Highlights Of Festive Week

Planned to assist in starting off new tourist season a bit earlier, give business a boost and last but not least, give our own citizens as well as visitors an opportunity to enjoy themselves, business people interested in seeing Charlottetown prosper are again staging Festive Week which proved so successful last year.

The Central Committee in charge of arrangements are again planning to deck the city out in flags, etc., and they are issuing an appeal to all citizens to decorate their places of business and homes with flags, bunting, lights, etc. Every effort is being made to have a good midway on market square. The Armed Services are co-operating in providing bands, staging parades, etc., and other organizations are giving wholehearted support to make the celebration successful in every way.

Highlights of this year's celebration will be the Miss P. E. I. contest which will be under the auspices of the Charlottetown Junior Chamber of Commerce, Band Concerts by the various visiting bands, dances in the Armouries, baseball, track and field meets, a combined machinery, decorated bike and float parade, a doll carriage, tricycle and pet parade, rifle shooting competitions, and last but not least the Scots' Night at the forum featuring Highland dancing, pipe bands and the crowning of Miss Prince Edward Island of 1952.

A lot of preliminary work has been done to make Festive Week a real community effort, better provision has been made in case of bad weather and now all that is needed is the enthusiastic support and participation of our citizens. If our good people respond as they did last year an effective and enjoyable time is assured. Everyone should plan now to take part in something Festive Week, and see that friends and relatives are invited over from the mainland to partake of our Island hospitality and entertainment.

Furnish Ottawa With Translation Of Endicott Interview

TORONTO, June 19 — (CP) — The United Church of Canada said today it has sent External Affairs Minister Pearson a translation of an interview Rev. James Endicott is reported to have given in China last spring concerning germ warfare.

Dr. Endicott, formerly a United Church missionary in China, now is head of the Communist-dominated Canadian Peace Congress. He resigned from the Church in 1947. Previous reports of the interview touched off a controversy in Canada but the church took no part in it until today.

Very Rev. Jesse H. Arnup, secretary of the church's board of overseas missions, also released to the press the translation of the article, distributed from Mukden April 12 by the New China News Service and published in the newspaper Tien Fung.

Dr. Arnup said the translation was made by Dr. Leslie Kilborn, one of the church's missionaries who recently left China. It quotes Dr. Endicott as saying in the interview: "The insects carrying the many bacteria which are being dumped on the northeast (China) by the U. S. A. were very possibly produced in the Canadian plant."

"In the Canadian province of Alberta, in a place called 'Na-Fei-Deh' there has been established a plant for the large-scale production of bacteria. Here they are artificially propagating every kind of bacteria and insects harmful to man, domestic animals and agricultural products."

United Nations officials have denied that germ warfare has been used in the Far East.

OTTAWA, June 19 — (CP) — The Justice Department is expected to consider a new statement by Dr. James Endicott in its study of whether he can be prosecuted in Canadian courts, officials said today.

The chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Council said last night in Winnipeg that Canadian and British troops helped Americans "needlessly slaughter" many Communist prisoners on Koje Island.

The Justice Department has been considering whether he could be charged under the Criminal Code for statements he has made about the United Nations alleged use of germ warfare in China.

He denied after returning from China that he linked Canada with his allegations.

Physical Drill Performance By Pupils Of Rochford Square

"What we saw tonight was a real part of education," Dr. L. W. Shaw, Deputy Minister and Director of Education, said last night in congratulating those responsible for the physical education demonstration put on by pupils of Rochford Square School in the grounds back of the school.

Dr. Shaw said that the child did not just take his mind to school. For this reason the demonstration showed the physical and the mental working together and when the body, mind and soul are integrated then there is real education. He offered a tribute to Miss Felice Arsenault, instructor of the children, whose teachings were shown by the aptitude of the pupils and their ability to carry through even the more intricate drills without words of command.

Chairman for the evening was Mrs. J. P. Lantz, of the City School Board, who said the Board was very happy to have the Arsenal to give school children a better and more thorough knowledge of physical training.

Children's Drills The drills were performed by the children of Grades 1 to 10 in the presence of a large number of parents and friends as well as many representatives of the reverend clergy. His Excellency James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown, was present for the first part of the program, but then presented his regrets to Mrs. Lantz at having to leave.

Guindon-Garnhum Wedding The drills were performed by the children of Grades 1 to 10 in the presence of a large number of parents and friends as well as many representatives of the reverend clergy. His Excellency James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown, was present for the first part of the program, but then presented his regrets to Mrs. Lantz at having to leave.

Trinity United Church Charlottetown, was the scene of a very pretty wedding which took place June 11, 1952, when Marion Pearl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis B. Garnhum and Kell Garfield Guindon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Guindon, Charlottetown, were united in marriage.

Rev. H.E.D. Ashford officiated at the double ring ceremony with Mr. Paul Cadmore at the organ. During the signing of the register Miss Kay MacEachern sang "Beacause".

Given in marriage by her father the bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mildred MacKenzie as maid of honour, Miss Ariene Guindon, sister of the groom and Miss Ruth Hickox friend of the bride, as bridesmaids. Mr. Stewart Haley acted as best man, Messrs. Wilfred and Jackie Garnhum, brothers of the bride, and Mr. Joe Murphy were ushers.

The bride looked very charming, gowned in traditional white satin with insets and train of Chantilly lace, her elbow length veil falling from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Her attendants were attired in mauve, Nile green and pale yellow gowns of nylon net over taffeta, with matching Juliet caps, carrying nosegays of contrasting colors. The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding, pink sheer with white accessories and her corsage was white carnations.

The groom's mother, was attired in navy sheer, with white accessories, wearing a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception for upwards of 70 guests was held at the Queen Hotel. The bride's table with its floral arrangements was centred with a three tier wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Guindon left by motor on a honeymoon trip through the United States, the bride travelling in a suit of pink summer wool, her corsage was an orchid.

GOOD LIVESTOCK LONDON — (CP) — A current government report showed Canada was Britain's best customer for pedigreed livestock in 1950. Canada in that year made purchases totalling $94,500. Argentina, Australia and the United States were next among 26 foreign purchasers who paid a total of $543,372.

WOULD DROP TAX VANCOUVER — (CP) — City Council has sent a resolution to the next convention of the federation of mayors at Calgary, urging that private utilities be exempted from income tax on the grounds it is an "unfair discrimination" against transit riders.

Noted Industrialist Formerly Of P. E. I. Dies At Dayton, Ohio

One of America's great industrialists, who was a native of Prince Edward Island, died recently at Dayton, Ohio. He was John A. MacMillan, founder, and until 1945 president and general manager of the Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company.

The late Mr. MacMillan was born in Alberry Plains in 1872, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacMillan. After completing his education at Prince of Wales College, he taught school at Vernon River for a time before going to Denver, Colorado, where he entered the real estate business.

Meanwhile, he had become obsessed with the idea that an airless rubber tire was practicable. When he decided that he had worked out all details in the manufacture of such a tire, he went to Dayton, Ohio, which at that time was the heart of the rubber industry in the United States. There, he established the Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company. So important was Mr. MacMillan's contribution to the rubber-tire industry, that within a comparatively brief period, his firm became known the world over. It did not begin the manufacturing of pneumatic tires until 1916 when various improvements in the manufacture of such tires caused a constantly increasing demand for them.

Mr. MacMillan had been in failing health for several years previous to his death and had undergone a serious operation last fall from which he never fully recovered. He died at Dayton, on June 7.

He is survived by his wife and one sister (Mrs. Elizabeth MacDonal, 32 Pownall Street). The following nieces and nephews also survive: Mrs. Charles MacQuarrie, Rosemeath; Miss Jennie Gordon, Toronto; Miss Elizabeth MacMillan, teacher in Household Economics, Acadia University, Wolfville, N. S.; James Gordon, New Perth; Gordon MacMillan, Alberry Plains and Norman MacMillan, Alberry Plains.

THIRD FRENCH Continued from page 1 are 45,000 French-speaking Canadians centered mostly in Vancouver, New Westminster, the Fraser Valley and Vancouver Island.

Donat Savoie of Vancouver said he feared a decline in French culture in British Columbia. French culture in New England was reported in danger of disappearing.

Laure B. Lussier of Holyoke, Mass., said in 1949 there were 264 French-language elementary schools, orphanages, high schools and colleges. There are two French-language dailies and 10 weeklies.

He said, however, "our French life, although real, is nevertheless on the whole, under-developed. Despite their French origin, Franco-Americans were 'out and out Americans'."

Rev. Thomas M. Landry of Fall River, Mass., said "We now are in a whirlpool of assimilation and rolling with it at an accelerated speed. French-speaking American families "are the slaves, very often the victims, of literature, radio and television which have nothing of things French."

Henri Lallier of Quebec said 81 per cent of Quebec's 4,055,000 population was French-speaking. French-Canadians farmed 80 per cent of Quebec's land, but they occupied secondary places in large and middle-sized industries.

CORK, Ireland, June 19 — (AP) — Six men of a crew of 13 on the 188-ton Spanish trawler Mary Rosa died when a boiler explosion sank the vessel off the south coast of Ireland today. A sister ship, the Mary Blanca, picked up seven survivors.

MONTREAL — (CP) — One of the main regulations of McGill's French Summer School, opening June 27 for six weeks, is that French be spoken at all times. A married student living in residence for instance must converse with his wife only in French.

YARMOUTH, N.S. — (CP) — Fred Nickerson says the model railroad in his attic "just grew." It has hundreds of feet of track, 40 cars, tunnels, bridges, stations and switching panels. The trains whirl around on three different levels and Fred notes: "There's always something new to be studied."
