

MR. AND MRS. R. J. MCKENZIE

Couple Wed At Georgetown To Live In United States

St. James Church, Georgetown P.E.I. was the scene of a very pretty wedding on August 11th, when Joyce Mary Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Fogarty, became the bride of Roy James McKenzie, son of Mrs. William McKenzie and the late Mr. McKenzie, Cambridge, Mass.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Owen Higgins P.P. who also celebrated the nuptial mass. Rev. Richard Prime, cousin of the bride, was present in the Sanctuary. The organist was Miss Janie Batchelder and the choir sang hymns during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her uncle Mr. John Morrison, Jr., the bride looked lovely in a floor length strapless gown of white lace and set over satin. The dress was trimmed with rhinestones and had long sleeves tapering to points. Her fingertip veil of nylon fell from a halo of pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade of white roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Geraldine, as maid of honor. She was attired in a gown of yellow net and lace over taffeta. She carried a cascade of white roses. She wore a matching headpiece and shoulder length veil.

The bridesmaids, Miss Marilyn McGregor, niece of the groom, and Miss Catherine MacDonald, friend of the bride, wore matching pink and blue gowns of net and lace over taffeta with headpieces to match and carried nosegays of mums.

The winsome young flower girl was Myra MacIntyre, cousin of the bride. She wore a yellow taffeta dress to match that of the maid of honor and carried a basket of mixed flowers. James Ring, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. The best man was Edward

WOOD ISLAND WEST W.I.

On September 2nd the regular monthly meeting of the Wood Island West W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. William MacQueen, with thirteen members and three visitors present.

The president presided and opened the meeting with the Institute code and creed. Roll call was answered with an article for auction.

Minutes were read and approved. Correspondence was read and discussed. The secretary gave the swimming and water safety report.

It was moved and seconded that Mrs. Bears be paid for board and swimming instructor. It was moved and seconded that the music teacher will be sponsored again this year.

The auctioning of articles handed in was cheerfully and well done by Mrs. Mary (Allen) MacMillan, and a neatly sum realized.

Mrs. Dan Nicholson and Mrs. Arthur MacMillan entertained by a contest and a humorous reading which was enjoyed by all.

New committees were appointed for next month. Mrs. Dan Nicholson kindly invited members to her home for next meeting.

Singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close after which lunch was served by the hostess and lunch committee.

STANHOPE W.I.

The Stanhope W.I. held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ray Carr.

The president opened the meeting with "Marching Along Together" followed by the collect. There were 13 members and two visitors present.

Minutes were read, approved and signed. The treasurer reported a balance of $19.17 on hand. Old committees reported and new ones were appointed.

It was decided to look further for a music teacher for the school. A few suggestions were made, towards celebrating the 30th anniversary in October. Collection amounted to $1.70.

Programme committee had several riddles, and a contest—prize going to Beth. An auction sale followed with Mrs. Marshall as auctioneer, pickles, jams, and aprons were sold, and $7.75 was cleared.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by the committee and a social hour followed.

MARY HAWORTH

Married Pair Resent Lorelei Type Discussion

Dear Mary Haworth—This is in reference to the recent column about an American wife who, having almost lost her husband to a German siren, now wonders if her own purist concepts of love and morality are sound.

It was with much regret that my husband and I—long-time admirers of yours—read your answer in this case.

It is understandable that your correspondent, in her grief, should resort to abusive terms in evaluating her late rival and all her European sisters. But I am disappointed to find that your own comments aren't compatible with our American sense of justice and charity towards all.

As a student of human nature, you must know that generalizations are dangerous, leading to error and falsehood. Yet, not only do you accept without challenge the bitter picture of European love-piracy the young wife paints. You distort it further with your unflattering comparisons between European and American ideologies of love.

VOUCHERS FOR AMERICANS
A "perfectly good American young man" isn't going to have an affair with Lorelei (no matter how seductive) if his marriage is happy, or his relationship with his wife satisfactory. Or, if he does, he wasn't a good young man to start. Our American men are basically faithful; and they aren't naive and easy prey, regardless of what your correspondent may think.

Here's hoping she will be wise enough to let her husband forget the whole incident—as she doesn't seem to have done, so far. This is unfortunate for all concerned, including "her marriage"—which she should remember to call "theirs"—a lesson she might profitably have learned in Europe! ...

For the record, please note that my husband and I are both

American, and have no German ancestry whatever. We have spent considerable time in Europe and know what we are talking about.

Thanking you for many years' pleasant association with your writings in the local paper, we remain, very truly yours, E. and F. A.

Dear Critic—Your penmanship is unmistakably European; natives of the U.S. simply don't write that particular script. Equally European is your predisposition to rate the American wife an ignoramus in the field of wisdom; supposedly ungrateful for her place in the sun, and blindly inept as regards her blessings.

So, how do we reconcile this data with your claim that you are an American woman? Are you American by marriage? Or by adoption, via immigrant parents who came fairly recently? Something of that sort explains it, I think.

Your reaction to P. Y.'s letter is odd. It puts you in a class by yourself, since you are the only commentator who has charged her with an abusive attitude towards European women, in consequence of her man's disloyalty. Actually her recital was remarkably free of hostility towards anyone. She simply told a straight story of what happened, and how she coped, and tried to learn from it.

As for my capsule comparison of European versus American ideologies of love — i. e., the European brand reflecting the ancient past; the American brand referring to something ahead in the Provincial scroll of human potentials—I offer it with no offense intended.

After all, as St. Paul said, we are all members one of another. This content was seized and resettled by crusaders and refugees from the old world who wanted to turn over a new leaf and belong to the future, rather than the past. Right?

Speaking of comparisons, may I give a South American man's curbstone opinion of the difference between women in Europe, versus women in the U.S.? Member of an ancient wealthy South American family, he has lived much in Europe, and came to know the U.S. through visits to friends in New York, Washington, New Orleans and on the West Coast.

He said women of the U.S. seem innately kinder, friendlier, less deadly-competitive in their woman-to-woman dealings than women of older cultures do. He said women of older cultures turn their softer side to men; and have a hair-trigger ferocity towards other women. Perhaps he meant in the matters of the heart. In any case, shoot it out with him, not me, if you choose to disagree.

FOR SALE—FOR SALE VIMY RANCH NORWOOD ROAD

An outstanding property, consisting of over 70 acres, on which almost $100,000 was spent for buildings and land. Buildings include two homes; one feed shed with machinery for grinding hundreds of pounds of feed; one large shed with a cold storage plant capable of keeping over 20 tons of meats with lowest cost of operation on record; several sheds 100 x 24 feet in good condition, could be used for building purposes. The remaining acreage could be sold as building lots, as this is a desirable location. This is the opportunity of a lifetime to secure a property for far less than its value, and one that will increase in value in the future.
