

THE GREAT RACE

FURTHER DETAILS.

Hanlan Plays With His Opponent!

Time, 26 Minutes 12 Seconds.

Toronto, Nov. 15.

The Evening Telegram publishes the following account of the race: The banks of the river were peopled with a noisy hustling crowd at a very early hour, although the ladies who generally lend such an attractive feature to a University race, on this occasion, were conspicuous by their absence. The fashionable people think these professional races beneath their notice, and, therefore, leave them severely alone. About the time the race began the steamers took up their positions near the aqueduct, and the interval preceeding the appearance of the men was occupied in betting.

HANLAN THE FAVORITE.

The wagers rose 5 to 2 and 9 to 4 in favor of the Canadian, although on shore they averaged 5 to 1. At last the veil of the mist was drawn aside revealing a stretch of smooth water and a clear course. The spectators were thus afforded a good view of the men as they took their places at the moored boats.

The tide was running very slow and there was but a slight wind from the north-west. Prior to the start several of the scullers entered for the regatta were out on the water with the intention of rowing up in front of the race. Shortly after noon, Trickett pulled his way out into the centre of the stream piloted by his trainer, the famous waterman, Harry Kelley, and a few minutes later Hanlan launched from the London boat house, Bright leading the way. Hanlan was in his Canadian boat and Trickett used the boat built for him at Newcastle, which he calls the Wentworth, in honor of his Antipodean patrons.

THERE WAS NO ADVANTAGE AS TO STATION

in such a bad tide and after the men had shaken hands Hanlan took the Surry shore and pleased his supporters by the way in which he used his sculls in the preliminary spin. He appeared to be in excellent condition and when stripped showed much more muscle than the Australian, who was generally voted light. It was noticed also that Trickett appeared to be careworn; he stripped to the skin while Hanlan rowed in a blue jersey. At length the men took up their positions. Mr. Ireland cried "go" and the boats shot forward, HANLAN TOOK THE LEAD.

Off the boat house he was half a length ahead. Half way to the concrete wall Trickett pulled into the shore. At this point the Canadian was rowing thirty three strokes to the minute, while the Australian was doing three more. At the old wall post Hanlan was rowing in a beautiful style and was a clear length ahead of his tall opponent, who was constantly looking over his shoulders as if measuring the short gap that divided them. Off the soap works the Son of Anak, from the Antipodes, began to show signs of punishment, and the Canadian shot the centre arch of Hammersmith Bridge three lengths ahead. At this period of the race he won the bet of $300 to $400 that he would be first through the famous arch. It was just 9 minutes and 20 seconds from the time of the start at the aqueduct at Putney until the bow of Hanlan's boat, like an arrow in the wind, cleared Hammersmith Bridge. The structure groaned beneath a dense mass of excited people, who cheered as if each was gitted with lungs of brass.

The Toronto champion clapped on another length, and, confident of victory, he contributed a little to the amusement of the spectators at the bottom of Chiswickeyot by

RESTING ON HIS OARS.

He lay back in his scull with the most perfect nonchalance, lazily paddling first with one scull and then with the other—a victor by 3 lengths. The daylight between him and the Australian gradually lessened, and he settled down to work once more. Next came Chiswick Church, which was reached in 15 minutes and 20 seconds from the start. Between this and Barnes, Hanlan again indulged in some playful antics, and stopped at one time to talk with Elliott, who was sculling upon the river. He actually waved his handkerchief as he passed his quarters at the Bulls-head. The bridge at this point was shot in 21 minutes and 38 seconds. The race was literally over before he reached Hammersmith. Trickett was now pulling in the wash of Hanlan who worked right and left before reaching the winning point, which he passed three lengths ahead amid the loud cheers of the spectators. The time of the race was 26 minutes and 12 seconds.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way, and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple pure remedies, Hop Bitters that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column.

Fever and Ague.

Are you troubled with Ague, Chills and Fever, Bilious Fever, Remittent or Intermittent fever, Night Sweats or any disease that comes from Malaria or disordered Liver and Hot Suns? If so, procure a bottle of Green's Ague Conqueror, which is an acetic extract of strong tonic roots, combined with Sulphate of Magnesia, etc., and positively contains no Quinine, Arsenic or other poisons. It purifies the blood, cleanses the liver, spleen and other secretive organs so effectually that the chills will not return. We have never found any case of Fever and Ague it will not cure. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. One large bottle has cured as many as five in one family. Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since, without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."
