Chamberlain And Players Expected Here Today

Islanders coach Murph Chamberlain will arrive in the City at 7:20 this morning by plane to be followed later in the day or early tomorrow by several hockey players including three of last year's team and four newcomers.

Among the newcomers will be Cruser Kelly, Lou Kelley, Wimpy Stevenson and Orin Gould. The first three should arrive this evening or tomorrow while Gould is not expected for a few days.

Stevenson played with Vancouver Canucks under Chamberlain last season while Kelley, another defenceman played with Providence Reds.

Kelly, Kelley, Stevenson, McLagan, MacKenzie and Beaudry have left Montreal and are on their way here. A number of them are coming by car.

Will Attend Rugby Meeting

Four representatives of the Abegweit football team will attend the annual meeting of the Maritime Rugby Union today at Truro.

Representing the Abbies will be coaches James Coyle, Gordon Bennett, football chairman Elmer Blanchard and manager Mike Campbell.

With the World Series over and Murph Chamberlain due back in the city today hockey news should dominate the sports pages for the next few days. Murph is bringing with him a group of newcomers about whose hockey history we have very little information other than most of them appear to be defencemen. As he did the last time he headed this way as a coach Murph is bringing a "Crusher" with him in the person of "Crusher" Kelly. Judging by his name he must be a defenceman and he must have something when he was invited to one of the camps for a try-out.

Lou Kielley played with Providence last season while Stevenson played under Chamberlain at Vancouver. Young Orin Gould may turn out to be one of the best of the lot. Gould played with St. Catherine's last year and was eagerly sought after by more clubs than the Islanders. Jimmy MacKenzie, Hub Beaudry and George McLagan are well known here and fans will be glad to see them back.

Murph should have some more news about players, particularly goalkeepers when he arrives. It is known that he has been negotiating with one or two netminders as well as the Islanders during the early part of last year, is still the Islanders property but Hal is not too interested in playing hockey this year.

Meanwhile players continue to arrive down around Sydney and Glace Bay way and it appears as though Cape Breton clubs will be fairly strong. One of the surprises was the announcement that Johnny Morrow would be lining up with Sydney Millionaires. Johnny got his release from Halifax and according to reports he was quite interested in returning to Charlottetown.

Bill Buraga, who will play defense for Glace Bay looks like a good prospect. He has played for three seasons with the Winnipeg Monarchs defence corps and weighs around 180 pounds. Macey may use him on defence with Bob Cooper, Cooper and Dan Windley formed one defense unit for the Bay last season but it appears that Windley may retire from hockey this year. Both Cooper and Windley are former Toronto juniors.

The achievements of Forbie Kennedy and Orin Carver in making the grade with Barrie Flyers is certainly worthy of praise. Barrie has quite a reputation as a hockey town, being particularly noted for its strong junior teams. From what we have heard, the officials in Barrie think quite a bit of Kennedy's and Carver's hockey ability and will reward them pretty well for their playing in a dollars and cents language.

That both these players have plenty of ability goes without saying. They are quite young. Kennedy was only 17 last August while Carver is about 19, and they have

Junior Hockey Players Get Berth With Barrie

Two Charlottetown junior hockey players Forbes Kennedy and Orin Carver have caught a berth with Barrie Flyers of the O.H.A. Junior League, it was learned here last night.

Both players left here about two weeks ago for the Barrie training camp. Kennedy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Forbes Kennedy, Sr. Kent St. and Carver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carver.

The two boys have good athletic records especially in hockey. For the past two years Carver has been playing with Halifax Saint Mary's and last year he was a standout with that team when they won the Maritime Junior Hockey title.

Young Kennedy developed into the outstanding juvenile hockey player in the Maritimes last year when he led the Charlottetown team to the Maritime finals.

In one game in the N. B. P. E. I. playdowns against Campbellton he scored 11 goals and picked up five assists in an unprecedented scoring feat.

Kennedy also excels at speed skating and is a good baseball player. In speed skating competitions he has won the Island championship in his division every year since he was 10 years of age.

In making the grade with Barrie the boys have accomplished quite a feat. For years Barrie coached by Happy Emms, has led the strongest junior teams in the Dominion.

Two years ago, when Barrie won the Memorial Cup a large number of their players were picked up by N. H. L. clubs and made the grade to pro hockey the next season.

Among the clubs whom Barrie play against in the O. H. A. League are Toronto St. Mike's, the Marlboros and St. Catherine's Teepees.

Few Huns But Plenty Ducks, Is Hunter's Report

One of the Island's best shots, Lloyd Wonnacott of Charlottetown is convinced that the Hungarian partridge is a rare bird hereabouts, this year.

"I have yet to get one in my gunshots," said Mr. Wonnacott yesterday. "I have covered some good country too," he continued, "but nary a sign of a Hun."

He had a far different story about the duck population. On the opening morning he quickly knocked the limit number, allowed by law, out of the sky. Each day he has been able to pick up a few and is quite satisfied with his duck quota.

Mr. Wonnacott's shooting partner on two occasions was Colonel Frank Grafton of Cape Cod, United States Marines, the Colonel, now retired, served in the South Pacific during the fight with the Japs.

The ex-Marine is more interested in Huns and pheasants than in ducks and has two well-trained pointers with him. He has been travelling all over the province in his station wagon, but with little luck thus far.

Mr. Wonnacott did succeed in bagging three pheasants, and these birds he claims seem more plentiful than the usually numerous huns.

Mr. E. D. Nicholson is another gunner who has brought home some ducks. Mr. Nicholson had a tally of five in an early morning jaunt on Tuesday.

A pretty bright future ahead of them. Fans will be following their playing with interest throughout the season and all will be pulling for the boys to make good in a big way. They were recommended to Barrie by Bruno Favre, last winter. Favre, it is understood, will be connected with the Barrie team this year.

Millionaires Add Players To Roster

SYDNEY, Oct. 7 — (CP) — Sydney Millionaires have added two over-age juniors to their roster for their Maritime Major Hockey League campaign, club president Art Lipton announced tonight.

They are Reg Campbell, 20, of Timmins, Ont., a centre who played last year with Windsor Spitfires of the Ontario Hockey Association and Fred Hildebrand and George Robertson, team veterans, and Mike Daski have also picked up transportation.

The club president said names of additional new players may be announced by a club meeting tomorrow night.

Charles Resumes Ring Career Tonight

CINCINNATI, Oct. 7 — (AP) — Ezzard Charles, who at 31 hopes to regain the world's heavyweight championship, resumes his ring career here tomorrow night against Bernie Reynolds, of Fairfield, Conn.

The local fighter, who lost in his last outing to Rex Layne on a much-disputed decision, and the playboy from the east are scheduled for 12 rounds.

No one expects the bout to go the 12 rounds, for, if Charles is anything what he used to be, Reynolds may find himself knocked out.

The 25-year-old puncher — he has knocked out 30 of his 64 opponents — says he is ready.

Charles expects to enter the ring at 185 or 186 pounds, the same as Reynolds.

Br. Restrictions On Bunker Coal Lifted

LONDON, Oct. 7 — (Reuters) — The Ministry of Fuel and Power has decided to abolish effective restrictions which were imposed in November, 1950, on the supply of coal for bunkering ships at British ports.

The restrictions applied primarily to ships in the North Atlantic trade and obliged them to "double bunker" — to load enough bunker coal on the North American side for the journey to Britain and back.

Cancer Treatment Centre Opened

VANCOUVER, Oct. 7 — (CP) — A $700,000 cancer treatment centre, housing a two-ton cobalt "bomb" was opened here last night by Lieut.-Governor Clarence Wallace.

It is the third of its kind in use in Canada, making the B. C. Cancer Institute's centre one of the most modern in the world.

Dr. G. M. Strong of Vancouver, president of the B. C. Cancer Foundation, described the Eldorado death therapy unit, better known as the cobalt "bomb". It was provided by funds from the federal and provincial governments.

The unit, the source of whose radiation is equal to 2,400 grams of radium having a value of about $50,000,000 is designed for the treatment of deep-seated cancers.

Defeat Brooklyn Dodgers 4-2 In Final Game For Fourth Straight Ch'ship

By Jack Hand

BROOKLYN, Oct. 7 — (AP) — Young Mickey Mantle, capably filling the shoes of the great Joe DiMaggio, and stout-hearted Bob Kuzava led Casey Stengel's New York Yankees to a record-tying fourth straight world championship today in a 4-2, seventh-game triumph over the stubborn Brooklyn Dodgers.

Lefty Kuzava, supposedly a choice morsel for the Dodgers' righthanded hitters, blazed his fast ball down the groove in a 2-3-inning relief job to make the Yankees lead stand up.

It was switch-hitter Mantle who gave the Yankees their victory margin. He homered in the sixth to break a 2-2 tie and send the New Yorkers ahead for the third time. In the seventh he scored Gil McDougald from second with a sizzling single over Peeewe Reese's head.

When Gene Woodling clutched Reese's fly for the final out this chilly, sunny afternoon, the entire Yank club descended on Kuzava, whooping and leaping with the joy of men who suddenly found themselves some $6,000 richer.

It was Kuzava who applied the final, killing blow to Brooklyn's dreams of its first World Series win with his brilliant job after Eddie Lopat and the dog-tired Allie Reynolds and Vic Raschi had given their all.

Kuzava Works Calmly

Called in to face Duke Snider, the Dodgers' four-homer man, with the bases loaded and one out in the seventh, Kuzava calmly drew the count to 3-2 before making the Duke pop to McDougald.

Still in grave danger of a Dodger eruption, the blond southpaw worked on Jackie Robinson while 33,195 spectators held their breaths.

Robby fouled one, took two balls and fouled two more. Then he lofted a sky-high pop over the infield. With a stiff crosswind blowing from left field, second-baseman Billy Martin barely made a running catch just past the pitcher's box.

Although Big Bob still had two innings to go, that was the ball game. In those brief moments he wrung the neck of the Dodgers with a gritty job of clutch pitching.

Into Record Books

Thus the Brooks sailed for the sixth time and the Yanks rode to their 15th championship in 19 tries. It was the American League's sixth straight series win, a record topping the old run of the 1935-39 era.

Stengel's feat of winning four in a row shot him into the record books with Joe McCarthy, who led the Yanks past the National League in 1936, 1937, 1938 and 1939.

Mantle, a 20-year-old Oklahoma man playing his second year in the majors, smashed a Joe Black pitch over the right-field wall in the sixth. It was the 16th home run of this record-breaking series.

Mickey's blow all but unhinged Black, making a game try in his bunker — to load enough bunker coal on the North American side for the journey to Britain and back.

With that 3-2 lead, Mantle knocked home an extra run in the seventh. It didn't look too big at the time but it was a mile high in the eighth. He went into the book with two others who went 4 for 21 in a series—Billy Sullivan of the White Sox hitles wonders in 1906 and Jack Murray of the 1911 Giants. They both did it in six games, however.

Exact values of winning and losing shares must await an announcement from Commissioner Ford Frick. On the basis of 34 Yankee shares, each will get approximately $6,000 and each of the 33 Dodger losing shares will amount to about $4,200.

Decided On Power

In the final analysis, this series that produced 18 home runs — 16 by the Yankees — was decided on power. Reynolds and Raschi about balanced Black, Roe and Carl Erskine, who won the fifth game and worked the last two innings today despite a blister on his right hand.

The Dodger defence was brilliant while the Yanks made four errors in the final game. None led directly to a run, however.

For heroes, the Yankees can present Mantle with his 345 batting average, and Mize's three great left-field line. After little Phil scooted to third on Mantle's roller to Gil Hodges, Mize came through again. This time he punched a single to left, scoring Rizzuto.

Back came the Brooks to punt Lopat right out of the box in their half of the fourth. Snider's single to right field was followed by two bunt singles by Robinson and Roy Campanella.

Stengel was forced to call for his best—Allie Reynolds.

Hodges, who wound up tying a series' record by going 21 times without a hit, drove Reynolds' third pitch to left field, a sinking liner deep enough to score Snider with the tying run.

When Reynolds fumbled Gene Woodling's outfield throw toward the plate, Robinson scooted to third. Allie skinned through the inning ending George Shuba, an forcing Carl Furillo to ground to McDougald.

Woodling led off the fifth with a home-run drive over the right-field screen to win back the lead.

Still Reynolds couldn't hold the edge. Laboring after starting two games and saving Raschi yesterday, he let Brooklyn tie the score again in the fifth on Billy Cox's double and Reese's single.

That was the situation—a 2-2 score—when Mantle, rated by some as the future's greatest switch-hitter in baseball, leveled his gun. After Rizzuto led to Reese, Mickey sent Black's 3-1 pitch 400 feet over the wall. It was enough to charge Black with his second series' loss and give Reynolds his sixth series' win since 1947.

But, Stengel lifted Reynolds for pinch-hitter Ralph Houk in the seventh after a sparkling double play started by Rizzuto on Hodges' hard rap got him out of a six-inning jam.

Reynolds Near Record

Reynolds is one victory away from tying the record for most world series' triumphs. Charley Ruffing holds the mark of seven, acquired while pitching for the Yanks in 1932, '36, '37, '38, '39, '41 and '42.

Given a 4-2 lead on Mantle's single scoring McDougald in the seventh, Raschi came in. He threw four balls in a row to Furillo, first man up. Pinchhitter Rocky Nelson, batting for Roe, popped out but Cox drilled a single to right. When Reese walked to load the bases, Stengel waded in Kuzava.

Only one man reached base against Kuzava. That was Hodges who was safe on McDougald's high throw for a third baseman—in the eighth. But Bob had whipped Campanella before Hodges came up. So he struck out pinch-hitter Andy Pafo and made Furillo fly to Woodling.

It was one-two-three in the ninth to touch off another Yankee story party while Brooklyn fans headed homeward to "wait 'til next year."

Hodges, in a bad slump during the series, hit the ball hard on all four trips in his last game, but did no good.

He went into the book with two others who went 4 for 21 in a series—Billy Sullivan of the White Sox hitles wonders in 1906 and Jack Murray of the 1911 Giants. They both did it in six games, however.
