Rooms in Green and Blue

By ELEANOR ROSS

BEAUTIFUL objects from all over the world that owe their inspiration to the color and design of faraway places are now being shown in model room settings. The traditional, the modern and the exotic blend beautifully in one grouping, that combines oriental lines, authentic Chinese motifs, warm-toned, medium-colored woods and intricate patterns for chest fronts and chair seats.

Prevailing Tones

The prevailing tones are various blues and greens exemplified by the bedroom with walls and draperies in charruse and chairs done in turquoise blue. A stripe of royal and turquoise blue and bright green is used to form a ceiling-high bed canopy, color and design suggesting Moroccan inspiration. One wall of the dining room is covered in an attractive, bright green grass paper, the other walls in conventional green paper. The bright green color makes a vivid print design on the yellow gauze used for draperies. Charruse for the chair upholstery. Walnut with a teak-like finish makes a charming chest.

Rich Colors

Chairs covered with such exotic colored fabrics as deep peacock blue, and deep yet glowing purple, provide striking touches in the living room. The purple fabric covers the sofa, and the living room and an adjoining den or study use much turquoise blue. Interesting accessories in the setting include pictures of stained glass done in the rich blues and purples with some deep ruby red, a novel wall decoration indeed.

Highlights for a Room

Unusual too, is a length of ordinary heavy rope painted a bright green and attached to the wall to create an ingenious, and certainly very inexpensive, mirror frame.

Then there is a lovely lamp made from a Japanese stone garden lantern. A beautiful Bristol blue glass fruit, shaped like oversized apples and pears. These are more than just rich accents, since they have been put to work by being fitted with removable tops, making them nice candy or nut dishes. In another room group, raspberry and charruse have been combined for an unusual, but most effective, color scheme. It is seen in a living room where a dining area is set off by being placed under a Moorish cloth canopy in raspberry red. Plaid pillows on the charruse sofa pick up the two colors, while the other chairs are done in dull gun-metal gray.

Mrs. Gordon Rayner entertained informally at the tea hour Friday afternoon.

Corporal and Mrs. Kelso Whyte and young son Michael have taken up residence in Winnipeg. Mr. Whyte who is married to Miss Ruby MacMillan of Charlottetown was formerly with the R. C. A. P. at Summerside. Before being transferred to Winnipeg Corporal Whyte completed a course at Camp Borden. Labeling Helps Shoppers

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

GRADE labeling and descriptive labeling of canned and packaged foods are not the same thing. Grade labeling is required by Federal law to state the name of the product, the grade, weight of contents and a list of ingredients used in preparing the processed food. Descriptive labeling is voluntary on the part of the manufacturer. It gives all information required by law and, in addition, the quantity by cups of the solids and liquid, and suggestions or recipes on how to use the product.

A Good Example
"This can of cut green beans from a progressive manufacturer is a good example of the advantages of descriptive labeling," said the Chef.

"On one side of this label is the name of the brand on a clear light blue background. Under this is a color picture of green beans in an attractive bowl.

"Turn the can around, and we see the size, the net weight of the contents, the number of cups of beans it contains, the style in which they are cut, the amount of liquid, the fact that salt is added and that 4 average servings are provided.

Easy to Read
"The label also tells how to prepare the beans for plain service and gives a special recipe. All the print is easy to read."

"And, Chef, if the clubs and women's groups of this country will let manufacturers know officially

October is a Month For Changes

By Ida Jean Kain

The tonic quality of October's blue and gold days is positively exhilarating. This is the ideal time to pull your figure and your posture out of the doldrums and do something exciting about yourself. It isn't middle age that bogs a person down — it's a limp spirit. "Be ye renewed by the renewing of your mind," the scriptures counsel.

Desire is the keynote to action. When you truly desire to change, you start picturing yourself the way you want to be and think along that line. Let's see... Your viewpoint will do away with all self-pity. Feeling sorry for yourself can send you back to over-eating faster than anything else.

At the regular meeting of the Dorcas Group of the Baptist Women's Auxiliary held at the home of Mrs. Robert Nicholson the members expressed their appreciation to Mrs. Ivan Nicholson for her association with the Group. Mrs. John MacLeod left Friday morning for a two weeks holiday in Boston.

Mrs. A. A. Pomeroy and Mrs. Percy Bryenton of Calgary are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ewen MacMillan, York Point.

Miss Ardith MacFarlane, Fredericton, N. B. spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Darte, 61 Rochford St.

Cervicitis May Cause Infertility

INABILITY to have children often leads to much unhappiness. There are many reasons why infertility, or inability to have children, occurs. Not uncommonly, the difficulty is due to a condition known as cervicitis, or inflammation of the neck of the womb. When this inflammation is cleared up, the chances of becoming pregnant are greatly increased, regardless of the germs which are producing the trouble.

Results of Research

It has been found in laboratory experiments that cultures of almost any germ will kill the sperm within an hour. A careful study has been made by a group of physicians which shows that it is the number of germs present in the cervix which determines whether or not there will be interference with fertility.

These studies were carried out on a group of 55 women that were treated with one of the antibiotic drugs known as terramycin. Not only did this treatment eliminate many of the germs, but it also increased the time of survival of the spermatozoa in 42 of the patients. Of the 55 women treated, 18 became pregnant.

Many Causes

It is possible that, in many cases, infertility may be due to some disturbance of the glands of internal secretion. In some cases, even after careful study, no specific cause can be found. In other instances, there may be some psychologic cause. Thus, it is not unusual, after parents have adopted an infant, for pregnancy to occur at a later date.

In any event, in each case where pregnancy does not occur, a careful study of both man and woman is necessary before the proper treatment can be decided upon.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

E. T.: Does removal of the tonsils increase one's chances of getting polio?
Answer: Removal of the tonsils has been found in a recent study to increase the chances of getting the severe type of polio, known as Bulbar polio.

Morning Smile

The seven-year-old son of a radio comedian came home with his report card.

Dad—Well, son, were you promoted?
Son—Better than that, Pop. (happily) I was held over for another twenty-six weeks.

Corn Bread

1 cup flour
1 cup cornmeal
3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 lb. butter.

Mix all the dry ingredients in a bowl, sifting the flour and baking powder together. Beat the egg till very light; add it and the milk to the dry ingredients and lastly the butter which has been melted in the baking pan. Bake from 20 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven.

Glazed Roast Pork

Allow 1 1/2 to 2 lb. bone-in loin or shoulder roast per serving.

Cover surface of the uncooked roast with a mixture of 1 1/2 cups brown sugar, 2 to 3 tsb. vinegar, 1 tsp. dry mustard, and 1/4 tsp. powdered cloves or ginger. Place roast fat side up on a rack in a slow oven, 325 degrees F., basting with the melted glaze until meat is well done. (If you use a meat thermometer, insert through the fat side into the centre of the roast but do not allow to touch bone. When done, the meat thermometer should register 185 degrees F.) A 5 lb. loin roast will take approximately 3 hours and twenty minutes. Plan on a 15-minute rest period out of the oven before carving. This allows time to make the gravy, but remember to keep the roast very hot.

SENTENCED TO LIFE

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—Earl Clifford Saunders, 37, Friday was sentenced to life in prison for manslaughter in the shotgun slaying last March 29 of cattle drover William Sands. ELLEN'S DIARY

by an Island Farmer's Wife

Fading autumn shades, bare stubbles, the red of furrows, and a sight of first wild geese of fall on the wing—all this the October day gave us, and more, to make it quite perfect.

And did we say a bluzjany call echoing loudly in the hush of the morning to have us search for other signs of falling weather? James too regarded it, now a little more casually than in the busy days of the harvest.

"It's great to be done of the threshing!" he offered. "It looks to me," he nodded, "as if there's rain in that sky!" But not yet. The stars and moon keep an old watch though we do catch some note of complaint in the sound of the wind. And also in uneasy token of it we remember now "the sun went pale to bed."

We smile recalling others of those lines of "Signs of Rain" learned in a Reader of childhood. We wonder if, as we went about our "for Sun" cares this afternoon, did "Puss on the hearth with velvet paws, sit wiping o'er her whiskered jaws?"

So this week brought the end of our harvest with every sheaf of every field and patch of the grainlands threshed, the granaries satisfyingly supplied, and the residue of straw the loose and the baled all housed against winds and weathers.

"Yes, it's good to be done of the harvest," James smiled. "But we're still plenty of work to do, with the month going by so fast. We've," his face was set, "no time to waste or give away before the freeze-up."

Yet as folks can, despite every busy-ness, our farmers found time today to help another farmer with his threshing, to have an appreciable area of his stubble cleared of stooks by the dusk. Mr. C. was there too, lending an experienced hand. As a boy he learned all the secrets of harvesting at home and in the West, in those years of the harvesters' excursions. He knew what it meant to stook those long, long "rounds" and how to tend and hitch his team and be away to the over-size wheat-fields to gather in the rich sheaves to the threshing. He was familiar too with the making and workings of those early threshing outfits which were a part of the growing pains of those fast-

Grease a loaf pan, put in half of the dressing in bottom of pan then add about 1 1/2 lbs. of ground steak and spread on top of dressing. Then add remaining dressing. Pour over this 1 can of tomato soup. Bake in a moderate oven.

DOUGHNUTS

1 cup fine white sugar
2 eggs beaten
1 cup milk
3 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 Flour enough to roll out 1/4 inch thick. Roll in sugar and cinnamon.

Household Hint

A cookie sheet will be easier to clean after baking if you grease only the spots to be covered by dough, instead of greasing the whole surface.
