Alarm in an Ohio Town.
DWELLINGS AND YARDS OVER COAL MINES SLOWLY SINKING INTO THE EARTH.

A serious state of affairs is reported at Salineville, Ohio, a mining town between Cleveland and Wheeling. The coal banks in the hills on which the town stands have been operated for many years. Yesterday afternoon it was discovered that the ground immediately about Kirk's coal mine was beginning to crack in several places. Toward night the situation grew still more alarming. To-day people were surprised to find portions of their dwellings and yards slowly sinking into the earth. The wells in the neighborhood were found to be empty and bottomless. A large new brick school-house stands on the brow of the hill, and it is the opinion that this structure will be destroyed. At all events, few children attended school in the building on the 21st.
The cause of the approaching disaster is owing to the extra large amount of coal that has been taken from the hill. A young man named William Keen was crushed to death by a mass of coal and freight.

Bulwer's Prophecy of Disraeli.

The late Lord Lytton drew up a very remarkable "divination" in 1860 upon the future career of Lord Beaconsfield, which certainly entitles him to take high rank among modern prophets: "In honors he has not only luck, but a facility far beyond the most favorable projects that could be reasonably anticipated from his past career, his present position, or his personal endowments. He will leave a higher name than I should say his intellect quite warrants, or than would now be conjectured.
He will certainly have very high honors whether official or in rank—high as compared with his birth or actual achievements.
His illnesses will be few and quick, but his last illness will be lingering. He is likely to live to old age, the close of his career being much honored. He will be at the last largely before the public, much feared by his opponents, but greatly beloved not only by those immediately about him but by large numbers of persons to whom he is personally unknown. He will die, whether in or out of office, in an exceptionally high position, greatly lamented, and surrounded to the end by all the magnificent planetary influences of a propitious Jupiter. He will bequeath a reputation of all proportion to the opinion now entertained of his intellect, even by those who think most highly of it.
Greater honors far than he has acquired are in store for him. His enemies, though active, are not persevering. His official friends, though not ardent, will yet minister to his success.—London Truth.

Opposed to Dynamite.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times has been interviewing several of the prominent Irish in the French capital, such as Patrick Casey, of the Moniteur Universel; James Stephens, formerly Fenian head center; John O'Leary, who used to be the editor of the Irish People, and Father Hozan, of the Catholic College of St.
Sulpice.

The results of these interviews are given in the Times this morning. Casey is strongly in favor of the dynamite policy and upholds the Irish Invincibles in the doctrines they avow and the course they pursue. He declares it probable that the dynamite policy will be extended to the blowing up of Atlantic passenger steamers and afterwards of merchantmen, thus ruining England's commerce.
James Stephens, however, condemns the principles and practices of the dynamites and advocates an armed revolution. The continuance of the dynamite policy, he thinks, means certain death of the revolutionary agitation during the present generation, perhaps forever. It may, besides this, lead to the expulsion of Irishmen from England.
John O'Leary likewise disapproves of the dynamite policy on the ground of its inexpediency and criminal character. He is in favor of open rebellion. War between England and Russia, he thinks, would give the Irish a chance to strike an effective blow. He was sorry to say that people in America were not averse to the employment of dynamite.

An Earl Without a Home.

AYLESFORD'S RANCH-HOUSE BURNS AND HE SPENDS THE NIGHT OUT OF DOORS.

The Earl of Aylesford, whose career in Europe was the talk of the world, and whose adventures among the cow-boys of Texas have been described, has recently met with a serious misfortune, his ranch-house having been burned to the ground. The fire originated through the carelessness of a servant in handling kerosene oil, and as a strong gale was blowing at the time only a few moments were required to complete the work of destruction. Only a little bedding and a few articles of wearing apparel were saved from the flames, but the earl's greatest regret is the loss of his armory, in which were twenty valuable guns, which he had used in his hunting expeditions in various parts of the world. One of these guns was formerly the property of the Prince of Wales, and was carried by him during the famous tiger hunt in India, where the earl was his companion.
The "Judge," as the cowboys call his lordship, bore his loss philosophically, and with his brother Dan slept in the open air on the leeward side of the barn the following night. In the morning he rode into Big Springs, and obtained permission to occupy a vacant ranch-house belonging to his nearest neighbor, a man named Denmark. Here he will live, with such comforts as the country affords, until a new cabin is erected on the site of the one that was burned.

On about the 1st of January the earl deposited a draft on his solicitor in London at the Big Springs bank for £10,000, the same being the amount allowed him annually by the trustee who was put in charge of his immense estate until his debts shall have been paid. As soon as the money came his lordship purchased 2,400 cattle for his rancho, which until that time had been empty, and is now giving the herd his personal attention.

CURRENT NOTES.
The Journal of Health says the worst cold may be cured if the patient will, soon after taking it, keep warm in bed and eat nothing for a day or two.
One of the curiosities of Fulton Market, New York, is a tame trout that will come to the top of the tank to be fondled, and will eat pieces of meat from the hand.
A deputation of ladies presented a petition to Hon. G. W. Ross on the 17th ult., bearing over 4,000 signatures, in favor of the introduction of temperance text-books in the schools.
Mr. James Stewart, who has been for a great many years connected with the Montreal Herald, in various capacities up to that of managing director, has severed his connection with the paper.
The Lachine Canal, Montreal, was nearly flooded out on the 22nd inst., by the partial break of a sluice gate. Had it given away, part of Montreal would have been submerged and great damage done.
The Montreal Gazette says:—In the session of Parliament which closed on Saturday one hundred and five acts were passed, of which forty were Government measures, thirty-five related to railways, nine to insurance companies and five to banks.
There is very little that is practical in the so-called science of the day. Here is the Popular Science Monthly, devoting pages to telling "how flies hang on," when a bald-headed public is just quivering to know how the pesky things can be made let go.
The production of petroleum in the United States was about one-fifth, or say 6,000,000 gallons, less last year than in the year preceding, and stocks on hand were not increased at the rate they had been. On 1st February last, the net stocks in tank were 33,766,000 barrels.
HARMON BEATEN.—The well-known Harmon has at last met his superior. A San Francisco despatch of the 21st says: "A foot race of seventy-five yards and repeat took place yesterday afternoon between the two sprinters, Kittleman and Harmon, for $1,000. The first heat was won by Harmon in 7 1/2 seconds and the last two by Kittleman in 7 1/2 seconds and 7 1/2 seconds.
Two thousand persons were present.
Another attempt is to be made to get the Imperial Parliament to legalize marriage with a deceased wife's sister. Mr. Broadhurst has given notice that he will on April 29 bring on his motion in reference to the subject. Colonel Manks has also given notice that when the hon. member for Stoke has made his motion he will move as an amendment an address to the Throne to appoint a royal commission to inquire into the question of marriages within the prohibited degrees.
The immigration season opens out well in the Northwest. The Winnipeg Sun, of the 18th inst., says: "Another batch of old country immigrants passed through for the west this morning. A cable despatch says fifty Skye crofters are on the way out!
The Northwest Land Company is preparing to receive a large number of tenant farmers from Scotland. The Land Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway is doing a good business, and their is every sign that, on the opening of navigation, there will be a great rush of old country people, among whom the low emigrant rate has been well advertised. The immigrants who have already arrived, are of a superior class.
Ten Scotch farmers who went on to the Moosemin district yesterday carried with them $156,000.
The Nova Scotia Legislature is responsible for extending the franchise in municipal elections, to widows and to "unmarried women." The words we have quoted are not as definite as they might be. In the first place widows are unmarried until they marry again. In the next place there are some women, even in Nova Scotia, who have never been married (and, probably, never will be), yet who cannot possibly come in the category of unmarried women, as designated by the Nova Scotia Legislature. But, even supposing that it be distinctly understood that only widows and spinners are to vote, what a slur is cast upon the numerous intelligent women residing there who are good mothers, faithful wives and admirable in all social relations!
Why should not the married women vote?
—N. Y. Evening Telegram.

United States. Canada.

	1884	1883	1884	1883
English	11,778	14,017	2,449	2,474
Scotch	2,241	2,389	153	14
Irish	5,687	8,940	242	414
Total	19,706	25,046	2,844	2,902

These figures are most satisfactory, for although the actual immigration to Canada has not up to this time increased over last year, the proportion of the total influx received by the Dominion is appreciably greater.
