TORONTO — Ann Kovalchuk, 19, of Sudbury, Ontario, was named Miss Outdoors of Canada Friday night at the opening in Toronto of the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show. Her prizes included $500, and a modelling contract.

Bathgate Is Named MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Centre Andy Bathgate Thursday was named New York Rangers' most valuable player by the New York Hockey Writers' Association for the second straight season. Bathgate, 25, in his fourth full season in the National Hockey League, has scored 30 goals and 46 assists in the current campaign. His 76 points put him in a tie for second place in the individual scoring race, three points behind league-leading Dickie Moore of Montreal Canadiens.

Eisenhower And Cabinet Seek Remedies For Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government sources disclosed Friday that a further drop in United States industrial production will be announced Monday. The new decline to be reported in the federal reserve board's index of industrial production for February suggests that unemployment may not drop this month as predicted by President Eisenhower. A drop of $1,800,000,000 in the annual rate of personal incomes last month was reported by the commerce department. The drop-off from January, largely in wages and salaries, carried the income rate down to $341,800,000, on an annual basis, as compared with a peak rate of $347,500,000,000 reached last August. Last month's figure, while down 1 1/2 per cent from the August rate, was still one per cent above the income level of February, 1957. Eisenhower reviewed the economic situation at an unusually long cabinet session. Press Secretary James Hagerly reported various aspects of the economic situation were covered, among other things. A presidential request Friday for emergency speedup in public works appropriations included $125,250,000 for river and harbor and flood control projects and $46,200,000 for hospital construction. The request's total figure was $171,450,000. Hagerly declined to say whether there had been any discussion of a possible tax cut, a move that has been receiving wide attention as an economy booster.

Comments On Nuclear Subs

HALIFAX (CP) — Admiral Sir William Davis, chief of the British Home Fleet, said Friday nuclear-powered submarines will eventually become the "ultimate factor" in naval operations. Admiral Davis directed the first phase of Operation Maple Royal, largest joint Canadian-U.K. naval exercises since the Second World War. The 29 ships of the combined fleet arrived here Friday for a four-day visit before starting the second phase. He said he doesn't anticipate a buildup of the Royal Navy's submarine fleet comparable to that of the Russians. He said Britain is "putting a great deal" into development of the nuclear-powered Dreadnought-class submarine, patterned after United States atomic subs. Just as the battleship is now "dead as a dodo," Admiral Davis said, the emphasis will gradually shift from aircraft carriers — "now the core of the task force" — to missile-carrying craft. Admiral Davis, besides being

Promises No Gas Holdup If Okay Is Given

CALGARY (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Friday night his government will not hold up export of the west's natural gas if the Border commission on energy resources says export is justified. The Progressive Conservative leader also told an audience here that the Progressive Conservative government, if returned March 31, would give "high priority" to the development of a Montreal market for Western Canada oil. His speech in this oil- and gas-conscious city detailed for the first time in the election campaign his stand on two issues: Export of the west's surplus of natural gas to the United States, and problems of the industry in finding oil markets.

No Early U. K. Vote

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan Friday stuck to his guns not to call an early general election despite another defeat for his Conservative party Thursday. He told a London audience after a Labor victory in a by-election at Glasgow: "A general election... will come when we judge it to be a suitable time." He said he will call a general election when such highly unpopular measures as the rent decontrol act "will have worked themselves out... and we shall reap the reward of our courage and determination." The main cause of the government's defeat in Glasgow is seen here as the decontrol act, which allows landlords to boost rents and evict some tenants.

Top Eskimo Linguist Dies

OTTAWA (CP) — M. Leo Manning, 54, one of Canada's finest Eskimo linguists, died Saturday at Frobisher Bay, the northern affairs department said Tuesday. Born at St. John's, Nfld., he was employed in the welfare branch of the department's Arctic division. Officials said he died while visiting the Baffin Island town on one of his frequent Arctic field trips. An unassuming man with more chief of the Home Fleet, is the NATO commander-in-chief of the eastern Atlantic.

International Nickel Earnings Down; Long-Term View Good

TORONTO (CP) — International Nickel Company of Canada Ltd. and subsidiaries had net earnings in 1957 of $86,141,000 or $5.90 a share, compared with $96,296,000 or $6.50 a share in 1956. The decreased earnings, the annual report says, resulted primarily from the sharp drop in copper prices. Reduced sales of platinum metals, liver prices for platinum, and an 11-week strike at its plant in Huntington, W. Va., also adversely affected earnings. These factors and continuing cost increases were partially offset by increased sales of nickel and copper, and by the higher prices for nickel and mill and foundry products which went into effect in December, 1958. Nickel deliveries totaled 290,050,000 pounds, up 3,910,000 pounds, and copper deliveries totaled 299,810,000 pounds, up 9,510,000 pounds from 1956. NET SALES DOWN Net sales totaled $442,886,000, down $1,854,000, and costs and expenses totaled $276,317,000, up $12,006,000. Capital expenditures totaled $43,921,000 — highest of any year in the company's history — compared with $23,021,000 in 1956. All dollar figures in in United States currency. The report signed by John F. Thompson, chairman, and Henry S. Wingate, president, commented that during the latter part of 1957 supply, after meeting defence requirements, exceeded civilian demand for the first time since the Korean War began in 1950. The report added: "The long-term outlook for nickel is excellent. During the years of shortage for civilian purposes, nickel has demonstrated that its many properties fit into the pattern of modern technology. HAVE FAITH IN FUTURE "Our faith in the future of nickel is clearly demonstrated by the determination with which we

SPORT ECHOES

1957 Aces Were A Much Better Team Than Now

The Summerside Aces are not a team for half measures. They always go the whole hog. Last year in the Island finals they trounced B. Y. C. four games to nil. This year the Royals drubbed them five games to nil, with only a tied encounter to avoid a complete kalsomining. Why the ignominious descent from white house to log cabin? Well, for one thing, the Royals of 1958 were a better Club than B.Y.C. of 1957. But the Aces of 1958 were also supposed to be considerably stronger than the 1957 team. Did they drop in team spirit and condition more than made up for the strength supposedly added in the form of new players? It's always safe to make a prediction about a contest that can never happen, so we may as well take a fling at this popular pastime. We thing the Aces of 1957, with their drive and will to win, and their superior condition, would beat the ears of the 1958 Aces. The Intermediate Aces made a comeback in their second game with Parkdale. They were much better defensively, the forwards and Gord Grady, apparently incoming back to help the defence, inspired by this willingness to pitch in and held, put up a gilt-edged performance between the pipes. The Summerside High School basketball team, under the careful coaching of Charlie Ballem, should get the prize for improvement as far as sports aggregations in these parts are concerned. At the first of the season the Grand Manan High School boys hung a lop-sided defeat on our boys. We don't believe they could do it now. Too bad the teams couldn't get together again.

Isaac Logart 7-5 Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Isaac (the Whip) Logart, Cuba's hope for another world welterweight champion, was a 7-to-5 favorite Thursday to beat Virgil (Honey Bear) Atkins of St. Louis in their semifinal of the welterweight elimination tournament tonight. The winner of the 12-round fight will meet Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., for the vacant title within 90 days. The 147-pound division crown was yielded by Carmen Basilio when he won the middleweight title from Sugar Ray Robinson. The bout will be televised by NBC starting at 11 p.m. AST. It is the third and rubber clash between Logart, 24, and Atkins, 30. They split in two 10-rounders in 1955. Atkins took the first by a split decision. Logart evened the score with an easy and unanimous verdict. Each is confident the survivor of tonight's battle will be the new champion. Both figure "Martinez will be easy." Vince returned the compliment, saying "They're both made to order for me." He believes Logart has an edge "because he's younger and faster and real shifty."

United States Team Is Beaten

VIENNA (AP) — The United States national ice hockey team was beaten by Czechoslovakia 5-2 Thursday night in Prague's Winter Stadium. A crowd of 14,000 fans saw the Czechs dominate during the first two periods. The Americans scored both goals in the final seconds of the game.

You Can Never Tell How Return Matches Will End

Sir,—You never can tell about return fights, quite a number of steady customers didn't see last Friday's Yvon Durelle-Tony Anthony rematch on the grounds that they had seen that picture before. If there were any thoughts among the fight fans that Friday's go between Anthony and Durelle was merely the second installment of a new serial, then Mr. Anthony settled them in convincing fashion when he registered a seventh-round T.K.O. at Madison Square Garden. I didn't want anybody to think that this might develop into a series. Tony chuckled afterwards in his dressing room. I really think like fighting out there, to fight. As in their first meeting in Detroit nine months ago Durelle forced the fight but kept running into Anthony's great left hand all the way. Anthony almost had him in the sixth when he gave the Baile St. Anne light-heavyweight terrific lacing but the bell came to the rescue of the game Maritimer, it was Anthony's continual barrage of left jabs and hooks that enabled him to pile up a commanding edge before the seventh the only round that Durelle won was the first, hooking and jabbing with the left, Anthony sometimes landed a half a dozen blows without a reply. Durelle was really shook up badly in the sixth but surprised all by answering the bell for the seventh round. All Durelle offered to the public that had been urged to see him perform was a useless sort of left jab. He pawed around the ring shuffling and starting here there while Anthony in a puzzled way tried to figure him out. Tony fought as though he thought Durelle had a battery in his mitt as he would move in, get him into trouble then move out again giving Durelle a chance to recover. It almost took a pull-out at times to keep Durelle on his feet and he looked as though he would have preferred the chance of being hung up on a hook like a ham in a butcher shop. After Anthony seemed to assure himself that there was nothing in Durelle's mitts but ten fingers he moved him to pile up the fight to a finish. Durelle who is reputed to be a heavy puncher didn't show any good samples in the fight, he
