Editorial Notes.

—El Mahdi seems to be in great straits.

—Gen. Graham and the guards have embarked for England.

—Fashi, a prominent leader of the Mahdi's rebellion, is dead.

—Gen. Wolsley telegraphs that Senaar and Mudriyeh have been cleared of the rebels.

—The next annual meeting of the Royal Society of Canada will take place at Ottawa on the 26th inst.

—Lord Wolsley speaks highly of the Canadian voyagers, and says that they were of the greatest possible value, and that their conduct was excellent.

—Gen. Wolsley has issued a farewell address, in which he announces the withdrawal of the British troops from the Sudan, and highly praises the conduct of all departments of the service during the campaign.

—Prince Bismarck answered a deputy who asserted that English and American manufacturers were far in advance of those of Germany, by saying that England was centuries behind Germany in civilization.

—The annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Company was lately held in London. It appears that the deficit in passenger traffic was £189,000, and during the year the total loss in the passenger business was £188,000 £265,000 in merchandise, and £4,700 in miscellaneous items.

—Mr. Lowell has been superceded in the office of United States Minister at London; but, in the course of a recent speech, after declaring that if he had been at home last November he would have voted for President Cleveland, he added, in the words of Job, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him."

—A London despatch says:—"The final instalment of Granville-De Giers despatches on the Afghan dispute will be issued during the Whitsuntide recess of Parliament. The Conservatives will postpone Parliamentary action until all the papers are presented. The publication of the first despatches engrosses the attention of political clubs. The dominant feeling among the Liberals is that Granville's conduct with respect to the negotiations was weak, and that he failed to perceive M. de Giers' intentions until news of the seizure of Penjdeh by the Russians, was received."

—The Quebec Chronicle, referring to the preparations in St. John for the departure of the Fusiliers says:—"These troops wear the scarlet uniform. It is to be hoped that the men will be furnished with coats of a less striking color before they leave their homes. We have already lost too many men in this war, and our principal cause has been the striking mark which our uniforms have afforded the enemy. A change ought to be made without an instant's delay. The men might wear blouses or dark colored smock-frocks over their tunics. One thing is certain, the red coat must go while our soldiers are on active service."

—A correspondent of the Quebec Chronicle advocates the formation of a "Volunteer Force," to keep order in the Northwest. He points out that many of the militiamen now engaged, are men of family and business, and that it is most important to them to return to their usual occupations; while on the other hand there are thousands of young men, with no strong ties, who would be glad to enlist for a year or a term of years. He says, "There cannot be a doubt that for several years to come a large military force of some 3, or 4,000 men will have to be stationed throughout the Northwest in consequence of the present troubles. The military authorities should therefore commence, and without any further delay, to raise and organize this force and send them to relieve the militiamen at present in the field, and thus enable the latter as soon as possible to return to their civil occupations. The Government should consider their interests of the militiamen somewhat, and not keep them in the field any longer than strictly necessary. This service in the Northwest, entailing as it does a long absence from business, will be disastrous to the private affairs and future of a great number of the force now serving either as officers or in the ranks; and it is nothing short of downright cruelty to keep the volunteers in the field away from their civil occupations, when a force could be raised in a few weeks throughout Canada, of some 4,000 men, who would voluntarily enlist from the present militia force to serve for a long period of time wherever required."

PRESENTATION OF AN ENSIGN. Following is the letter accompanying the ensign presented by His Lordship Judge Young to the men of the 82nd Battalion:—

FAIRBOLM, P. E. I., May 16th, 1885.

To Lieut.-Col. THE HON. HENRY BEER, 82nd Brigade Infantry.

Mrs. Young, being the wife of a veteran Militiaman of a Highland Dress Company in Halifax, N. S., feeling a deep interest in the present wicked rebellion in the Northwest in this "Canada of Ours," that soon shall be and must be stamped out, and appreciating the loyalty of our Island volunteers in tendering their services to our Queen (God bless her) and country, at this unexpected crisis, has requested me to present to you this flag, or ensign, to be carried to the battlefield by the officers and men of your battalion, and to ask your and their acceptance thereof.

Both Mrs. Young and I feel assured that the honor of this "Isle of the Sea" is quite safe in the hands of our volunteers for courage and bravery, and we pray that the "God of Battles" will protect our heroes, and speedily bring them back to their families, crowned with fame and glory.

On behalf of our Bible Society, I also ask the acceptance of your officers and rank and file of a copy of the Scriptures, to be placed in their knapsacks.

I have the honor to remain, Your obedient servant, CHARLES YOUNG.
