HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Huggan, 257 Euston Street have returned from an enjoyable holiday in Nova Scotia. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hope in Halifax, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Coburn, Kentville, Mr. and Mrs. George Rainforth and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Nichols in Berwick.

The Charlottetown branch of the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary held their first fall meeting in the lounge at the Legion home, on Thursday night with the president Mrs. D.K. MacLeod presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and reports were given by various committee members. The treasurer reported on a very good bank balance.

Applications for membership by Mrs. Alfred Peters, Mrs. Lester Falls, Mrs. Vernon Gillispie, Mrs. Elmer Gunther and Mrs. Fred Yates were approved and accepted. Mrs. Ray Mac Callum was initiated by the president and warmly welcomed by the members.

Plans for the poppy Campaign were discussed. Mrs. F.W. Smith was appointed convener of this committee. Tentative plans for holding a fall dance and other activities were discussed but not finalized. At the conclusion of the meeting lunch was served by Mrs. Ira Brown, Mrs. Eddy Brown and Miss Lexie Jordon.

Plans for a sale and bazaar to be held in the Summerside fire hall in November were discussed at an executive meeting of Rotary Anne Tuesday evening. The sale and bazaar will be held in aid of the retarded children's association.

The meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Earl Corney.

The President, Mrs. Stuart Peppin presided at the opening meeting of the Royal Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary Kensington Branch, held at the Legion Home on Tuesday evening. Eleven members answered roll call.

Mrs. David Sherren reported for the sick committee. A letter of thanks was read from the Cancer Society for the canvass made by the auxiliary in the campaign for funds earlier this year. After some discussion on the matter of past president's pins, a motion was passed that pins be presented to all presidents serving for two years and missing only two meetings in each year. Lunch committee for the next meeting which will be the annual meeting will be Mrs. Garnet Turner, Mrs. Stuart Peppin, Mrs. William Mill and Mrs. Earle MacKay. It was decided that officers for the coming year be nominated from the floor and no nominating committee was appointed.

Mr and Mrs. Morris Caseley and Miss Shella Caseley, Kelvin Grove, have returned after spending a week in New York City.

Miss Shella Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Cameron Kensington, has returned from the P.E.I. Hospital where she had been receiving treatment.

Mrs. Bessie MacKay returned recently to her home at Kensington after undergoing surgery in the P.E.Island Hospital, Charlottetown.

George C. Walker, retired YMCA secretary, and Mrs. Walker, St. Thomas, Ont., are visiting relatives and friends in Charlottetown and Pownal. They are accompanied by Mrs. T. House, Alta., who has relatives on the Island. This is her first visit in 27 years.

MR. AND MRS. J. KIMBALL BLANCHARD

Young Couple Plight Troth In Ceremony At Holy Redeemer

On Monday, August, 13 at 9.00 a.m. the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer was the scene of a charming wedding when Margaret Eileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Murphy, was united in holy matrimony to James Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Blanchard, Charlottetown.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Edward Berrigan, C.Ss.R., uncle of the bride, who also celebrated the nuptial mass which was served by Knights of the Altar, Jimmy and David Blanchard, brothers of the groom.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Ivan Berrigan, the bride chose a gown of white chantilly lace over satin with a back insert of nylon pliase. Her matrix veil of illusion net hung from a head-piece encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of red roses with satin streamers and miniature rose buds. Her attendants were Miss Norma Miller as matron of honor and Miss Madelyn Murphy, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. Miss Miller was attired in a street-length dress of nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress, and Miss Murphy wore a similar styled dress of pink nylon organza over taffeta with matching headdress. They carried bouquets of white carnations with aqua and pink carnations in the center.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a two piece suit of beige linen with white accessories and her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother chose a dress of navy nylon over taffeta with pink accessories and her corsage was of pink carnations. The bride's grand-aunt, Miss Minnie Bradley, chose a dress of navy with white accessories and her corsage was of pink carnations.

Best man for the wedding was Jackie Blanchard, brother of the groom. Ushers were Paul Murphy, brother of the bride and Billy Blanchard, brother of the groom.

Throughout the mass appropriate hymns were beautifully rendered by Miss Patricia Leighziner. Mr. Alex MacLean presided at the organ. The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and the guest pews were marked with lily of the valley flowers.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception for 125 guests was held at St. Pius X Parish Hall where the bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mr Eldon Green, toastmaster, proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom fittingly replied. A toast to the bridesmaids was proposed by the toastmaster and replied to by the best man. A telegram was received from the bride's aunt in British Columbia. Good wishes were expressed by Rev. Fr. Edward Berrigan C.S.s.R., Rev. Fr. Fred Cass, and the brother of the bride.

For going away the bride chose a green linen dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of baby pink rose buds. Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard left on a short honeymoon trip through the Maritimes.

Following their trip they will reside in Parkdale. The groom is a member of the staff at Birchwood High School.

Robot Housewife To Do Work

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A British scientist predicted Friday that man will one day invent a robot that will do all of woman's tiresome housework.

He is Professor Meredith Thring of Sheffield University, who is married and has three children.

"We have gone no further than the half - way stage" in the industrial revolution, he said in an interview.

"This has led a number of investors to seriously look into the possibility of making a foolproof, 100 per cent robot housewife."

Mentioning vacuum cleaners, washing machines, floor polishers and automatic dishwashers, he said:

"Yet the average British housewife of 1962 works harder than her Victorian counterpart. She works so hard that her husband often feels compelled to help her."

SMALL-WOMAN SIZE

Thring, a professor of chemical engineering, said it's too early to discuss how far he's gotten with the project, but he visualizes a robot about the size of a small woman — a machine that could be rigged to make beds, set tables and do cleaning chores.

"It would be able to get around the house, including going up and down stairs by itself," he explained. "It would have arms and hands for removing and replacing various objects."

Thring said that the ideal automatic housewife would take into consideration small children — even babies crawling about a room — and would not interfere with them or be bothered by them.

There's a gimmick. He said it would take about 10 years to develop at a cost of $2,800,000.

AUTUMN BRIDE

The lucky girl who is planning an autumn wedding will love this beautiful, traditional gown designed for a church or home ceremony. Made of a taffeta fabric woven of acetate, the dress is on princess lines with a scalloped neck, long pointed sleeves and a a carriage skirt with a bow in back. Re-embroidered Alencon lace trims the bodice and cascades down the skirt.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

"Faith Conquers Fear" Is Theme Of UCW Meeting

YORK — The September meeting of the York United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Vessey recently with 24 members and three visitors attending.

The devotional period was led by Mrs. Richard Vessey and it had as its theme "Faith Conquers Fear". Mrs. Reuban Watts assisted Mrs. Vessey.

Two readings "Always Wanting" by Mrs. Richard Vessey; and "Seek and Find" by Mrs. Reuban Watts, were enjoyed by the members.

In the absence of the president, the vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Johnson chaired the meeting. The Various committee reports were dealt with. The supply committee reported having sent three boxes of clothing, one to the unitarian Relief and two to the United Church Relief depot in Toronto. It was decided to send $10 for each box of clothing sent to the depot to help pay the cost of shipping these boxes overseas. An interesting article "Am I My Brother's Keeper" was read by Mrs. Dolph Murray, the Christian Citizenship convenor.

A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Elmer Brown. Next month the quiz is to be conducted by Mrs. Donald Crockett and will be taken from the book of "Lamentations".

The October meeting is to be held in the church, with Mrs. Beverly Simpson as the hostess. Members of the program committee for the October meeting are Mrs. William Pidgeon, Mrs. Leigh Vessey and Mrs. Lloyd Vessey.

The meeting closed with the benediction and refreshments were served by the hostess and members of the lunch committee.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Peaceful, Golden Harvest Is A Memory This Year

"Br-r-r! It's a Fall night, this one!" Granddaughter says coming in now from the house across the lane. A bold breath of wind intruded at her entrance, and she carries the sheen of raindrops in her hair. So rain we have. It is a familiar story. Its silver fall mists the yard-lights. And the branches of the lawn-trees toss in wild abandon to the wind's rough tune.

It is indeed a Fall night.

And following after this, what weather is to be?

"I fervently hope, October will give us a whole month of fine weather" a frustrated harvester observed today. "We deserve it" he nodded.

"Deserve it?" we echoed with an inquiring chuckle.

He weighed the matter a moment.

"Well, Ellen" he questioned "don't you agree that we do?"

Surely! To get the crops gathered in: the grains that nurtured by the strange summer, have increased so bountifully, exceeding expectations and the farmers' fondest spring -dreams the potatoes— that cash crop upon which many an Island farmer depends most of all for his livelihood; the root-crops, that as James will have it, "Help to keep the stock in good health through the months of the stabling— even if their content is, for the greater part water!"

"The lovely harvest days we used to have" a door-to- door salesman recalled this afternoon, noting then the lowering clouds. "Sunny and dry. And so still one could hear the soud of the binders or the threshing, across distances. I loved it. To me, there was no better time of the year."

"All golden and peaceful" we sighed, remembering the sedate march of these gentlest of days.

"Oh well" he smiled, "the weather is like the coming of the new baby: boy or girl, no matter which we most long for, we must accept what we get!"

"The harvest? Oh, we whittle away at it, when we can" we overheard James say today to a visitor. "So we get a little more cut, a bit more up in stook."

"Did you ever see such damp harvest - weather?" the man queried.

"Never... never!" James replied. "And" he added with a grin "I hope I sha'n't ever again!"

"Where did you get this book?" Granddaughter asks, pouncing on a new volume on the table.

"Found it!" we chuckle.

She riffles the pages, with some longing— this best one of the family to enjoy a book to the fullest.

"Oh well" she says, putting it down "with all the required reading that goes with our Grade, it's not for me— not for a while yet, at any rate! But there'll come a time" she smiles.

It's good that Mack stabled his heifer this evening" James offers, looking up from his reading in the old armchair. "This would be no night for a calf to be born out of doors."

And a shower washes down the panes, where other scenes are being pictured. And the wild wind in the trees beyond, is one of Fall's own.

Until tomorrow— Diary — Good-night...

MARY HAWORTH

Mother Is Concerned About Son's Behavior

Dear Mary Haworth: My son, 16 has been interested in Betsy for over a year. Now it is becoming more serious

I had hoped he would tire of her or meet someone else. She is loud; anything but a nice refined girl. Her mother died some years ago, after which Betsy was running the streets, doing as she pleased.

Her father has married again —a woman who had four husbands previously. They are out most evenings. Betsy is always telephoning here.

Recently while cleaning his room I came across a letter from her that reveals she likes to pet and it seems my son is too timid for her. I am so worried.

At first I had tried to keep them apart but my husband wouldn't cooperate. In fact he was giving Jeff permission. Behind my back, to see Betsy, always at her home, never checking to see if her parents would be there. I know they weren't, every time.

Well, I showed the letter to my husband, but it made no difference. I told him I was going to talk to Jeff about life and sex and what petting leads to; and he said I would be wrong in doing so. Was I?

I've reminded Jeff of certain kids he knew in school before we moved here, who got in trouble. He is too young for steady girl. Can you advise me how to handle this? Is there a book for boys to read?— K.C.

Dear K.C: The gist of your husband's behavior suggests that he may be subtly siding against you in this delicate matter, presumably with the aim of saving his son from becoming an emasculated mama's boy.

Whether his attitude is justified, I can't say. Maybe you do have a strong disposition to occupy the driver's seat in manipulating your son's romantic experience. Maybe you tend to regard his life as an extension of your own, and thus habitually overreach yourself in trying to shape his affiliations to suit your taste.

On the other hand, your husband may be one of those passive dependent-type males who choose a managerial wife for ballast, then apply themselves, with unconscious hostility, to resisting her purposes. In short, maybe he is doubly negative in the co-parent role.

In any case, I see nothing wrong in your trying to bring Jeff up- to-date on the facts of life. There is a first-rate book on the subject, equally suitable for sons or daughters.

It is "Facts of Life and Love for Teen-Agers" by Evelyn Millis Duvall. Association Press (an affiliate of the national YMCA), 291 Broadway, New York 7, publishes the hardback edition at $3.50. Through special arrangement with Pocket Library Inc., 10 East 40th Street, New York 16, it also issues paperback copies for 35 cents.

Or, if you like, there is "The Catholic Youth's Guide to Life and Love," by Msgr. George A. Kelly, published by Random House ($3.95).— M.H.

Dear Mary Haworth: I know you've given such information over and over; but like so many other girls, I never thought I would have to enter a home for unwed mothers. Is there such a home in Omaha? Are there any age limitations? Please answer through your column.— A.F.

Dear A. F.: The Salvation Army maintains the Booth Memorial Hospital at 3404 Pratt Street, Omaha, Nebraska. Telephone Pleasant 3811. Write or telephone, asking for an interview.

Policies and programs are flexible, to meet individual needs. All factors are discussed confidentially with the applicant and arrangements made to give the girl and her baby the specific help that their situation requires.

The national headquarters address of the Salvation Army Service to Unmarried Mothers is: 120 West 14th Street, New York 11, N.Y.; telephone CHelsea 3-6700.

This service is available on the basis of need, regardless of creed, color, class or circumstance. Its sponsors explain:

"The spiritual purpose is paramount. We are concerned with the whole person — not only the physical need but the mental, emotional, social and spiritual needs as well."— M.H.

Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Guardian.

IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Cherry Tomatoes Are Hit With Folks Everywhere

A GROWER-salesman in California's Imperial Valley started the popularity push for cherry tomatoes a short four years ago.

They were being grown in small quantities in the San Joaquin Valley. They were so pretty, gay and tasted so good that on a hunch he decided to ship 180 trays to Chicago as a tryout.

Result?

By the end of the summer he was sending truckloads!

He persuaded Imperial Valley growers to plant plenty —some forty acres. Supermarkets from coast to coast stocked them. Homemakers bought fantastic amounts when they could get them.

Cherry tomatoes are not new, as many think. They were grown by the Incas in western South America before the 16th century.

They are easy to grow anywhere common tomatoes may be grown. You could set aside a good big patch for them in your garden next season.

Meantime, the Chef and I, as ardent gardeners, can't wait! So we're planting some in window boxes in the test kitchen. It takes 75 days for them to mature.

We hope we'll have good news to report on or about the first of December.
