Monday. The eastern mails were also held until Monday, though the train went on to Souris and Georgetown on Saturday night. Every day's mail is, in like manner, held until the next day. Consequently, the trains are run at night for the advantage of passengers alone. But passengers have to wait at Summerside for three hours until the evening train from Charlottetown comes to take them up. In these three hours they have ample time to make arrangements either to stay at Summerside or to be forwarded to their destination by means of carriages. The result is that only a few of them go by rail. So that the train is kept pottering along the road all night until two or three o'clock in the morning for the sake of, perhaps, two or three passengers who have to go long distances and are anxious to proceed at once;—and for these a large proportion of the local traffic is sacrificed and hundreds of persons are discommoded. A more disadvantageous arrangement or one better calculated to drive traffic from the road, it would be hard for the wit of man to conceive.

That the Minister of Railways permitted himself to fall into the hands of the junior Grit member for Queen's County, and to be hurried over the railway at the rate of thirty or forty miles an hour, that he examined nothing carefully, and repelled by his conduct the advances of those who would have told him the truth and advised him in the best interests of the country and the Government, is a matter of the deepest regret to all but those Opposition misrepresentatives whose seats are likely to be retained by them as a result of his visit. We have heard it asserted that his unexpected conduct while here was due wholly to the sinister influence of Mr. William Welsh—to whose political advantage it was evidently calculated to inure. But we are not of those who have adopted this hypothisis. We rather incline to the opinion that the Minister of Railways has been too easily converted to the pessimistic views and penny wise pound foolish policy of the General Manager. His conversion may, perhaps, have been facilitated by a desire to obtain the favor of the Ontario constituencies by an exhibition of economy (save the mark) in Prince Edward Island. In any case we hope and trust, in the interests of the country, the present administration and the Liberal Conservative party in this Province, that his colleagues in the Cabinet will induce him to re-consider his arrangement in respect to the Cape Traverse branch and the P. E. Island Railway at large.

The Rifle.

We publish below the score made so far in the Provincial Rifle Matches, which began at Kensington Range yesterday and are being continued to-day. The bad weather yesterday was dead against good shooting and the high wind prevailing to-day prevents high scoring being made:

Personal.

Mrs Owen Connolly and Miss Callaghan arrived home last evening from Ireland where they have spent the past year.

Mr. R. Peake and Miss Haviland, who have bean spending some weeks at the North Shore House, Malpeque, returned home last night.

President Harrison is living a quiet life at Loon lake, in the Adirondacks. Drives and walks in the woods and fishing excursions pass the time, Mrs. Harrison is greatly improved since the President's arrival.

The arrivals at the Queen Hotel August 15th included: Hon James Ross, Mount Stewart; Mrs Cowan, do; A F Larkin, Tignish; H Forsythe, Lynn, Mass; C H Whitney, Winchendon, Mass; H H Brooks, do; C H Brooks, do; H A Whitney, Baldwinville, Mass; A A McRae and wife, Boston; Mrs T B Lamson, do; Mrs C L Williams, New York; Dr Emily H Wells, Brigamtown, N Y; P Fairweather, Rothsay, N B.

Today the flag at the railway is floating at half mast for Mr. Fredk. Ayling, whose death took place Monday morning after a protracted sickness resulting from an attack of la grippe, and whose funeral will take place at noon tomorrow. The railway men, from the Superintendent down, speak in the highest terms of Mr. Ayling as an obliging, attentive, faithful and reliable member of the Mechanical and Stores Department staff. He was one of the oldest employees on the road, and many are the expressions of regret at the death of the genial "Fred."

It appears that General Booth has not entirely escaped criticism for his disposal of the money raised for the purpose of giving him an opportunity of carrying out his scheme for enlightening Darkest England. Some of the more hostile of his questioners put a direct challenge to him on the subject. According to the Liverpool Post, General Booth has not shrunk from the challenge, but, on the contrary, invites the fullest investigation of his methods, proceedings and outlays, of his experiments and of the results attained.

The Moncton Times reports that before "Buck" was removed to Dorchester he informed his counsel, Mr. D. Grant, that if he would write to his sister and other friends he would get all the money he wanted to carry on the case. Mr. Grant wrote but has yet received no answer, and is beginning to think that "Buck's" sister, if he has one, is not so wealthy or willing to shell out for "Buck" as was represented to him.

Society in England is disturbed by the announcement that the Duke of Devonshire is to sell the famous family residence, Devonshire house, comprising a mansion and nine acres of ground in the heart of Mayfair. The property is, of course, immensely valuable, but other than financial considerations must be supposed to influence the Duke disposing of it. It is stated that a syndicate of capitalists have offered £1,000,000 for a portion of the land, their intention being to build a large number of houses upon it.

—Some Liberal papers are complaining that Bellechasse has not become vacant through the promised resignation of Mr. Amyot, M. P. Upon which the Montreal Gazette remarks that it is getting to be that if the Liberals are not licked regularly in the constituencies they think they are forgotten.

General Telegraphic News.

TORONTO, Aug. 14—The Globe has a special from London as follows: Hon. Mr. Blake has determined to sail for Canada on Thursday next. Before departing, however, he has promised to speak for Mr. Morley at Newcastle-on-Tyne on Monday. The selection of Mr. Blake as one of the speakers on behalf of Gladstone's colleagues is looked upon as a high compliment to a Canadian. The electors of Newcastle, who recently had the opportunity of hearing Gladstone expound what has since been termed the Newcastle programme, will have an opportunity of comparing Hon. Mr. Blake's powers as a public speaker with those of the English liberal leader. Mr. Blake does not expect to stay long in Canada, but will return to England about the middle of the autumn.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug 11.—A special session of the legislature was opened today by the administrator. The speech from the throne referred at some length to the extent of the awful conflagration through which this city had just passed, destroying as it did two-thirds of the city including three thousand dwelling houses and stores. It expressed the deep gratitude felt by the administration for the generous and timely aid extended to the sufferers by the people of Great Britain, the Dominion of Canada and the United States, and extended the thanks of the people of St. John's. It stated that the object for calling together the legislature at the present time was to devise measures for regulating the proper rebuilding of the city and of controlling in some way the excessive rents demanded by the owners of the land upon which the city had been built, if it became necessary that the attention of the legisloture should be called to this matter. The speech also expressed the gratitude of the people for the the services extended by the officers of H. M. S. Blake and by Sir Walker Baldwin and his officers, and also for the offer of a company of engineers to be sent from Halifax to direct the survey of the city.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Twenty adults, ten children and many animals, recently bitten by a mad wolf at Lodz, Poland, are raving mad past recovery.

MONTREAL, August 13.—The Echo, labor organ, publishes the following from its Australian correspondent.

"Since last writing, things in Victoria have become terrible. The labor market has become glutted and men and women are selling their labor for less than they can live upon. Over 6,000 are out of work in Melbourne alone. Processions of unemployed men and women, some of the latter with babes in their arms, parade the streets every day, hold torchlight processions at night and in every possible way try to force the government to find employment for them. In West Melbourne, Dr. Maloney, M. L. A., has erected a large tent to shelter those who are homeless and I can tell you there are hundreds of families who have taken advantage of his kindness. Besides these there are lots of less fortunate who sleep on the banks of the river Yaara with nothing but an old bag to cover them, while some who are still worse off have to be contented with a few old newspapers. These are facts and are not in the least overdrawn."

KENTVILLE, Aug. 11.—Quite a sensation was created here by the announcement that Mrs. Wm. Taylor, wife of a W. & A. railway employe had attempted suicide by swallowing a dose of insect powder. It is strongly rumored that during their short period of married life Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have not been supremely happy, to say the least. Something was evidently wrong and the old fiend jealousy is supposed to have had a hand in the matter. Dr. Moore was called as soon as possible after Mrs. Taylor had swallowed the poisonous dose, and had considerable difficulty in relieving her system of the poison. The patient was in violent convulsions for some time, but she is now improving and there is every hope for her recovery.

LONDON, Aug. 13—William Rouse & Co., the oldest worsted manufacturing company in Bradford, have failed; liabilities £80,000. This is the third large failure in Bradford within a fortnight, and the manufacturers' outlook has never been so gloomy.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The barque Clangrant, from Oregon, reports in lat. 44 south, long. 38 west, traversed for eighteen hours immense fields of icebergs as far as the eye could reach. One was two hundred and eighty feet high, and some were earth-colored, having the appearance of Islands. They were right in the path of navigation around Cape Horn.
