

Indian Road Blockade Could Be Prevented

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Indians of the St. Regis reservation could be prevented legally from carrying out a threat to blockade a road through their lands to the busy Cornwall-Massena international bridge, an official of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority said Tuesday.

The Indians—members of the Mohawk band of the Iroquois tribe of the Six Nations Confederacy—are demanding an annual rental of $15,000 over a three-year period for use of the road by the Cornwall International Bridge Company. They decided Monday night at a meeting at St. Regis, Que., that if the authority does not meet their demand the road will be closed.

The seaway authority describes the demand as excessive and has offered to pay a rental of about $3,000 a year, or $9,000 for the three years instead of $15,000.

HAVE RIGHT
The seaway official said the Indians have the right to blockade the road as it runs through their property. A previous agreement under which the Indians received an annual rental of about $1,000 expired last August and has not been renewed.

But the official said that if the Indians refuse to sign an agreement at a more reasonable rental and carry out their threat to has the power to appropriate the blockade the road, the authority said.

Every attempt would be made, he said, to reach agreement with the Indians on a rental at a meeting on the reservation next Tuesday. It was hoped it would be attended by directors of the bridge company, a subsidiary of Canada's St. Lawrence Seaway Authority and the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation of the United States.

The Indians are demanding the annual rental of $15,000 for a 1 1/2-mile road running from the north channel span of the old bridge at Cornwall, Ont., to the Canadian customs and immigration office on Cornwall Island.

The authority plans to use the road only until 1962 when a new span will be built over the north channel of the St. Lawrence River. Land for a road across the reservation which would link the two spans already has been expropriated.

Ralph Whitebean, chief of the St. Regis council, told the St. Regis meeting Monday night the band wants to negotiate directly with the seaway authority. How-

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C. (CP)—President Grant McConachie of Canadian Pacific Airlines says the days of Trans-Canada Air Line's dominance are over. Mr. McConachie commented Saturday on a statement by TCA president Gordon McGregor that chances for TCA fare reductions have been eliminated by CPA competition. It's because of competition that TCA has granted its only two fare reductions, "Mr. McConachie said.

Dollar Barriers To Be Removed

By DAVE GANCA
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—Under strong Canadian pressure, Britain Tuesday renewed her pledge to remove remaining barriers against dollar area exports as "soon as possible."

Informants said the pledge was given during the opening session of the two-day conference of the Commonwealth economic consultative council, an outgrowth of last year's Montreal conference. Finance Minister Fleming told the assembled cabinet ministers Canada no longer considers the controls justified and they are an unfair discrimination against Canada.

The Guardian, Charlottetown, Thurs., Sept. 24, 1959 15
A conference source said the Canadian finance minister made it clear that he hoped they would be removed in a matter of "months, not years."
Britain, however, was not expected to take any action on the demands until after the Oct. 8 general election. A number of the less-developed Commonwealth members said they viewed controls as essential to buttress unfavorable trading positions as well as their shortage of foreign currencies and mushrooming demands for development capital.

In other discussions, the delegates from 10 Commonwealth and seven colonial countries agreed to shelve, for the time being, the idea of forming a Commonwealth development bank and to back a United States proposal for an International Development Association.
