NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.

Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, the editor of the "Citizen," entertained the press correspondents to dinner at the Russell House. Hon. Wm. McDougall, M. P. for Halton, and others, were also present.

The concert given by the St. Andrew's Society, in the Academy, is crowded to excess. Addresses were delivered by Sir John and other prominent men. Members of National Societies are seated on the platform. The Governor General and suite attended the Senate Chamber at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and were presented with addresses from the following bodies:—The City of Toronto, the City of Hamilton, the Hamilton Board of Trade, the Iroquois Indians, the Mohawk Grand Council, the St. Andrew's and Calcedonian Societies of Ontario, the St. Andrew's Society of Ottawa, the St. George's Society of Ottawa, the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Ottawa, the St. Patrick's Literary Association, the Ottawa Institute Canadienne Francaise, the Methodist Church, of Canada, and the City of Kingston.

The Indian addresses created general interest. Oronhyatekha was attired in the full costume of a Mohawk Indian Chief.

The deputation of Tyendinga Indians presented the Governor General with the cap worn by Tyendinga Chief when leading Indians from the United States to Canada in 1777. The Governor General's appearance as well as his replies created a favorable impression in the crowded galleries. The formal reception and illumination takes place tomorrow. Several press correspondents have left for home.

Those French politicians, if they don't take care, will go on duelling till some of them get hurt, and then, perhaps, they'll stop their fooling.

The Princess Louise suggests, in a very democratic way, that "domestic economy lies at the root of the highest life of every true woman." These are noble and rather uncommon words.—St. John Tel.

Track laying has been begun on the Canada Pacific from Emerson northward, while another party are laying towards them from the Winnipeg direction. The difficulty about ties, which were furnished axe-cut, instead of sawed across, has been settled by the acceptance of the ties.

HEWER.—This celebrated deceased magician's estate is said to be valued at between $300,000 and $400,000, the bulk of which is left to his wife and children. His will directs that all the implements of his profession be burned up, so that no one can have the benefit of his life-long study.

An exchange says: During the last three years about $3,100,000 have been collected for charitable purposes by the Mayors of London. In 1876 the sum realized was about $190,000; in 1877 the Indian famine fund helped to swell the total to nearly $2,475,000; this year the figures are about $425,000.

Biddy (to old gent)—Please help a poor woman with seven small children, all to— Good-natured old gent (who knows her): Yes, but I say, don't you think your family increases rather too rapidly? Last week it was only five. Biddy (not a bit abashed): Sure, and isn't all the more reason why yer honor should help me again?—Fun.

THE temperance people cannot count much on Bismarck as an ally in their cause. On a recent occasion he said:—"Beer makes people stupid, lazy and impertinent. It is the cause of the Social Democratic pot-sprinkling, which is all concocted over a mug of beer. Good corn-brandy is infinitely preferable."

THE Duke of Sutherland will probably lose $5,000,000 by the Glasgow Bank failure. How foolish a man is to deposit so much money in one bank. He should distribute his wealth among a dozen banks. If two-thirds of all the banks in this country were to fail, we don't suppose our loss would amount to one-half as much as the Duke's.—Norristown Herald.

When Franklin was ambassador to France, being at a meeting of a literary society and not well understanding French when declared, determined to applaud when he saw a lady friend express approval. When they had ceased, a little child who understood French said to Franklin, "Why, you always applauded most when they were praising you!" Franklin laughed heartily, and explained his dilemma.

THE Ottawa Free Press said some days ago that it would cost $7,500 to equip the new dragons at the capital. A St. John paper then said the cost would be $75,000, and the Prince Edward Island Patriot follows, saying it will exceed $750,000, or "double the annual cost of the Mounted Police." The Free Press now withdraws its original announcement as being incorrect. This is how public opinion is manufactured in this great country.—Mail.

THE PARLIAMENTARY BAR.—The following resolution was unanimously adopted by the Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T., in session at Napanea, Ont., the other day:—"That whereas our attention has been called to the fact that both bars of the Houses of Parliament are open for the sale of intoxicating liquors during the session of Parliament, thereby endangering the morals and darkening the judgments of our representatives in Ottawa, therefore moved by Rev. J. Hines, seconded by J. H. Flagg, that the Grand Lodge do petition both Houses of Parliament for the closing entirely of said bars, or the furnishing or sale of intoxicating liquors."

The Emperor of Brazil is taking much interest in the prospects of the numerous free-born children of slaves who will be thrown on the hands of the Government twelve months hence, in accordance with the Free Birth Law of the 28th of September, 1871. In the Province of Rio de Janeiro, where there are 590,000 slaves, the number of their children born free since September 28, 1871, is 62,000, of whom 18,300 have died. There should now exist in the empire, 248,000 of these children.

THE Emperor of Russia.

The Czar is physically in perfectly good health, but the disease of the Romanoffs is again visiting with its dire Nemesis the Ruler of all the Russias. He dreads going outside his palace, lest the assassin's bullet should lay him low. His illness is wholly mental. He is subject to extreme depression of spirits, and passes hours apparently unconscious of what is passing around him, weapt in his own thoughts. With an effort he seems able to recall his faculties, but soon displays great irritability and impatience with those who come to transact business with him. His doctors urge upon him the need of complete rest and absence from anxiety—remedies they are helpless to dispense.

The Monetary Times says: "Some English newspapers assume that the arrival in Canada of a new Governor General could have some influence on the tariff policy of this country; and write as if it were his duty to act as mediator between the Imperial policy and that of Canada. Politically, a recent Governor General used jocosely to describe himself as a figure nine with the tail cut off, and the jest sufficiently described the fact for all practical purposes. The Governor General is not a cipher, but he is not a political force. There is no reason to fear that the Marquis of Lorne has been sent here in the spirit in which Philip II. of Spain sent Albert and Isabella to the Netherlands, with the intention, afterwards carried out, of bestowing on them the sovereignty of the country. Whatever may be the strength of the 'Imperial idea,' Canada will not be chosen for the field of its tentative application. Canada is a constitutional country, and will remain so; the policy on the tariff or any other question, deliberately decided upon by her people, will be carried into effect. A return to the policy of Lord Metcalfe is as impossible as it would be to put back the clock of time thirty years."

The amount of literary work which Mr. Gladstone manages to accomplish, without apparently interfering with his varied local and political duties, is something extraordinary. Nor is the extent of the field in the tilling of all parts of which he seems perfectly at home less remarkable. A distinguished French ecclesiastic lately contributed by request, probably an article to the Contemporary Review on the subject indicated in the interrogation, "What hinders the Ritualists from becoming Roman Catholics?" After an almost incredibly brief lapse of time, Mr. Gladstone comes out in the same periodical with an answer to the question and the arguments of Abbe Martin under the heading, "The Sixteenth Century arraigned before the Nineteenth," in which he gives very good reasons (from the Anglican standpoint) for the Ritualists remaining where they are. In this article Mr. Gladstone shows an amount of ecclesiastical knowledge which would not disgrace a Bishop, and a degree of literary, historical and general culture which would do honour to some specialists in any of these departments. This variety of attainment constitutes what has hitherto been the chief point of distinction between British and cis-Atlantic statesmen.
