NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

MONTREAL, Oct.
There are large numbers of prominent arrivals, Tilley and Donville, Macpherson and Gibbs.

Tupper has gone to Ottawa, and Sir John started this afternoon to meet him, returning on Monday.

The Governor General left to-night for Quebec for a trip down the river on H. M. squadron, which leaves to-morrow and returns on Monday.

Himsworth, Clerk of Privy Council, has arrived, to be on hand for swearing in of Ministers.

It is understood that the Cabinet is formed, but will not be announced until Masson's return, when all will be sworn in together.

Lord Dufferin would not depart until the new Government was thoroughly organized.

The quarrel between Mackenzie and Laflamme arose out of the former refusing to do anything for the latter, while he gave a place to his own brother-in-law and secretary, Buckingham.

Boyer, ex-M. P., gets a long-coveted flour inspectorship here.

Australian match a perfect fizzle; Montreal team being worthless.

Dawson elected for Algoma. Large majority.

THE CABINET.

The following is said, but not on authority, to be the composition of the new Macdonald-Tupper Cabinet:—

Sir John A. Macdonald, Premier and Minister of Justice.

Tupper, Minister of Finance.

Tilley, Minister of Customs.

White, Minister of Public Works.

McDonald, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Campbell (Senate), Postmaster General.

O'Connor, Receiver General.

Aikins, Secretary of State.

Masson, Minister of Militia.

Pope (P. E. I.), Minister of Agriculture.

Blanchet, Minister of the Interior.

Coursol, President of the Council.

Pope (Compton), Minister of Inland Revenue.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 10.
A despatch says that a fire in Riazan, 110 miles southeast of Moscow, destroyed 23 stone blocks, 31 wooden blocks, and 70 large warehouses, valued at 2,000,000 roubles. The population of the town is about 10,000.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.
The National Gazette publishes the sensational news that an agitation has begun in Russia to compel the Czar to abdicate. It is reported that the Czarowich will preside over a commission to draft a constitution.

LONDON, Oct. 10.
A despatch to the Daily News states that the Ameer's grandson has gone to Kurim with eight infantry and two cavalry regiments. The garrison of Ali Musjid has been reinforced by two regiments.

The Standard's Calcutta special reports that forces from Peshawar immediately ordered to attack Ali Musjid have been ordered to attack Ali Musjid immediately, and a body of infantry with a mountain battery has entered the Khyber pass. Heavy firing has been heard at Peshawar, but it is not known whether the fighting is going on between the British and Afghans or the Afghans and Kybeers. It is rumored that the Russians have occupied Yarkham.

LONDON, Oct. 10.
English homeward bound mails from Teheran have been ordered to be despatched by way of Tiflis and Poti, in consequence of the insecurity of the Trebizonde route.

BLACKBURN, Oct. 10.
Messrs. Greenwood are to close their mills. More than half the factory population of Blackburn is out of employment, without the slightest hope of improvement in business. The chances are that many other mills will shortly close, and great distress prevails.

In consequence of a strike of twisters in the Sunny City mills, at Bolton, 1,500 hands have been thrown out of employment.

LONDON, Oct. 10.
A Vienna despatch says that a semi-official correspondent states that the Porte has spontaneously repudiated any intention of seeking a Russian alliance.

Another Vienna special says it is to be feared the Turkish note has seriously if not irreparably compromised amicable relations between Austria and Turkey. Germany will formally notify the Porte that its note is an offence to all the Powers.

The London Times the other day printed a four-column interview with Bismarck, and a few days later the Chancellor said pleasantly of an opponent in debate that if that opponent had really invented "all this mass of falsehood," he "would perhaps have sufficient talent to become the correspondent of the Times."

A lady having offered to give $250, on condition that a sufficient amount be contributed to pay the expenses of a commission of experts to investigate the nature and cause of the yellow fever epidemic, an appeal has been issued to the Chambers of Commerce of the leading cities for their co-operation. The expense of the commission is estimated at about $6,000.

Earl Dufferin for Cyprus.

The London correspondent of the "Globe" writes:—"I understand that the members of Lord Beaconsfield's cabinet are unanimous in the feeling that although Lord Dufferin belongs to another and an opposite political party from themselves, his brilliant and distinguished services as Governor General demand that the country should have the benefit of his talents in some fitting post. The Government is about to constitute a new office in connection with our recent acquisition of the Island of Cyprus, and it has been decided that this office should be a chief commissionership, to which an ample salary will be attached. I understand ten thousand pounds a year. I am informed on entirely trustworthy authorities that Lord Beaconsfield has decided to offer this preeminent important post at the present juncture in our relations with the East, to Lord Dufferin. The news has not yet appeared in any journal here, but it is nevertheless, true, that soon after his departure from Canada Lord Dufferin will proceed to Asia Minor as the first British Chief Commissioner. Difficult as will be the duties which Lord Dufferin will have to discharge in the creation of a new system, and the organization of all details, everybody who has watched the last years of Lord Dufferin's career with attention, and especially those among whom he has passed the last six years, will think that few other men could be found who would discharge the duties attaching to such a post with greater credit to themselves or greater advantage to the Queen and Empire."

The following record of a noble woman's heroic self-sacrifice in devoting her life to the relief of her suffering fellow-mortals is worthy of wide propagation. Annie Cook, a woman who was a sinner, residing in Memphis, consecrated her life and property to the sick of that city, and met her own death while in the act of tending the sufferers. Before her death the Christian women of Louisville, hearing of her labors of love, sent her the following note, whose recognition of her good deeds must have lighted her painful path to the grave.

LOUISVILLE, August 28, 1878.—DEAR MADAME: This morning's paper announces that you have opened your house to the sick of Memphis, and that you are ministering to their wants personally. An act so generous, so benevolent, so utterly unselfish, shall not pass over without notice. History may not report this good deed, for the good deeds of women seldom live after them, but every heart in the whole country responds with affectionate gratitude to the noble example you have set for Christian men and women. God speed you, dear madame, and when the end comes, may the light of a better world guide you to a home beyond.

From the Christian Women of Louisville, Kentucky.

Lake Champlain's sea serpent is vouched for by Prof. Marks, of the University of Pennsylvania, and Prof. Owen, of the Sherman Academy at Port Henry, N. Y. They say that they saw the monster while sailing, a few days ago. It was moving through the water at a rapid rate, having just back of the head two large folds projecting above the water, and at some distance, say fifty feet or more behind, two more folds at what was apparently the tail. As it passed along in its course the head would go under the water and lift itself above at a distance easily discernible. The motion was similar to that of a snake, sinuous and undulating. They could easily distinguish the head as it appeared above the water, and the motion of the folds. It was within plain sight for some five or more minutes. The smoothness of the lake proves satisfactorily to the professors, that they were not deceived in believing that the object was a marine monster of some description.

It is estimated that the British demand for foreign corn during the coming winter will not fall short of 104,000,000 bushels; in other words, scarcity will be averted at the cost to the mother country of between twenty-five and thirty millions sterling. The Mark Lane Express, commenting upon this, remarks that the greater part of the imported grain will no doubt come from the United States, and must, of course, be paid for in gold. It then adds:—"This is really a matter for serious consideration. No country in the world can sustain with impunity a continued drain upon its metallic resources. If America could be induced to take our manufactured goods in exchange for her natural produce the reciprocity would benefit both countries." To which the New York Tribune replies:—"As we are not as likely to substitute British manufactures for our own as we are to introduce our home goods on the British markets, the advantage of the situation here described will obviously rest with us."

Mr. Gladstone is a man of irrepressible energy which breaks out every now and then in unexpected directions. His last freak in the publication of an article in the "North American Review" in which he predicts the decline of his own country, and beglorifies the future of the United States. It is written in a strain well fitted to please the citizens of the Great Republic, but not well calculated to increase the writer's following in Great Britain. Mr. Gladstone will apparently soon reach the position of a prophet not without honor, save in his own country.
