Parents are reminded that children entering school for the first time must be vaccinated before they can obtain permits from the School Board office. In order to prevent a rush for permits at the re-opening, the Secretary of the Board will open his office from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. and from 7 p. m. till 9 p. m. on the 24th, 25th and 26th inst.

A Genial Officer.—Mr. Neil McDonald, postmaster at Souris West, is one of the most intelligent and best preserved men in the country. Something over fifty years ago he arrived in Souris a young man. There he began and carried on for a number of years a successful business in the mercantile line. He is still hale and hearty, and no one enjoys a hearty laugh more than he. His post office is a model of neatness, with everything in its place and a place for everything.

Remembrance of the Dead.—John F. Campbell, Esq., of Denver, Col., one of our Islanders who has made a fortune from mining in the West, has lately caused to be placed around the family plot in St. Mary's Church yard, Souris, which contains the remains of his mother and other near relatives, an expensive iron and steel railing which was manufactured in New York. The height of posts is 4 feet 4 inches, and the rails 3 feet 5 inches. The whole railing is 39 feet in length, by 23 feet in breadth, and presents a first-class appearance both in design and workmanship.

Church Parade.—No. 1 Co., G. A., under command of Capt. H. M. Davison, accompanied by the officers of the staff and headed by the Artillery Band, marched to St. Paul's church yesterday morning, where an appropriate sermon was preached by Rev. J. I. Brn. Capt. Davison is to be complimented on the fine appearance of his men, as yesterday's parade was one of the best we have ever seen and reflects credit on officers and men alike. This company won the efficiency award at the Dominion last year, and we have no doubt that on inspection day it will give a good account of itself as usual.

Excursion to Mount Stewart.—The members of Kingston Star Division made an excursion to Mount Stewart on the Southport, in connection with their annual picnic, on Tuesday, 18th inst. The trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all from beginning to end. The scenery on either side of the river was very refreshing to the eye, while the gentle zephyrs wafted over the silvery waters were exhilarating and bracing. The steamer arrived at its destination about 4:30 p. m., when those on board disembarked and retraced their steps by a walk through the village. After a stay of twenty minutes it again started on its journey homeward. Refreshments of the first quality were then applied provided by the ladies, and in a short time all the company and amusements usual on such occasions were commenced, and everything done to let "joy be unconfined."

Excellent music, rendered by some of the members, contributed no little to the pleasure of the trip. As the steamer approached the wharf three hearty cheers were given for the captain of the boat and three more rousing ones for Kingston Star Division. Thus ended a very pleasant and one which will be easily forgotten by those who had the opportunity of enjoying it.

THE IRISH CONGRESS.

A Very Large Gathering of Irishmen from all Parts of the World Expected.

LONDON, August 22.—Mr. Michael Davitt, who presided at a meeting of the Irish National Federation in Dublin, said he placed a hundred times more hope for Ireland in the work of the coming Irish Race Convention in Dublin than he did in fifty sessions of the Imperial Parliament. The work which this unique gathering of representative Celtic Irishmen, he continued, would have to perform was to reinvigorate the national movement, to infuse a new and healthy life of patriotic energy into an energy which would labor for this man or that as leader, or for this or that or the other section, as being the most worthy exponent of Nationalist principles, but an energy which would have set at naught, once and for all, in view—that was, how best to work and to win for Ireland the right to govern herself in her own way on her own soil. He thought he would not need to justify his action or the action of those who signed a petition for more lenient treatment of Dr. Jameson and other English political prisoners. They took care to make it known that they had no sympathy whatever with Dr. Jameson and those who perpetrated an unwarranted outrage upon the South African Republic; but he thought that Irishmen were in the right and were acting consistently whenever they raised their voices in favor of lenient treatment for political offenders, be they Russian Nihilists or English raiders, or Irish Fenians, or American dynamitards.

Some of the most eminent Irishmen of the United States will attend the meeting, a number of them having already sailed for Queenstown. The names of those who will represent the United States are: Thomas Addis Emmet, M. D.; John D. Crimmins, John Byrne, Michael Murphy, Hon. William L. Brown, Patrick Gallagher, Hon. Martin T. McMahon, Hon. T. C. O'Sullivan, and Joseph P. Ryan, New York city; James Duggan, Norwich, Conn.; Anthony Kelly, Minneapolis, Minn.; P. W. Wrenn, Bridgeport, Conn.; Dennis O'Leary, Edward Patrick Kinney, Hon. John W. Corcoran, Dr. J. P. Timmins and the Rev. Dennis O'Callaghan, Boston; Hon. Edmund O'Connor, Birmingham, N. Y.; John Gashman, James O'Sullivan, M. D., and Martin Egan, of Manchester, N. H.; the Rev. George F. Marshall, Milford, N. H.; M. J. Ryan and Patrick Dunlevy, Philadelphia; T. C. Bohland, Scranton, Pa.; John B. Devin, John Sears, Jr., John Fahey and Patrick Cox, Rochester, N. Y.; Timothy Moroney, New Orleans, La.; Col. J. F. Burke, Atlanta, Ga.; James F. Minerva and the Rev. Father Tighe, Jersey City, Patrick Martin, James Lewis, Colonel Morris and Bernard Dunbar, Baltimore, and M. Gavin, Memphis, Tenn.

Archbishop Walsh, of Toronto, will lead the delegation from Canada, and distinguished representatives of the race will be present from such far off lands as Australia and Africa.

Letters to the Editor. THE T. A. STEWART. Sir,—After reading your article on tug T. A. Stewart on Saturday evening we at once wrote Capt. McDonald, of the dredge, Mr. Edwards, and received the following reply: "Owners of tug T. A. Stewart: "Dear Sirs,—In answer to yours of Saturday evening, I am glad to see that your article on my tug, I wish in justice to say that the tug T. A. Stewart is now keeping the dredge clear, and we have lost no time waiting for scores. The dredge of late has only been able to work the work, and therefore our hours were short and no comparison can be made as yet between the two tugs. "The statement that 'a scow worth $800 is rendered almost useless through collision with the tug' is incorrect, as the scow was repaired in a few hours by two of our men and is as good as formerly. I am yours, JOHN M. McDONALD, Captain of Dredge Prince Edward."

"We hope to satisfy the department at Ottawa and a reasonable public, but don't undertake to silence men who complain for a purpose. We expect to keep the dredge and all its crew busy and this is all that was ever done by any other. Yours, &c., TUG T. A. STEWART. OWNERS OF TUG T. A. STEWART.
