THAT WAS YEARS AGO.—This is the way Melba was dressed when she went to Paris to take her first music lessons: "Her plain woolen dress, too short in the skirt, looked like last year's cut, and the obscure provincial town, the combination of colors showed that she had not the least notion of what taste is in dress, and her hat looked as if it had been made for any one else's head but hers."

Governor Hastings, of Pennsylvania, has received 8,000 applications for positions in the public service, which would indicate that no office in that vicinity will have to go after the man with a search light.

It has just been discovered that G. Washington in his youth wrote verses that were very poor to various sweethearts. Was this why they turned him down and he had to marry a rich widow to even things up?

"If the glory of woman is her hair," Aunt Nancy Garrison, of Holly Springs, Miss., must be the most glorious woman in America. She has eleven feet of hair as it drops on to the floor, and when the kinks are straightened out it amounts to twenty.

WHERE WOMEN HAVE SUFFRAGE.

The countries of the world where women already have some suffrage have an area of over 15,000,000 square miles, and the population is over 350,000,000.

In Great Britain women vote for all elective officers, except members of parliament.

In France the women teachers elect women members on all boards of education.

In Sweden women vote for all elective officers, except representatives; also indirectly for members of the House of Lords.

In Norway they have school suffrage.

In Ireland the women vote for the Harbor Boards, Poor Law Guardians, and in Belfast for municipal officers.

In Italy widows vote for members of parliament.

In the Madras Presidency and the Bombay Presidency (Hindustan) the women exercise the right of suffrage in all municipalities.

Women have municipal suffrage in Cape Colony, which rules a million square miles.

Municipal woman suffrage rules in New Zealand, and they vote at Parliamentary elections also.

In Pennsylvania a law was passed in 1839 under which women vote on local improvements by signing or refusing to sign petitions therefor.

In Wyoming women have voted on the same terms with men since 1870. The convention in 1889 to form a state constitution unanimously inserted a provision securing them full suffrage. This constitution was ratified by the voters at a special election by about three-fourths majority. Congress refused to require the disfranchisement of women, and admitted the state July 10, 1890.

In Colorado women voted for the first time last year, 1894, at the recent election.

In the United States twenty-three states and territories have given women some form of suffrage.

School suffrage in various degrees is granted to women in Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, and Wisconsin.

In Arkansas and Missouri women vote, by petition, on liquor licenses, in many cases.

In Delaware suffrage is exercised by women in several municipalities.

In Kansas they have equal suffrage with men at all municipal elections.

In Montana they vote on all local taxation.

In New York they can and do vote at school elections. The question of the constitutionality of the law is still undecided. They vote also in many places in this State on local improvements, such as gas and electric street lighting, paving, sewerage, and municipal bonds.

Canada has given the right of municipal suffrage to widows and spinners possessing the necessary property qualifications in several of her provinces as follows:

Ontario has given her women both municipal and school suffrage. Recently the city of Toronto elected three women on the public school board, one of them heading the polls by a very large majority. In London, Ont., there are 600 women voters.

In this connection it is noteworthy that in 1891 the mayor and nine out of eighteen aldermen also five out of seven trustees, were endorsed by the W. C. T. U., and elected.

The new city council inaugurated its work by devotional exercises.

British Columbia women—and married women—if wives of householders, are allowed to vote for school trustees, and may also serve as such.

Mainland women have municipal school suffrage, but are not eligible as school trustees.

New Brunswick has municipal franchise for women, and women may also serve as school commissioners.

Nova Scotia women who are spinners, or widows possessing the property qualifications, may vote for municipal officers, but have no school suffrage.

demands it wise in letting large contracts to specify that only Canadian workmen shall be employed—a policy that even the free traders "organ" must endorse. Then why not protect the P. E. Island workmen. Always buy home-made goods in preference to the imported article (just don't do it unless it pays you in dollars and cents). Money would not be so tight on P. E. Island today if it were not for the constant drain sent away in payment of bills for machinery, boots, cloth, clothing, etc., that could easily be produced at home. Blue ruin howlers prate about the blighting N. P., but no policy will make a country unless the people themselves have some home sense and enterprise about them. People who will buy an imported buggy that will wear about three years, because they can get it $5.00 less than a home-made one that will last four times as long, ought to be hard up.
