The Teacher

Who advised her pupils to strengthen their minds by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, appreciated the truth that bodily health is essential to mental vigor. For persons of delicate and feeble constitution, whether young or old, this medicine is remarkably beneficial. Be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring and fall I take a number of bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and am greatly benefited."—Mrs. James H. Eastman, Stoneham, Mass.

"I have taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla with great benefit to my general health."—Miss Thirza L. Crear, Palmyra, Md.

"My daughter, twelve years of age, has suffered for the past year from

General Debility.

A few weeks since, we began to give her Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Her health has greatly improved."—Mrs. Harriet H. Battles, South Chelmsford, Mass.

"About a year ago I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for debility and neuralgia resulting from malarial exposure in the army. I was in a very bad condition, but six bottles of the Sarsaparilla, with occasional doses of Ayer's Pills, have greatly improved my health. I am now able to work, and feel that I cannot say too much for your excellent remedy."—E. A. Pinkham, South Molunness, Me.

"My daughter, sixteen years old, is using Ayer's Sarsaparilla with good effect."—Rev. S. J. Graham, United Brethren Church, Buckhannon, W. Va.

"I suffered from

Nervous Prostration,

with lame back and headache, and have been much benefited by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I am now 80 years of age, and am satisfied that my present health and prolonged life are due to the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—Lucy Moffitt, Killingly, Conn.

Mrs. Ann H. Farnsworth, a lady 79 years old, So. Woodstock, Vt., writes: "After several weeks' suffering from nervous prostration, I procured a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken half of it my usual health returned."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Love versus Study.

Down by a stream where lilies grow,
And birds carol their sweetest song,
A pensive lad was wont to go,
And wander all the evening long.

A student diligent was he,
Until a few short days ago;
First in his class, beloved and free,
He won fast friends and knew no foe.

How great the change, behold him now,
Beating a path among the flowers,
With downcast eyes and saddened brow,
Eve after eve for weary hours.

His feathered friends amid the trees,
Sing merrily their evening praise,
As if to cheer him; but he sees
And hears no music in their lays.

How came he thus to be estranged
From his companions blithe and gay,
And thus to wander there, so changed
In mien, amid youth's bright array?

Has fickle fortune ceased to guide
His steps along the paths of lore?
Has some dear friend or sister died,
The loss of whom he must deplore?

Ah! no, a sorrow greater far,
Than these have made him weep and sigh;
One that will never cease to mar,
The brightest hopes however high.

A simple tale; he chanced one night
To tend a social in the town;
'Twas there the flower received the blight,
Which has thus quickly borne it down.

A pair of blue eyes, dancing bright,
Beneath a wealth of auburn hair,
Was the small cause of this great plight,
And proved more than the youth could bear.

In vain he strove to win a smile,
They only answered with a frown,
And sadder still he saw, the while,
Another win the wished for crown.

And now his friends and teachers kind,
Strive to console his grief, but he
Flees from their presence; and they find
That comforted he will not be.

His dormitory, once so bright
With merriments, is silent now;
His books, which once were his delight,
Dispel no gloom from off his brow.

And now, dear students, warning take,
By this sad tale; though sad, yet true;
Bend to your books, let nothing shake
Your aim; all other things subdue.

For learning is a jealous elf,
Who is content with nothing else
Than your whole mind, and heart, and self;
And grudges even one caress.

Be true to her and she will prove
A blessing, truly good and great;
Give her your mind, your strength and love;
At least until you graduate.
