Present Day Rivalry in Raging Colorful Games

The Decathlon Champ

WHEN GREGORY DIXSON physical fitness director for the Royal Canadian Legion, held a summit of a couple of months ago he told us that the decathlon was the greatest of all sporting events.

The decathlon consists of the 10 track and field events. It includes sprints, distances and the major field events. His champ is the Krippey, who is the Canadian champion. His champ is the Krippey, who is the Canadian champion. His champ is the Krippey, who is the Canadian champion.

Seeks Top Physical Condition

"I AM IN GOOD condition," says 6 ft., 112 lb. 22-year-old Yang. "I depend on individual, but I'm in a very good condition. I believe I can compete in decathlon until 35. . . . But practice no determination. No diet."

Yang has determination, he has desire. He practices three hours in the afternoon. He spends approximately 30 minutes on each event. He performs one of the four running events every day. He then works on one throwing and two jumping events, or two throwing and one jumping.

YANG'S PROGRESS TABLE

	1956	1958	1960	1963
McBourne	11.2	10.9	10.7	10.7
100 Meters	11.2	10.9	10.7	10.7
200 Meters	22.74	23.14	24.54	23.64
400 Meters	57.11	41	48.54	49.44
800 Meters	2:44	2:44	2:54	2:54
1500 Meters	6:13	6:44	6:41	6:47

Yang held the world's indoor pole-vault record of 16'3 1/2 for one week during January, 1963. He is also rated "World Class" in the eastern N.Y. circuit. He has a high jump record of 5'10 1/2 in the high jump and in the 100 and 400 yards. His weaker events are shot put and discus.

"Every person has a goal in life," says Yang. "Mine is gold medal. World record taken away from you. Not gold medal. It yours forever."

Off The Cuff

JOHNNY PODRES, last year one of Los Angeles Dodgers' mainstays, isn't with his teammates on their current swing of the eastern N.Y. circuit. Trashed all season by an elbow injury, Podres will undergo surgery if he can't pitch by the time they return. One of the more outstanding pitchers in the American League, Podres was turned by the Yankees to the Dodgers. He was picked up first by the Yankees in the winter league championship. . . .

JOHNNY SCOTT HARPER, who was with us in March, did the better approximately one of the week's better home entries. . . .

JOHN JOHNSON to reach top scores. Last week he jokingly told me that he had broken 90 Johnson's record, goes out and fires an 83 the next day. Scotty, one of the country's top curling stars for close to a year, had a better performance in Saturday's Queen's County curling and field meet was turned by the Yankees to the Dodgers. He was picked up first by the Yankees in the winter league championship. . . .

Lou Burdette Is Traded To The Cubs

By ED SIMON

Canada Press Staff Writer

Burdette (Boom Boom) Geoffroni has not had the greatest right winger in hockey and Carl Garbaruka, Lou Burdette, in the end, wasn't even the best fullback on Calgary Stampeders' roster. But they were among the last of a vanishing breed.

With their retirement, Elmer (Moose) Vanko, Bronco Nagar and Gump Worsley and Leo Lewis, the Lincoln Locomotive, are about the last professional athletes left in Canada with really meaningful nicknames.

An ever-increasing orchestra of publicists works the year round trying to popularize football and hockey, the country's big-time sports. And the best they can do, after a long look at Leonard Kelly and you have to look closely these days) is to color him red.
