S'side Club Receives Charter

Miss Helen Schurman, R.N., Superintendent of Prince County Hospital since 1950, and past president of the Summerside Business and Professional Women's Club is seen above (left) receiving the club's charter from Miss Gertrude Love, of Charlottetown, provincial president, at a dinner meeting at Mulberry Lodge on Wednesday evening. Miss Schurman, who leaves Summerside on Saturday to become Superintendent of a new hospital being built in Woodstock, N.B., was instrumental in the organizing of the Summerside club, and was its first president. The Summerside Club has a present membership of 23, and meetings are held on the second Wednesday of each month. Seated in the centre is Mayor Henry Wedge who was present to extend civic greetings to the club on the occasion of the presentation of its charter.

under the Lindbergh kidnapping law a death sentence could not be imposed without such a recommendation from a jury.

Clamor For Tickets The public already has started clamoring for a chance to see the execution of Warden Ralph Eldson of the Missouri penitentiary said he already had a waiting list of applicants for tickets. Eldson will trip the lever releasing cyanide pellets which form the deadly execution gas. Mrs. Heady will be the first woman ever executed in the gas chamber. Thirty men have died there.

Judge Reeves measured out the death sentence in these words: "In view of the recommendation of this jury, and since the defendants have nothing to say as to why the sentence should not now be pronounced, let it be the judgment of this court that upon you, Carl Austin Hall, the sentence of death be imposed, and that the marshal transport you to Jefferson City and there in the Missouri State penitentiary by the administration of lethal gas, the death penalty there be executed." The crowd faded away. Again in handcuffs and chains, Hall and Heady were taken back to the Jackson county jail to await death.

William Tatman, U.S. marshal, said Mrs. Heady and Hall would be executed at the same time—12:01 a.m. Dec. 18. "There have been double executions before," Tatman said, "and we plan to do it in this case."

Encouraging Continued from page 1 peque Bay. Describing the building-up of the oyster industry, the report sets forth that "in building up the depleted stocks of oysters, there was from the first, an unusual degree of cooperation between research, administration and private endeavour."

Oyster Research Preliminary trials of an echosounder for finding suitable bottom ground for oyster culture have given promising results in Malpeque Bay and further trials are being made in Egmont Bay. Among oyster research projects have been experiments to determine the cause of oysters from West River, Charlottetown deterioration has been marked for the past three years. To date, it has been discovered that the oysters had become infected at some time prior to being harvested. Exact cause of the infection is still a matter of laboratory study.

Considerable importance is given in the report to investigation of lobster-fishing in Prince Edward Island waters. By tagging some 100,000 lobsters, it has been established that the crustaceans travel short distances only and that there is no concerted migration of lobsters from one locality to another. Closed seasons, it is stated, have no visible effect on maintaining or increasing stocks of lobsters.

Little hope of finding new lobster fishing grounds is held out in the Board's report. It states: "Exploratory fishing has failed to reveal any considerable stocks seaward from the areas now fished in the Gulf of St. Lawrence."

Appeals Dismissed Continued from page 1 business first started about 35 years ago. In his opinion a potato was through growing when the top died and ordinarily he started digging about three weeks after this. He stated they had started to dig their 1953 crop around the 25th or 30th of September. He agreed that they might have started a week earlier but felt that in doing so there was greater danger of bruising the potatoes or having them rot.

Civic Delegation Continued from page 1 "Charlottetown and Fredericton are more comparable in population. Fredericton is receiving on its per capita grant $215,000.00. At the same rate as Fredericton, Charlottetown should receive $200,000.00. Possibly in his per capita grant to Fredericton there is included an amount in lieu of income tax, which was waived in 1941 in the original Dominion-Provincial agreement, and in lieu of licenses, etc. We do receive in lieu of license some $20,000.00. This added to our per capita grant would make our total figure, as compared to Fredericton $99,717.50 (as against $215,000.00)."

"With our City faced with the need of increased revenue, there is not the slightest doubt that, had we not waived the right of income tax because it was unused at the

Let's Talk It Over

After a lapse of more than a decade the Little Theatre is returning to Summerside. A group of Theatians had made a promising start in the movement over ten years ago, and then the fires of enthusiasm suddenly flickered and died out, and while Charlottetown went on to gain some little renown in the Maritimes, Summerside dropped out of the activity altogether. Two abortive attempts were made to bring back the theatre guild to the western capital, after which the few really desirous of such a renaissance resigned themselves to the apparent fact that not enough people were interested.

It was not exactly apathy and disinterest that made it difficult to turn up the footlights once again in Summerside, but rather that most of the town's eligible citizens were active in so many other spheres of service and recreation. All these had gained a strong foothold while the theatre movement lay dormant, and people have just so much leisure time to devote to hobbies and sports.

The movement was launched more energetically this time, however, and there are signs that it will really get off to a good start. One-act plays and radio presentations are the two phases of theatre activity the new organization has in mind at the present time. There is wide opportunity for people of different interests to exercise their talents in the theatre business. The acting there is much of interest in the business of makeup, scenery creation, stage properties, lighting, etc. It takes the successful coordination of all these to keep the actors appearing to best advantage as the mirror is being held up to life before the footlights.

Induction At Y's Men's Meeting

At the regular weekly meeting of the Summerside Y's Men's Club last evening, four new Y's Men were inducted at a very solemn candlelight induction service. They were: Keith Lapp, Wendell Muttart, Willard Hogg and John Ellis.

The Y's Men turned out 100 percent to witness this induction service. Chairman for the evening was Y's Ralph MacParlane. Y's Rev. Dan Matheson gave an outstanding talk on "The Y From The Inside." He traced the origin of the Y.M.C.A. and emphasized the terrific work that the Y.M.C.A. and Y's Men's Club are doing throughout the world.

He said the Y.M.C.A. is active in over 30 different countries. Y's Dan was introduced by president Harold Rodd, and thanked by Y's Ken Walker.

W. I. Training Conference At Alberton

A Women's Institute training conference for Prince County was held in Alberton Institute Hall on Thursday. Sixteen institutes were represented. Noon and evening meals were served to the delegates by Alberton W. I.

In her opening remarks at the morning session, Mrs. M. J. Doyle of North Rustico, president of Prince Edward Island Women's Institutes, reminded her hearers that all delegates have responsibilities associated with them. All joined in repeating the Creed. Mrs. Russell Leard of Fortune Cove was appointed chairman of the conference and Mrs. R. F. MacAusland of Bloomfield Corner was appointed secretary.

After the introduction of discussion techniques by Miss Mary Robin of Charlottetown, supervisor of Institutes, the conference divided into five groups. Each was given the descriptive story of an imaginary village and instructed to discuss whether or not they would like to live there and why. Their findings were brought back to the reassembled conference.

Miss Robin described a panel discussion as one which is carried on by a group of experts and Mrs. Doyle described a round table discussion which is one composed of average people with a couple of experts to assist them.

The afternoon session opened with the singing of the Ode. A very helpful description of procedure at meetings was given by Miss Robin. In connection with public speaking twenty members were each given a quotation or subject on which to speak for one minute. The results were both serious and amusing and all were most interesting.

At this point Miss Robin invited all who would like to inspect the handicraft van to come outside. This provided a welcome and interesting interlude during which samples of handicraft being taught were displayed. Then followed a brief recreation period during which a contest was enjoyed.

A number of institute projects were introduced by Mrs. Doyle, assisted by Mrs. Wilfred McDougall of Tynes Valley, convener of agriculture, and Mrs. Harold Laird of Kelvin, honorary president of Women's Institutes. Among those mentioned were Red Cross blood donor clinics, libraries, school improvement, hall improvement, film projection, participation in music and drama festivals, community cemetery improvement, a farm forum, etc.

Mr. David Ferguson has completed an extensive building contract for Mr. Dan MacNeven, Canoe Cove.

Unfavorable weather conditions were not conducive to attendance Services of Public worship in this field, on Nov. 15.

Relatives and friends visited Mrs. Albro Howatt, Tryon, whom it is regretted is again a patient receiving treatment, in the P. E. I. Hospital.

Relatives and friends of Mrs. Mary Cameron, who have visited her at her home since her long period of illness and treatment in the P. E. I. Hospital, report her condition gradually improving, and complete restoration to good health, and an early return to her former activities in connection with church, home and community.

100-Year-Old Lady

Surrounded by the immediate members of the family, Summerside's grand old lady, Mrs. Sarah Tamlyn (above) yesterday celebrated her 100th birthday and during the afternoon and evening she received visits from well over one hundred friends who called to pay their respects and express their best wishes for her continued good health. The reception was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. F. MacNeill, Cedar Street, with whom she resides and who assisted her in the reception of her many guests.

Congratulatory messages were received from the Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Hon. Louis St. Laurent; Hon. George Drew; J. Watson MacNaught, M.P., and many others.

Gifts, cards, bouquets of roses and other flowers continued to arrive all day and evening, all of them expressive of the high esteem in which she was held by her many friends and relatives.

Presiding over the tea cups during the afternoon and evening was her grand daughter-in-law, Mrs. Francis MacNeill, while Mrs. Irene Peters provided the music for a hearty sing song featuring the appropriate "Happy Birthday To You."

Alberton And Vicinity

Mrs. L. B. Leard and Miss Anne Leard, Brookline, have moved to Alberton for the winter months. They have taken up residence at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Matthews on Church Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ahearn and family, Alberton, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gillis, Alberton, were among the guests at the Perry-Hagen wedding in Fortune Cove on Wednesday.

Death Tuesday Of Mrs. Hubert Howatt

The death occurred at her home in Summerside on Tuesday of Mrs. Hubert Howatt in her 87th year. She had been in ill health for some time but her death was unexpected and came as a shock to her family and friends. She was the former Mahala Jane Bell, a daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Andrew Bell of Bloomfield.

The late Mrs. Howatt attended Prince of Wales College and then taught school in North St. Eleanor's. She met her husband there and lived in that community for some time after her marriage. They later moved to St. Eleanor's where they built a new home and lived for some years. Some time after her husband's death Mrs. Howatt moved to Summerside and has been living here for 18 years.

She is the last of her family and is survived by a son, Dr. W. B. Howatt and a daughter, Mrs. Marion Hall, both of Summerside, also three grandchildren.

Funeral services for the late Mr. Clarence Frizzell, widely known and highly respected resident of New Haven, were held in Clyde River Presbyterian Church on Nov. 11, conducted by Rev. Donald Nicholson, pastor of the Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Barker of North River Baptist Circuit. The choir and organist of the Church led the large congregation in the hymns, "The Lord My Shepherd" and "Safe In The Arms of Jesus". Mr. Dan MacPhee effectively sang an appropriate solo, accompanied by Doctor MacDonald. Tributes of esteem and respect for the deceased were expressed by beautiful flowers, and in Mr. Nicholson's message taken from Romans 8: 17-18. Interment was in the Church Cemetery.

A large gathering of relatives and friends attended the funeral services for the late Mr. Fred Oakes, of Crapaud on Nov. 13, conducted by Rev. Mr. Barras of Tryon Baptist Church. A full choir, with Mrs. Lloyd Rogerson, pianist, led in the singing of the hymns: "Face to Face" and "Abide With Me". From the words found in Job 1-21: "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away", Mr. Barras, stressed the spiritual injunction against intensive efforts for the achievement of all this world has to offer, knowing these to be merely temporal, and to these higher treasures which are eternal. Beautiful flowers, the impressive personal message to the bereaved, all testified to the wide esteem and respect for the deceased, expressed by the large gathering who came from far and near to express their final farewell to one widely and favorably known. Interment was in Westmorland Cemetery.
