Rather Hard on His Peers.

MR. DISRAELI once made the following uncomplimentary remark on English Peers:
"We owe the English peerage to three sources—The spoliation of the Church, the open and flagrant sale of its honours by the elder Stuarts, and the borough-mongering of our own times. These are the three main sources of the existing peerage of England, and, in my opinion, disgraceful ones." Mr. Disraeli is now Earl Beaconsfield, and with change of name, perhaps, a change of opinion has come; but still the above extract remains as a historical study.

Revival in the Sheep Interest.

There are at present more calls for the names of raisers of pure-blood sheep, than for a long time. A short time ago, a gentleman wished to know where he could purchase several car loads of the best Merinos, mostly rams for shipment to the Southwest.
Not only is there a revival as regards the number of sheep to be raised, but a strong tendency to grow only those of the best breeds. The "boom" in sheepraising, as the slang of the day has it, is a healthy one and one to be encouraged, moreover it seems likely to last for an indefinite period of time.—American Agriculturist.

Learning to Sew.

To be handy with the needle, is one of the sterling accomplishments of every educated woman. To be able to take the "stitch in time," is worth all the time and trouble that are required to learn the art. Like walking, reading, and the many other things which we come to do without special thought, the learning to sew is a slow process, and should be begun while the child is still young. The girl should not only have the use of the thread, needles, and patchwork, but be instructed how to take the stitches, turn the corners, and do the various things connected with needle-work. We are not excluding the boys in our remarks, because they need to learn to thread a needle, and do general sewing. Men are many times so situated, that they must depend upon themselves for their necessary sewing. Even if it is an age of sewing machines, it is best that all children should learn to use the simple, common old fashioned kind, which can never be wholly superseded. The amusement and occupation that sewing furnishes little folks, afford sufficient reason why all mothers should see that their girls, and boys too, learn to sew—but the very practical use of the needle in after life, is the principal thing after all.—American Agriculturist.

Sitting Up With Her.

She was expecting him on Sunday night and the parlor curtains were down, the old folks notified that it was healthy to go to bed at eight o'clock, and Johnny bribed with a cent, permits himself to be tucked away at sundown. He sneaked up the patch, one eye on the dog, and the other watching for the "old man," who didn't like him any too well, gave a faint knock at the door, and it was opened and he was escorted into the parlor. He said he couldn't stay but a minute. She wanted to know how his mother was; if his father had returned from York State; if his brother Bill's rheumatism was any better; and he went over and sat down on the sofa, so as not to strain his voice. The conversation flagged, and he played with his hat and she nibbed at the sofa tidi. He finally said it was a beautiful evening, and she replied that her grandfather predicted a snow storm. He said he guessed it wouldn't snow as the moon wasn't crooked enough to hang a powder horn on the end, and she said she didn't believe it would either.
This mutual understanding seemed to give each other courage, and he wanted to know if she had seen Bill Jones lately. She hadn't she said, and she didn't want to.
Then they went on talking about the donation visit which was to be given to Elder Berry, and he carelessly dropped his hand on hers—his right hand, while his left arm sneaked along the sofa and got behind her shoulders. She pretended not to notice it, and he looked down at his boots, and wanted to know if she thought mutton tallow rotted out boots faster than lard and lampblack. She couldn't say, but she had an idea that it did. He had commenced to lock fingers with her, when she discovered something ailed the lamp.
She rose up, and turned the light down a half, making the room look dim. It took him five minutes to get hold of her fingers again, and she pretended to want to draw her hand away all the time. After a long pause he lowered his voice to a whisper, and said he didn't see what made folks love each other. She bit her handkerchief and admitted her ignorance. He said that he could name a dozen young men who were going to get married right away, and his left arm fell down and gave her a hug.
Ah, me! We have all been there, and who of us cared a cent when the old clock struck twelve, and we five miles from home?

Signor Carlandi claims that Shakespeares Roman dramas form a trilogy, in which the principal object is not human passion, but the grand figure of Rome. In "Coriolanus" we have Rome in her youth, full of fierce energy and a prey to factions arising from caste. In "Julius Caesar" the struggle for supremacy between rival leaders menaces Rome's prosperity. In "Antony and Cleopatra" personal egotism prevails, and the sentiment of patriotism has almost died away.

The Rev. Professor Flint, who lately visited America, in addressing the Divinity Class of the University of Edinburgh on the subject of religious thought in the United States, said he did not see what the prospects of Church union were in a land which had no established Church.

THE EARTHQUAKE IN AUSTRIA.—Fresh shocks of earthquake occurred at Agram, Croatia, at noon yesterday, and many houses fell, causing a most fearful panic.
The session of the Diet is suspended on account of the danger. The losses by the earthquake on Tuesday are estimated at 3,000,000 florins, without reckoning the damage done to the churches. Reports of havoc caused by the earthquake have been received at Agram from the whole surrounding country.

Fashion Notes.

All cuffs are narrow.
Trains are greatly shortened.
Matador is the newest shade of red.
Gloves for full dress are as long as ever.
Stripes are very fashionable for children.
Sarah Bernhardt's fancies are all the fashion.

Gros grain silk and faille have gone out of date.

Driving cloaks are long, loose ulsters of cheviot.

Matador red is the most vivid shade of that color.

The driving cloak is to take the place of the ulster.

Large sleeves, or elbow sleeves, are worn in cloaks.

Satin bonnets are ornamented to excess with beads.

Little people are again dressed in bright, gay colors.

Green and brown are favorite combinations of color.

Plush is the favorite trimming for jackets and cloaks.

High ruffs of lace, both black and white, will be worn.

Woven feather bands will be used for trimming dressy warps.

Fichus of white net will take the place of those of mull and lace.

Figured and rough-surfaced cloths are preferred for winter cloaks.

Silver and gold woven and spangled tulle will be worn for ball dresses.

Fever and Ague.

Are you troubled with Ague, Chills and Fever, Bilious Fever, Remittent or Intermittent fever, Night Sweats or any disease that comes from Malaria or disordered Liver and Hot Suns? If so, procure a bottle of Green's Ague Conqueror, which is an acetic extract of strong tonic roots, combined with Sulphate of Magnesia, etc., and positively contains no Quinine, Arsenic or other poisons. It purifies the blood, cleanses the liver, spleen and other secre-tory organs so effectually that the chills will not return. We have never found any case of Fever and Ague it will not cure. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. One large bottle has cured as many as five in one family. Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.
