GLEANINGS FROM EXCHANGES.

The Grand Lodge of Georgia, at its recent session, appointed a State Organizer, and appropriated six hundred dollars to pay ex- penses.

There are about forty-five Oddfellows' Insurance Companies, from which the in- come last year approximated $1,669, 023.27.

A writer in the Bundle of Sticks says, "All of us have our faults, but that is our business." Just step on somebody's corns, and see if it is not somebody else's business. If we have faults (and who has not?) it is our duty to others to strive and overcome those faults, if we would keep the good will and esteem of others. Our faults, without an error to correct them, make of us disagreeable companions. The same writer justly says: "An officer who governs without restraint is sure to end without honor."

Grand Master Barnum in his report to the Grand Lodge of Illinois says: "In this progressive age, the man who fails to keep himself posted in the current news of the day has not emerged from the Dark Ages. This not only applies to history, war, politics and business, but also to society news; and the member of a lodge who does not patronize and read the literature of the Order knows very little of its wonderful progress, and the grand work that is being accomplished."

Bro. A. D. Sanders says the Grand Lodges should recognize specially a brother who has served the order for twenty-five years, as he deserves at their hands some such honor. The recipients of this class of badges would feel greatly honored, coming from such a source. A small amount annually could be appropriated for such purpose, and would be money well ex- pended, and be an incentive to keep many in the order until they were proper subjects for the jewels, and then they would not drop out.

The annual session of the British Colum- bia Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was held in Victoria last week. The Order was instituted in that Province in 1874, and since that time has flourished in every sense of the word. There are now thirteen lodges in all, and five encampments, which range as follows: Victoria—three lodges, one encampment; and a Rebecca Degree Lodge; New West- minster—two lodges and one encampment; Vancouver—two lodges and one encampment; Nanaimo—one lodge and one encampment; Wellington—one lodge and one encampment; Kamloops—one lodge; Donald—one lodge; Comox—one lodge. The en- campments have applied to the Grand Lodge for a Grand Encampment, and it is likely that their request will be granted this year. There are 1,200 members of the Order in British Columbia.

It is the intention of General J. C. Underwood, commander of the Patriarchs Militant, to have a full regiment of twelve cantons and band in Chicago before next summer is over. It goes without saying, remarks the Telegram, that the General usually accomplishes whatever he under- takes, and the regiment may be con- sidered a certainty. Boston is the only city in the country at present with a fully equipped regiment of Patriarchs Militant, and there is no good reason why the World's Fair city should be behind the effort East.

THE CAUSE OF POVERTY.—In the dis- cussion on social questions, so frequent in these days, a certain class of orators and writers are constantly devoting their en- ergies to the task of proving that the accum- ulation of capital by individuals and corporations is the great cause of poverty. That there is a great deal of poverty no one will attempt to deny. Nor will many be found to question the truth of the statement that wealth is very unevenly distributed; that some people have more than they can find use for, while other have nothing at all.

But the cause of poverty is not to be found in the grasping, accumulating or avaricious habits of the few. It is to be found in the material wastefulness, neglected opportunities and abused tastes and appetites of the many. There is the liquor habit, with its waste of time and labor and money and health; there is the over-indul- gence of all the appetites of man, whether for food or drink; there is the extravagance in dress beyond the person's means; there is the continual resort to pleasures and amusements which, legitimate and useful in themselves, become follies and vices when indulged to excess; there is idleness and laziness and improvidence. These are the great causes of poverty. And until the individual members of society are reformed no legislative message will ever cure the evil.

Against all these true causes of poverty Oddfellowship wages continual war. Its precepts teach sobriety, moderation, in- dustry and economy. Its practices develop foresight, prudence, provision for the future. Its influence is directed to pre- venting that unnecessary waste of energy and health, that neglect of opportunity, that over indulgence and extravagance which leads direct to poverty and distress. Study Oddfellowship more, and poverty will grow less and less, and mankind be- come better and happier.

Dyspepticure—Is not a palliative, but a cure; it first relieves, then controls, and finally entirely subdues the irritation and in- flammation of the stomach that causes in- digestion and dyspepsia.

Over the Border.

[This is from the pen of a loyal man, but now a disgusted grit—and in future a Liberal-Conservative—written before the fight of the 5th inst., and published in a Montreal paper.]

AIR—"All the Blue Bonnets are Over the Border."

March! March! Canada's bravest,
How my lads can you help marching in order?
March! March! the Grits are retreating,
Cartwright and Farrer will fly o'er the border.

Come from the west, where your cattle are grazing,
Come from the loom, and the furnace and mill,
Come as the fire, when the pable is blazing,
Think of your country, and strike with a will!

SIR JOHN is in the van, God spare our grand Old Man!
Fierce is the fight, but the chiefs march in order,
Britain for many a day, will speak about the fray.

How we kept back her foe over the border.
(Chorus.)
March! March! Canada's bravest,
How my lads can you help marching in order?

March! March! the Grits are retreating,
Cartwright and Farrer will fly o'er the border.

Canada's sons are not prone to walling,
Cartwright may groan and cry "We are lost,"
The "Silver voiced Rouge" finds all un- availing,
Back to their lairs the wolves will be tossed,
Men, keep your native land, free from an alien's hand!

We'll never be taxed at some proud Yankee's order.
Cursed be the traitor's pen, that said we were not men,
Up! and drive back the foe over the border.
(Chorus.) March! March! etc.

Opinions of High Authorities.

This power that supports the destroying traffic is not in the drug-shops. If left to themselves and not protected by law, they would quickly perish as common nuisances.

The power, and hence the awful responsi- bility of their continuance with all their malign evils, is in our Christian churches and Christian homes. It is in the hands and upon the souls of our Christian voters. They could crush this monstrous crime with a blow if they dared to stand out together before God at the ballot-box and do their duty. This power and accountability are not denied by them. On the contrary, the Christian churches have said to the world that the power, the duty and the responsibility of removing this great evil is with them.—G. F. Stewart.

What I wish to do is to lift the temperance idea to the level of its patriotic significance. I know it has two sides. But there is one thing that law can do, which the safety of our homes demands, and that is to shut the door of the drinking saloon.—Wendell Phillips.

"I have no fears for the women of America. They will never content them- selves with remaining stationary in methods or policy, much less sound a retreat in their splendid warfare against the saloon in law and the saloon in politics. The tides of the mother's heart is not changed; we can count upon them always. The voice of Miriam still cheers the brave advance, and all along the line we hear the battle cry, "Speak unto the children of Israel, that they go forward."—Frances E. Willard.

"It has been found by experience that nothing can restrain the people from buy- ing these liquors, but such laws as hinder them from being sold."—Bishop of Oxford in 1743

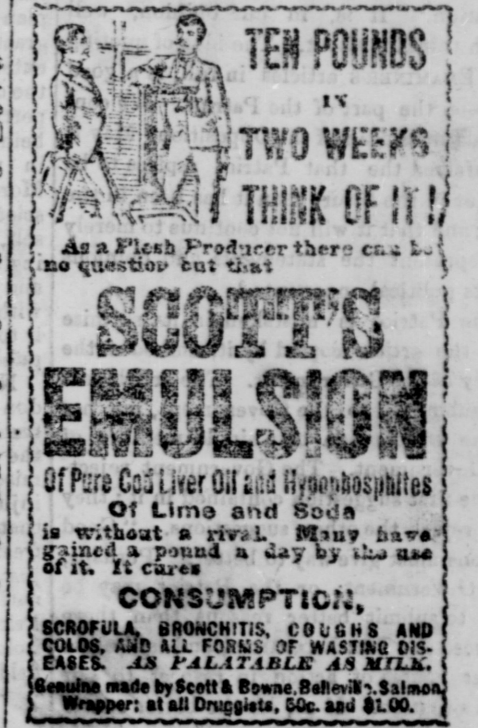

"The unanimous voice of the ablest members of the medical profession, both of this country and of England, is against alcoholic medication. Liebig says that alcohol retards the reaction of the blood, changing arterial into venous blood; Dr. Mussey, that the morbid symptoms are aggravated, and new centres of irritation are established by its use; Dr. Carpenter, that it causes coagulation of the blood, resulting in sudden death or destruction of important organs; Sir Astley Cooper, that it produces fatty degeneration of the heart, dropsy, Bright's disease, and many diseases of the digestive organs; Dr. Brown, of England, that it produces paralysis and acute and chronic mania, and many other derangements of the nervous system.—H. T. Boyd, M. D., of St. Louis, Mo.

"It is inconsistent with membership in the Church of Christ to be engaged in the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, or in any way aid or abet in the manuf-acture, sale or use of intoxicating liquors."—Nineteenth General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of the United States.

"From my long experience and observa- tion, extending over a quarter of a century, in the care and treatment of the insane, the impression has become very firmly fixed in my mind that more than one-half of the idiotic, imbecility and insanity of our day is due, either directly or indirectly, to the use of alcoholic liquors."—Superintendent of the Alabama Insane Asylum, 1884.

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS Mrs. Winsloe's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winsloe's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.
