ELLEN'S DIARY

The Spring Was Short Summer Days Are Coming

Who comes now without sound of football in the yard or step at the threshold? Perhaps she is not so near at the moment but presently she is to come.

The summer! Yes, with long days and golden in her train.

"The spring was short, Ellen. James said looking back upon it today before going off to the schoolwork. The actual cropping is ended at Algeria and almost completed on the pieces and patches of the name. At Rob's the potatoes remain to be planted and there is to be a spreading of lime on this farm.

"Yes, short because we were so busy. But the summer will be good."

Last week and lambs were gathered away to join the flock at the other farm today, leaving us only bits of wool caught on the fences about to tell of their spring-stay with us. And for sparrows to tote home to make nests. The goldfinches plucked dandelions down to line their nests and to bring on the summer spore.

This week hurried Granddaughter into her teens. For her cherry trees at the foot of the garden bloomed as on the day of her birth, and June set choice blossoms in the orchard and along the low and high of the valley about.

For Mack, June brought a calf to his heifer's young side. This afternoon it was, shortly after he and his grandfather had noted signs of its coming against the green of a pastured hill.

"We brought her to the stable" Mack related "and before long, yes, when I next looked in" he smiled happily to think of it, "there it was! I am a little disappointed. I had been hoping for a heifer so that I might keep it. But bye and bye this one will go to 'The Plant'" he nodded, "there'll be another year!"

Another year. And another June of lilacs and apple blossoms quite as breath-takingly, beautiful as this one.

Though not without its sadness. For truly, as it has been this week Island-over. "Sorrow fourfold and joy fourfold," The Four Winds (will) bring again."

Joy came to many homes this week—joy of June-children born, of troths plighted, and marriage vows spoken in this month of loveliness made to be an exquisite background for the life.

And sorrows too—the sudden and unexpected partings by untimely deaths which occasion wide mourning in their wake. Time heals, changes, gives its compensations, but fond memories of the loved and lost remain forever green... "Summer Came Softly" Louisa

Van Norman says in The Country Guide:

"I did not hear her pass by Spring. Upon the grassy road. I did not hear her gentle step So lightly was she shod."

Yet summer stood beside the lane, Her fingers brushed my face. The breeze was fragrant, for her steve

Was edged with lilac lace.

She trailed red roses quietly Along the roadside fence. She called the laughing buttercups And beckoned them to dance.

Beside the Mies' mirror-pool The flowers ruled full-away. The honeysuckle shouted, Summer came today!"

Community Friendship Secretary reported 11 hospital calls, eight home calls made, 12 cards, eight treats and three flowers sent during the month.

Treasurer's report was encouraging. Mrs. Best reported sending a parcel of cards to Trinidad and postage was collected. Next meeting at Mrs. F.A. Merrill's. Civil Defence College Attended By Mrs. Doyle

Mrs. J. Michael Doyle Doyle-holme, North Rustico, has been attending a course in emergency feeding at the Canadian Civil Defence College, Arnprior, Ontario. Mrs. Doyle is representing the Women's Institutes of Prince Edward Island.

Also running concurrently is a nurse educator course for nurses who teach in the nursing schools. There are almost one hundred in the two courses. Mrs. Doyle is the only representative from Prince Edward Island.

Mrs. Doyle writes "that is all very interesting and that one marvels at the avid interest and enthusiasm from men and women across Canada for all phases of Civil Defence work."

Mrs. Doyle has met many worthwhile people among them some western women. There is a Miss Doyle, a teaching nurse, from Victoria, B.C., and several others whose parents or some relatives came from P.E.I. Mrs. Doyle refers to them as "indeed most pleasant company in the off-hours."

A nurse in the navy (Lieutenant Ott, Esquimaux, B.C.) was referring to the wonderful 16 pound baby in Montague. This nurse is a great friend of the J.A. Bernard (former Lieutenant-governor) family. Another lady has a lineage of Island names: Bulpitt, Campbell, Sanderson. Mrs. Doyle is concluding says "And so it goes. Some one knows some one I know. It will all be too short. Classes are strenuous." This province is indeed fortunate to have had a representative woman such as Mrs. Michael Doyle. She is a clever woman of magnetism and imagination who has given unstintingly of her time and ability. Mrs. Doyle was a teacher by profession and has a great gift of imparting knowledge—this time from the Canadian Civil Defence College.
