FARMERS AND OTHERS.

We laugh, you laugh, they laugh, in fact everybody laughs except our competitors, they cry out against us for selling Goods so cheap.

The Public Cannot Help But Laugh

To think any Firm would be simple enough to take the credit from us for selling Men's Boy's and Children's Clothing at the wonderful prices at which we offer them. Let us say once for all, we will not raise our prices to suit our competitors, but will lower them still lower to suit our customers. Without a doubt we can sell from 10 to 2 per cent cheaper than any firm on P. E. I.

Our competitors say they have br-o ken up our business. We are sorry, they know that to be a false statement or they would laugh over that.

TO FARMERS AND OTHERS

We have never done so much businessas this year, Feb. and March our trade increased 40 per cent.; April, 77 per cent.; so if that is loosing trade, we don't see it, but competitors know it and would like to kick us out of town, out to the country where we belong, but we are here to stay to look after the Interests of Farmers and Others.

Why we do the trade, we stand in with our customers knowing their interests to be ours, so we help one another. We are farmers' boys, but we get there all the same. We do more advertising than usual because it as well as ourselves. If we can do from 25 per cent to 75 per cent more business because we do a little extra advertising, we leave it to the purchasing public if it won't

PAYS THE FARMER

Pay them to Patronize Us

We used to a k bigger profit than we do now because we had to pay a certain firm half our profits. We don't do that now, but

Divide it with Farmers and Others

Physicians and Nervines BOTH FAILED!

NERVOUS PROSTRATION Of Years' Standing

CURED BY SKODA'S!

GENTS:—Your President, Dr. G. C. Kilgore, will recall the fact that last June when in the City Drug Store in your City, I told him that on account of extreme nervousness I had been unable to attend to business for several years, and that I was then resting from all labor—mental and physical. I was trusting in Nature as a last resort, as Physicians and Nervines had utterly failed in my case.

At that time I was troubled with Nervousness so badly that I could not sleep an hour some nights. I would have a crawling or creeping sensation in my limbs, that was more unendurable than any pain. My Brain would feel tired and confused, if I tried to think upon any subject for ten minutes.

Dr. Kilgore gave me six bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY, and three boxes of LITTLE TABLETS, telling me they would greatly help me and he thought would cure me.

I took the medicine according to directions and have seen no symptoms of Nervousness since taking the fourth bottle. I sleep well. Nerves are strong. Eat heartily, and am well. I have told scores what it has done for me. Resp'ly yours,

Portland, Me. I. M. HARMON.

Religious Census re the English Church.

To the Editor of the Guardian:

SIR,—In looking over the different opinions of the clergymen in regard to the religious census of English Church members on the Island, the falling off is undoubtedly partly due to emigration of adherents to the Northwest, but, in my opinion, there is another very important reason which partly accounts for the falling off in the country parishes, and that is, some of our city priests countenancing and adopting the wearing of vestments, cope, mitre, advocating private confession, placing lighted candles around the dead, whilst in church bowing to the altar, crossing themselves at different parts of the service, all of which are very closely connected with the Roman Church, so much so that Protestant members of the Church of England are becoming alarmed and, in many instances, joining other denominations. The following extracts will explain some of the very dangerous practices which the Ritualists are advocating at the present time:

SACRAMENTAL CONFESSION (by Charles Hastings Collette)—The following review of this work by a prominent Protestant controversialist will interest many:—"In the Newbery House Magazine appeared an article on the above subject by a clergyman who has had the effrontery to style himself the Rev. 'Father' Black. Mr. Collette tracks him to the very vestibule of St. Peter's at Rome, when he shows that neither the Holy Scriptures, the ancient Fathers, English divines, nor the Prayer Book lends any countenance to this practice. But, on the contrary, whenever it is alluded to by Christian writers, it is condemned in the strongest terms as being fruitful of flagrant immorality in the confessor and in the confessed; whilst the pretension to the power of forgiving sins is a blasphemous usurpation of the prerogative of God. There is a shocking quotation from the Catholic Times of November 20th, 1891, which says: 'By that means the old detestation of the confessional will be killed out or confined to a few fanatics, and thus in a most important particular the Church of England, without knowing or intending it, will be doing our work."

THE MITRE.—The British Protestant says: "The reason of God's ordaining that the Old Testament priest should minister with head covered is simple and instructive. Aaron, the ceremonial high priest of Israel, was designed to be a type of Christ. But an Angelican or any other bishop can be no such type. The head of the Aaronic priest was covered in token of his official subjection to Jehovah, and as 'a figure of Him that was to come'—the Mediator between God and men. Further, the New Testament forbids that a man shall cover his head when worshipping God. 'Every man praying or prophesying, having his head covered, dishonoreth his head' (1 Cor. xi. 3). It is an act of daring disobedience, therefore, to wear a 'mitre,' 'biretta,' or any other ecclesiastical head covering during God's worship. The reformed Church of England, moreover, has spoken on this subject, and, so far as the canons of 1603 carry any weight, with no uncertain voice. Thus runs the Eighteenth Canon:—"No man shall cover his head in the church or chapel in the time of divine service, except he have some infirmity; in which case let him wear a night-cap or coif.'"

BISHOP WILBERFORCE ON ROMANIZING IN THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.—The late Bishop Wilberforce could occasionally, High Churchman though he was, be very severe in his censures of extreme Romanizing in the Church of England. He inhibited Dr. Pusey from preaching in the Diocese of Oxford for a prolonged period, and wrote to him on November 30th, 1850: "You seem to me to be habitually assuming the place and doing the work of a Roman confessor, and not that of an English clergyman. Now I so firmly believe that of the curses of Popery this is the crowning curse, that I cannot allow voluntarily within my charge the continuance of any ministry which is infected by it." (Life of Bishop Wilberforce, Vol. II., p.

EUCHARISTIC VESTMENTS.—By the daily press we learn that Dean Gregory, of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, has given a very decided reply to the question whether he was about to introduce, as rumour stated, eucharistic vestments in the cathedral services. He said that he neither had any such intention nor would he ever be a participator in such a movement.

The fact that all the lower provinces have decreased should afford food for very serious consideration for our bishop, clergy, and laity, the latter being staunch royal low churchmen. Most of our clergy on the Island are thorough Protestants, and none doubt but that with better organization and less ritualistic practice we shall be on the increase. What we want is push and more friendliness among the visible members, remembering that the one true church is only known by God which consists of all true Christians from every denomination.

She met death when returning from a visit to her husband, who is staying in the city. The cause of her death is unknown.

The Carslake Stakes.

MONTREAL, June 6.—A great sensation was created in sporting circles this evening by an attachment being issued on the money in the bank belonging to the Carslake's sweepstakes. The move is made by the local government, who seem determined to down everything in the shape of a lottery.

Miss Willard Rides a Bicycle.

CHICAGO, June 2.—Miss Frances E. Willard, President of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, is learning to ride a bicycle. Her mother's advancing age makes impossible the usual trip to a summer resort, and as exercise must be obtained, the idol of a multitude of women will take her daily constitutional on a pneumatic wheel.

Invited to Get Out.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 1.—The Presbyterian General Assembly adjourned sine die today. The assembly of 1893 will meet in Washington at the New York Avenue church.

At yesterday's session a resolution was adopted declaring that "Our church holds that the inspired word as it came from God is without error," and that "the vow of ordination recognizes that the Bible is the only infallible rule of faith and practice" and it was recommended that those officers of the church who have ceased to hold this view should seek a congenial place outside of the denomination, without waiting for discipline.

P. E. I. to the Front.

The result of the competition for the Cornell fellowships and scholarships is announced, and as on previous occasions the graduates of Dalhousie University have carried off a large share of the honors. Victor Coffin, B. A. of '89, has been awarded a travelling fellowship, which will enable him to complete his studies abroad. D. D. Hugh, also a P. E. Island boy, a graduate of '91, has also obtained a fellowship, while A. R. Hill, of Colchester, a graduate of '92, has won a scholarship which will enable him to prosecute his post-graduate course at Cornell. The competitors were numerous and the competition severe. The success of the Dalhousie boys reflects the highest credit upon her professional staff.—Hfx. Her.

A Pitcher Goes Mad.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.—Harness, the pitcher of the University of Michigan Baseball club, is at St. Joseph's hospital suffering from temporary insanity. The doctors say that this derangement was caused by overwork. Harness and other members of the ball team arrived here a few days ago. During the trip East the other members of the ball team noticed how strangely Harness was acting, and when they arrived here they had him taken to the hospital. Yesterday morning at 5 o'clock he arose, and putting on only his underclothes, jumped from the window of his room to the ground and ran a distance of two miles through the streets. Then he recovered his senses and gave himself up to a policeman. To the policeman he said that he had escaped from some hospital, but he couldn't tell which one. The hospital authorities had meantime sent out an alarm, and Harness was returned. Harness entered the university last fall. He is 28 years of age. But little is known of him except that he lost all his family in a very short time.

The Dead Lives.

A WOMAN WHO WAS THOUGHT TO HAVE BEEN BURIED AT AMHERST RETURNS TO HER HALIFAX HOME.

At Amherst, after a short illness, Mrs. King, of Halifax, leaving a husband and four children to mourn her loss.—Boston papers please copy.

The above notice appeared in the Halifax papers some six weeks ago, but, strange to say, the woman referred to therein turned up at her home last night on Gottingen street alive. Of course her presence at the home of her husband is a great surprise. Mrs. King has gone on frequent journeys to the country, remaining at times for weeks. The last time she left, and which has resulted in so sensational an ending, she absented herself for some months. Word was received of her death, and thinking it was genuine the usual notices were inserted in the papers. Why Mrs. King remained away from home for such a length of time without notifying her friends is not explained.—Mail, June 4th.

A Strange Affair.

THE SUPPOSED ENDORSER OF A DRAFT DENIES ALL KNOWLEDGE.

It was stated in the Transcript on Thursday evening that Mr. Walter Taylor former manager of the Royal Hotel, had assumed the management of the Belmont Hotel, St. John. This is not the case, for on June 2nd, Mrs. Wallace received a telegram from him requesting a re-appointment as her manager. This she declined. On the same day, she received a letter from Mr. T. L. Bourke, liquor merchant, St. John, stating that he had given Mr. Taylor $11.80 on her account, and asking if it was all right. Mrs. Wallace answered, saying that she did not owe Taylor anything, and that he (Mr. Bourke) had better collect his money as she would not be responsible. A draft for $10 was drawn by Taylor this morning presented through the bank of Montreal to Mrs. Wallace for acceptance. This draft was apparently endorsed by T. L. Bourke, Mrs. Wallace was suspicious of the writing and telegraphed to Mr. T. L. Bourke the liquor merchant who denied any knowledge of the affair. Mr. Beddome wired the bank at St. John to take proceedings on the matter, but has as yet received no reply. Of course it is possible that some other T. L. Bourke may be the endorsed.—Trans.

Undervaluation and Fraud.

SEIZURE OF A BEAUTIFUL STALLION SHIPPED FROM NOVA SCOTIA.

A blooded horse was entered at the custom house in Vanceboro, Me., April 15, consigned to Maurice Brown of Boston. Mr. Brown made a statement that the value of the horse was $150, but the customs officials, believing this was undervalue, gave information to Special Agent Converse J. Smith, who proceeded to investigate. Special Inspector Fitzwilliams traced the horse to Westfield, this state, where he was found on the Crane stock farm, in possession of the owner, John S. Brown. Subsequently Special Agent Smith caused investigations to be made in Nova Scotia, from which place he had been shipped, and found that the animal had been sold in August, 1891, for $500, and in December for $550. With this information the equine was seized last Saturday, and formally turned over to Collector Baily of the Hartford district. The seized horse is a beautiful stallion, well bred but not registered; and therefore not eligible for free entry. The seizure was made for undervaluation and intentional fraud, and the animal will undoubtedly be forfeited and sold at auction. —Thursday's Boston Herald.

Suffering and Death in the Pittsburg Oil Regions.

PITTSBURG, June 5.—The oil region was visited by an awful disaster by flood and fire this morning early. Oil creek overflowed its banks, and Titusville and Oil City were inundated. The people fled to the hills, and many buildings were swept away. Several oil refineries were struck by lightning, causing an extensive fire at Titusville. The loss cannot be estimated. Sixteen dead bodies have been recovered at Titusville. The fire at Oil City was caused by a tank of gasoline exploding by a spark from a locomotive. The waters of the creek were covered with oil, which caught fire and spread the flames through the city. Many people were burned to death. Nearly 200 bodies so far have been recovered from the flood. For miles up the creek from Oil City everything is in ruins. Hundreds of families are homeless. Over a hundred dwellings were burned in Oil City. The loss is estimated at from $750,000 to a million.
