

Polio Patients Enjoy Hospitality

Nine winners who did not have to take a chance came off the Midway yesterday morning 'popped and full of pop, carrying the spoils of victory. The kiddies were polio patients from the San who had been the guests of Bill Lynch and his people who went all-out to give their guests a good time. For an hour of human kindness and understanding was mingled with the efforts of those in attendance, to please. Ponies, monkeys, kangaroos and funnyfaces in mirrors were all mixed up with popcorn, candied apples and tin horns. The climax was reached when each child was presented with a huge teddy bear presented in several cases nearly as big as the recipient, along with a box of chocolates. The nurses in attendance, as well as the members of the Rotary Club who arranged the party, were also presented with chocolates. It was just another of those red-letter days for which Bill Lynch and his people are to be thanked on behalf of the kiddies, and it is difficult to say who enjoyed it most, the Midway folk, or the little folk.

Sudden Death Of Mrs. Reg. H Morris

Word of the sudden death in Interlaken, Switzerland, of Mrs. Reginald H. Morris of this city came as a distinct shock to her many friends here. She had gone to Europe in March and had expected to return in November. The late Mrs. Morris was born here, July 4, 1892, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Watson. She married the late Mr. Reginald H. Morris, of Toronto, who predeceased her 16 years ago. She received her education at West Kent School and Prince of Wales College and was keenly interested in the work of the I. O. D. E. as well as being a member of St. Peter's Cathedral. She is survived by a daughter, Sheila, Mrs. Ross Martin, Montreal, and two sons, Robert Morris, Bale Comeau, Quebec, and John, of this city, who is associated with the Travel Bureau here. Also surviving are two brothers, Norman of Montreal, and Russell, of Ottawa. The remains will be forwarded to this city for burial and definite arrangements will be announced at a later date.

TOKYO, Aug. 7—(Reuters)—Newspaper reporters claim to a right to protect sources of information were rejected by the supreme court Wednesday. The court ruled that Kiyoshi Ishii, reported for the Tokyo Daily Newspaper Astri, had erred in refusing to reveal the sources of a story his newspaper published three years ago exposing a tax scandal.

Visiting Artist Reveals In Landscape Charm Of Island

Mr. Campbell Tinning, Montreal artist, is currently visiting Prince Edward Island doing a series of paintings. He has been here since Monday night and plans to leave on Monday for St. Andrews, N. B. Mr. Tinning has kept himself quite busy during his few days on the island painting various scenes. He has done water color paintings of the Provincial Building, the Travel Bureau and old houses along Great George Street, Sydney Street with St. Dunstan's Cathedral, Green Gables, Keppoch Beach and other places. His work on the island was viewed by Yousof Karah, internationally known photographer, who was high in his praise of the work being turned out by Mr. Tinning. Mr. Karah saw one of Mr. Tinning's paintings in the Travel Bureau window and stopped to admire it. Mr. Tinning has visited every other province in Canada and he described Prince Edward Island as "the most paintable part of Canada." The Regina-born artist said the island has "an atmosphere and charm which is quite different from the bigness of the remainder of Canada."

Delighted With Island

He was amazed "that artists haven't painted more. The red soil," he said, "makes one think it would make a bizarre contrast with green and blue but on the other hand it is not. The scale of colors are extremely provocative to the imagination." "There is so much here for the landscape painter I am surprised there is not a school of art such as the famous Barbizon School in France," Mr. Tinning said. "Like Barbizon, you have the farms, the people and the landscape." "Prince Edward Island's scenery is not spectacular but it is a more universally beautiful and quiet landscape than I have found elsewhere," the artist said. He was amazed at the number of "well-kept, tidy farms" which the island has. Mr. Tinning was an artist for the Canadian Army in World War Two. He was on duty in Canada, England, Italy and Holland with the historical section. He was commissioned by the Royal Bank to do some paintings in Prince Edward Island and also plans an article on the island for the Ford Motor Company. While in Charlottetown, Mr. Tinning made his headquarters in the Prince Edward Island Travel Bureau office.

by service in Mt. Stewart United Church, conducted by the Rev. W. N. Byers. The pall bearers were Alfred Affleck, Robie Bond, Alex MacGregor, Dr. J. D. Reddin, Reggie MacDonald and Roland Macdonald. Interment was in Mt. Stewart Cemetery.

The new store is carrying a full "paper" line and in addition has stocked school supplies to be ready for the opening of school next month. Other items in stock include greeting cards, playing cards, pencils and all the usual articles associated with the successful operation of a stationery business. Mr. Kemp's long association with similar lines is an assurance that his customers will receive the best and most courteous service.

Find Television Work Exciting But Most Interesting

Television already reaches an average public of some 20,000,000 persons in the United States and its entertainment and educational possibilities are being steadily improved and developed, states Miss Betty McCabe, of New York City, who is enjoying a brief holiday visit here with her aunt, Mrs. W. Chester S. McClure, and Mr. McClure. Miss McCabe has been engaged in television activities in New York since 1948 and now produces "live" and filmed commercials for television, as well as radio programmes. During the war Miss McCabe was a member of a U. S. O. theatrical group which was the first unit to work with the soldiers overseas in assisting them in putting on their own shows. She served in this capacity and European and Pacific areas and after the war initiated a group of civilian actress technicians in the occupational areas. So successful was the work accomplished in this direction that a motion picture of the group's activities was made, starring Betty Grables. It was entitled "Call Me Mister" and proved a popular hit. Miss McCabe also had theatrical experience with George Kaufman's shows out of New York, before entering the television field. She has appeared in T.V. broadcasts but for the most part her work is of a directional nature. In New York alone there are several T.V. networks and reception is now available in practically all the large American centres. The medium Miss McCabe speaks of is much more exciting than either radio or motion pictures. A number of Hollywood stars are now entering this new field, and finding it just as difficult as less experienced artists. There is no opportunity for cutting and retaking scenes, and the whole technique is different. Miss McCabe has visited Prince Edward Island on previous occasions, assisting in putting on friends and acquaintances here. Her father, Mr. Harold McCabe, now resides in Boston.

Brilliant Student In Handicrafts

Vada Seaman, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Seaman, Springfield Lot 67 and a student at the School for the Deaf at Halifax, appears to have applied herself very diligently to her studies, according to the success met with at the Exhibition.

Three of her productions in handicraft took first prize in as many divisions and each passed under the scrutinizing eye of many experienced lady experts in addition to the judges. A shopping bag and spread, both prettily designed and finished neatly and with extreme care as to detail, were admired by hundreds. A variety of assorted pieces of smaller handicraft were equally well received and favourably commented upon.

With the Crowds At The "Ex."

If a Gallup poll was conducted on the popularity of horses, Walter Kelly's Johnny Kalmuck would take his share of votes. When he won the middle heat of his class on Thursday night with his characteristic wild home-stretch rush of speed from the rear of the field, the crowd gave him an ovation. When he turns on the heat, his competition looks mediocre. But he is not always able to turn it on and at such times he's just another race-horse.

Our Exhibition can be likened to recess time at school. For this one week Islanders, escape from the monotony of their daily jobs and in a figurative way romp around a bit at the fair. Its almost a family affair, this big provincial show of ours. Where else can you go anywhere, where so many people know so many other people.

Miss Bertie Stewart, year-round office secretary of the Exhibition Association, is possibly the busiest woman in the Province this strenuous week. Miss Stewart moves from the uptown offices of the Association for the period of the show and acts as a trouble shooter for all and sundry while the fair is underway. She handles dozens of snags every hour, hands out information to the public, and meantime keeps a finger on records and statistics. Through it all she maintains her poise and keeps her department running smoothly.

Notwithstanding all running to and fro, and the heavy movement of people to and from Charlottetown every day, only a few minor accidents have been reported during the first four days of the week. Neither has there been any serious disorders of any kind. A few children have been lost temporarily, and quickly restored to the family fold. This is a record which Islanders as a whole share, and its a good one, if we do say it ourselves.

If one is curious about or interested in any of the horses performing at the track, consult Doug MacLeod. Doug has more knowledge of breeding and records at his finger-tips than most people you will meet in a days work. It is equally true to say that he has probably attended as many Provincial race meets as any other race follower you can name. An imperturbable onlooker of every heat, he nevertheless gets solid enjoyment out of every event on the program.

To win gracefully, and to lose without rancor, very fairly — we believe — sums up Dr. Preston MacIntyre's philosophic approach to the horse racing game. The Montague owner maintains a new mean between undue elation, and any extreme of depression, come weal or woe. There are critics and critics.

Fine Performances By Famous R.C.M.P. Band

Counter attractions did not deter those who enjoy good band music from filling the bleachers and the surrounding territory at Memorial Field yesterday to hear the famous R. C. M. P. Band from Ottawa, in their initial appearance here.

Mayor J. D. Stewart opened the proceedings at 3 p. m. with a few words of welcome and appreciation that Charlottetown had been included in their tour, and that the same had been timed to coincide with the other attractions of Old Home Week.

The Band, which left its home base, Ottawa, on July 26th, has filled engagements in more than half of the 35 towns and cities on their itinerary including half of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland. On completing engagements here and at Summerside, the musicians will tour the North Shore of New Brunswick, completing their round of activities at Grandy, Que., on August 24.

Inspector Cooper, who is in charge of this mobile unit, expressed himself as well pleased with the reception the band has met with in their visit to the Atlantic Provinces. Speaking of the Charlottetown engagement in particular, he was glad to have the band here as part of the festivities which appear to dominate citizens and visitors alike during the week.

The concert at 8 p. m. at the Exhibition grounds was a rare addition to a well-filled programme, which was heard with great pleasure and keenest enjoyment by the vast throng that filled grandstand, bleachers and much of the centre field.

This most unusual and versatile band of musicians, appear to be able to treat with equal ease and precision, a vigorous number for marching men or the clever and subdued tones of close harmony.

Inspector N. W. Churchill and the Personnel of "L" Detachment R. C. M. P., were hosts to the visiting Bandmen from R. C. M. P. Headquarters and friends throughout the province at a splendidly arranged ball at the Charlottetown last evening. The scarlet uniforms of the officers and men, mingled in a kaleidoscope of rare splendor with the beautiful gowns of the ladies, presented a picture of rare beauty.

The dance music was provided by an orchestra consisting of members of "Bill" Gillespie — everyone knows Bill — is of the stripe who can base a reproach on sound straight-to-the-point judgment. He is one of the most constant patrons of the race game, and noted for an uncompromising defense of his own well-reasoned idea of things in general. He never hesitates between black and white, and then ends by calling it neutral gray.

All of which leads up to saying that Bill thinks the big show was a good show — and it goes without saying that if he thought otherwise he would say so with the right emphasis.

members of the R. C. M. P. band, and was in keeping with the high degree of efficiency reached by the band as a unit. Opening with a Fanfare and "O Canada," which was followed by a few words of appreciation by Inspector Cooper, the orchestra successively dealt with the following programme: March, "The Gladiators Farewell," Slavonic Rhapsody No. 2 (Friedman), Song, "The Loveliest Night of the Year," March, "Preciosa," Paraphrase, "Smoke gets in your eyes," Song, "Begin the Beguine."
