First-Class Honors For Islanders.

Prorogation Approaching.

OTTAWA, June 23.

The classes at the Ottawa University closed last night with a grand demonstration. John McNally, of Summerside, received the degrees of Bachelor of Philosophy, Licenciate of Philosophy, and Bachelor of Arts, with first-class honors in philosophy and social sciences. Patrick Cullen of Hope River, took the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy and the first medal in his class, being the third year of the University course The first class honors were divided between British Columbia and Prince Edward Island. The Island boys left for home to-day.

Prorogation is rapidly approaching.

Messrs. Davies and Welsh will go home next week.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Redistribution Continues.

Unfair Propositions of the Grits.

OTTAWA, June 23.

The House of Commons continues the discussion of the Re-distribution bill. Mr. Denison's proposal to create four single member constituencies in Toronto was considered. Sir John Thompson said that the question had been fully considered; but inasmuch as Toronto was building up rapidly it would be unwise to make division as suggested by Mr. Denison, for the present. The amendment was negatived. The committee then considered the clause affecting Nova Scotia, which proposes to unite Queen's and Shelbourne counties. Mr. Forbes contended that these two counties were not precisely the smallest in the province, and that a better plan would have been to deprive Cape Breton County of one member. Mr. Gillies went fully into the census statistics to show the injustice of such a proposal. If Mr. Forbe's suggestion were adopted it would create a great anomaly, as Cape Breton, with a population of 34,000, would have but one member, the same as the little county of Queen's with 18,000 of a population. The Government could not be charged with attempting to gain political advantages, for the liberals would, according to the general election returns, have a majority in the united counties. Sir John Thompson showed that the reduction of one member in Nova Scotia had been effected with the least disturbance of the existing conditions of affairs by the union of the very smallest county in the Province with one of the smallest. The clause then passed. The clause respecting New Brunswick was next considered. The subsection affecting St. John city and county was allowed to stand until after the arrival of Judge Skinner. The sub-section uniting Queen's and Sunbury was amended so that the riding will be known as Sunbury and Queen's, Sir John Thompson explaining that Sunbury was the oldest district

The Manitoba clauses were disposed of and the House rose at six.

After recess the P. E Island clause was tackled. Welsh opened fire by speaking in favor of keeping the old county lines. He could find no reason why King's County should be carved in a fashion such as was proposed by the first paragraph.

Mr. Davies denounced the clause and characterized it an iniquitous gerrymander. By the passage of the clause he held that the historical continuation of the county lines would be destroyed and the only object that the Government would have in forcing its passage was to gain a political advantage. The clause was an attempt on the part of the Government to legislate him (Davies) out of his seat.

Sir John Thompson repudiated the statement that the bill was an attempt to legislate Mr. Davies out of parliament. By the British North American Act the Government was obliged to take a number from P E Island, and the bill provided for the best arrangements that could be made. The township lines had been adhered to throughout. Mr. Davies moved in amendment that there be no change in the P. E Island constituencies, except that King's County be deprived of one member. The debate was continued by Messrs. Denison, Armstrong and Sir Richard Cartwright.

Mr. McLean, of King's County, claimed that it was desirable, when Parliament had to arrange the representation of the Island, that it was better to make five single member constituencies out of the three counties and to equalize the population as far as possible, which the bill did. In no quarter had there been any complaint against the bill, except from a few interested parties like Mr. Davies. The member for Queen's had protested against the alleged gerrymander. But if he were not capable of overcoming an adverse majority of 89, with everything in his favor, he was hardly worthy of being a Liberal leader on the Island. The committee reported progress and House adjourned at 12.45.
